Judge Reed in passing sentence last Monday on two or three young men committed to the Huntingdon Reformatory, stated that the impression gone out that this was merely an institution intended for the correction of incorrigible children, was entirely erroneous. The Judge stated that the Huntingdon Reformatory was essentially a penal institution, and that the punishment, by confinement there, was similar to that in a penitentiary. The special object of the punishment, however, was the reformation of the prisoner to the end that he might become a useful and law-abiding citizen after his discharge. The institution differs from a penitentiary in this, that old and hardened criminals are not sent to it. Only those who are serving time for a first offense are committed to the Reformatory, and then only when they are over the age of fifteen and under the age of twenty-five years.

Humanity is a queer conglomeration. The coward flatters himself that he is prudent, the miser that he is frugal, the fool that he is witty, the blatherskite that he is eloquent, and the criminal that he is cunning. Every man has an excuse for his short comings. Wickedness and folly are the result of wrong conceptions of right.—Punxsutawney Spirit.

The country editor who can keep his paper full of local news during dog days and not give free rein to his imagination deserves a better reward than slinging scissers and dabbing paste.—Clarion Republican.

The Democratic State convention was held in Harrisburg last Thursday. Judge Harman Yerkes, of Doylestown, was nominated for supreme court judge, and Hon. Andrew J. Palmo, of Meadville, was nominated for state treasurer.

The Republican State convention will be held at Harrisburg to-morrow.

A scheme that the editor of the Spirit has had in mind for a number of years—to be carried out when the people of this district send him to Congress (as they seem determined to do)—is to endeavor to secure a Government appropriation for the establishment of several national sanitoriums for consumptives. One out of every seven human beings die with this disease, and many thousands of them for lack of means to seek the cool, dry and bracing air of Colorado, the mild and equitable climate of Southern California or the arid regions of New Mexico, as may be best suited to the stage of the disease in each individual case. The locations of these sanitoriums, of course, would be selected by a committee of experts, and to these institutions all persons who desired to go, would be taken and treated free of charge. The fact being firmly established that consumption is contagious, by means of the tubercular bacillus which is always the accompaniment and cause of the disease, such sanitoriums would not only be a great blessing to consumptives, especially those who are poor, but would do much to ward stamping out this greatest scourge of humanity.—Punxsutawney Spirit.

Letter to S. B. Elliott, Reynoldsville, Pa.

Dear Sir: If you want your paint to last as long as that of other house owners in your town is going to last, you should use lead and zinc.

You can mix your own, or buy Devoo, as you like. The results will not be the same, however. Devoo lead and zinc is ground in oil and thoroughly mixed. Machinery does it. Hand-work can't compete with machine-work, either in cost or thoroughness. Mixing by hand is imperfect mixing; and zinc is peculiarly hard to mix; wants grinding.

Lead and oil is honest paint; but less durable. Lead is tender, but zinc is tough. The proper mixture ground together is better than either alone. French painters use zinc alone; but American painters think it too hard, and mix it with lead.

Yours truly,
F. W. DEVOE & CO.

P. S.—H. Alex Stoke sells our paint in your section.
