Bought a Drug Store.

Charles M. Feicht, one of our highly steemed young men, who has had considerable experience in the drug busiless, having clerked in H. Alex Stoke's drug store a number of years, has bought the Means drug store in Punxsutawney. He went to Punxs'y yester-day to take charge of his store. The people of that town will not only find Charles a pleasant gentleman to deal with, but they will find him strictly honest and can depend on what he tells them. As Charles is an enterprising young man, we predict success for him in the drug business. Besides being a registered druggist he spent one year at the Medico-Chirurgical College Philadelphia, studying medicine. Albert Feicht went to Punxs'y with Charles to learn the drug business.

Little Girl Badly Burned.

Anna Ruth, five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Schultze, who reside near the P. R. R. freight depot in West Reynoldsville, was badly burned yesterday afternoon while playing with fire. Ruth and a brother younger than herself, built a fire on the side street, near residence, and in manner Ruth's dress caught fire. manner Ruth's dress caught fire. She screamed and when Mrs. Schultze got out Ruth was enveloped in flames, which were higher than her head. Mrs. Schultze had both hands badly burned in her attempt to get Ruth's clothing off. C. C. Postlethwait, who works in the freight house, heard the screams of the mother and child, and only for his timely assistance the little girl might have been burned to death. Ruth was not burned below the walst. Her body, arms and face were severely burned.

Returning to Pacific Coast.

This morning W. W. Hepburn and two daughters, Misses Marie M. and Ethel E. Hepburn, departed from this place for their home at Salem, Oregon, San Francisco. They travel this route in order to stop off and make short visits at points of interest in California. They will move from Salem to Portland

In the summer of 1900 Mrs. Hepburn died and it was then understood, and was her request, that Miss Ethel, the youngest member of family, was to come east and make her home with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Weed, in West Reynoldsville, Miss Marie accompanied Miss Ethel to this place last year to visit with relatives several months. Marie's visit was proonged and a few week's ago Mr. Hepburn came east, and since then Ethel decided to return to the Pacific coast with her father and sister, and this morning they bade farewell to Reynoldsville friends and relatives. Misses Marie and Ethel are very fine young ladies and during the year's stay here they made many warm friends who reuctantly said good bye to them.

Lawn Tennis. A large number of spectators were onspicuous on the lawn tennis grounds in this place Thursday afternoon to witness several interesting games. Hon. Henry I. Wilson and Will H. Tyson, of Big Run, and F. B. Henderson and Register and Recorder John D. Evans, of Brookville, met here and played a series of three games, but the Big Run gentlemen were "easy pickin'" for the Brookville visitors. It might be the right thing to say here that Hon, Henry I. Wilson don't claim to be a "eracker jack" lawn tennis player. The second series of three games were played between Henderson and Evans, of Brookville, and Tyson, of Big Run, and Prof. F. T. McClure, of this place The Brookville gentlemen, who were omewhat puffed up with conceit of their la vn tennis ability, met a proposition in the second series that was too much for them and they were defeated by the following score: First, 6-2; second, 7-5; third, 6-4.

Death and Burial of Mrs. Fred Bliss.

Mrs. Fred Bliss died at Antesfort Pa., on Wednesday, October 23rd, and was buried at Emerickville Saturday forenoon in the Lutheran cemetery. McEntire was to have onducted the services, but the P. R. R. trains did not make connections at Driftwood and the body did not arrive here until 5.32 p. m. Friday. The body was taken to home of Mrs. James Kempsie, on Gordon alley and on Saturday was taken to Emerickville for burial. Mrs. Bliss was about 50 years old. Her malden name was Mary Doubles. Her husband died last February.

Hunter-Cooper Nuptials. Ninian Cooper, of this place, was up in Washington township last Thursday attending the wedding of his niece. Miss Mary M. Cooper, who was married to Andrew Hunter, of Coal Gien. The wedding ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's mother. Mrs. Margaret Cooper, at 11:30 a. m. by Rev. J. H. Cooper, of Congruity, Pa., brother of the bride, assisted by Rev. Geo. H. Hill, pastor of Beechwoods Presbyterian church. A large number of relatives and friends were present. The Brockwayville Record says: "Mr. and Mrs. Hunter are estimable young people. well known throughout this section. They represent two of the best families in the Beechwoods district and their prospects for a successful voyage o'er the sea of life together is bright.

Went Miles To See It.

Since our opera house has been re modeled into apartments, our theatre goers are losing interest in entertain-ments. But when they heard the "Trapper's Daughter" Co. had secured Natrona Opera House for Oct. 22, sev-eral cars were required to carry them over the traction line to the town above. And better pleased people you never saw on their return trip. They even told the conductors all about it.—Tarentum Times. At the Reynolds opera house Tuesday evening, Nov. 5. Mrs. F. P. Strickland Dead.

Mrs. F. P. Strickland, a highly respected lady of Hopkins, died at her home in that place at 1.30 a. m. Mondry, October 28th, 1901, after a week's illness from stomach trouble. She was conscious up to the last and a few minutes before she closed her eyes in death she requested that some one repeat the 23rd Psalm aloud. With almost her last breath she was wispering quotations from the bible. Mrs. Strickland's maiden name was Eliza Ann Walker. She was born in Centre county, Pa. August 9, 1856, making her 45 years old last August. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Walker. The deceased was married to F. P. Strickland at Bellefonte, December 24, 1875. Eleven children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Strickland, three of whom preceeded the mother into the Eternal Land. Mr. and Mrs. Strickland moved to Hopkins about eight years ago. She was a member of the Daughters of Rebekah lodge in this place and was well known and well liked by all who were personally acquainted with her. She was a member of the M. E. church before moving to Hopkins, but since moving there had been attending the Baptist church in this place.

Mrs. Strickland was very anxious to see her mother before she died, but her mother did not arrive here until 1:32 p. m. Monday, twelve hours after the death messenger had summoned the daughter over the silent river.

Funeral services were held at the residence at Hopkins last evening conducted by Rev. Perry A. Reno, and this morning the mortal body of a loving and helpful wife, affectionate mother and kind neighbor was taken to Milesburg, Center Co., for burial.

A large number of the Daughters of Rebekah attended the funeral services last evening. A beautiful boquet of cut flowers was the Daughters of Rebekah's floral tribute.

Mr. Strickland and the bereaved sons and daughters have the sympathy of their numerous friends in this, their sad hour of bereavement.

Supt. N. C. Schaeffer's Opinion on Charts, Maps, Etc., Etc.

There is a form of extravagance of which the taxpayer justly complains. No sooner was our general school appropriation raised than the sharks began to scent prey from afar. Agents with charts at fancy prices and maps at high figures, so as to permit liberal fees to those assisting in their sales, began a canvass of the State. When school boards in rural districts invest $30.00 to $50.00 per school for charts, maps, etc., it means lower wages and inferior teachers, stinting of text books and school supplies. Elaborately constructed charts, with high sounding titles, and complex apparatus will not take the place of a good teacher. Unless such material is used by teachers who are skillful and especially equipped to use these charts, etc., it is absolutely useless. Reading charts, outline maps globes, dictionaries, slate boards and supplementary readers are some of the essential devices to aid teachers and pupils, and these can be purchased at a comparatively small cost from the responsible publishing houses by the directors themselves. The highest average expenditure for apparatus for schools below the high school, reported from any city is $8,00 per year.

Let there be no outlay in any of the schools of this county in fancy school gather dust or be locked up or rolled up and placed in some out of the way corner in the school room.
