With as fine stores in town as can be found outside of the large cities, there is no earthly excuse for any person in this place or surrounding community going or sending to the cities or other towns for goods of any kind. Try home merchants. Competition was never as sharp in Reynoldsville as it is now, and the buyer gets the benefit. See?

The Clarion Jacksonian and the Clarion Republican have consolidated and will hereafter be published as the Clarion Republican. One of the reasons given by Editor Whitehill for discontinuing the Jacksonian was "the field is too limited to support three papers." He also said: "Few people who have not had actual experience realize the amount of work accomplished by the man who undertakes to edit a local paper, and at the same time keep the books, look after advertising, job work, subscriptions, etc." You are right, Bro. Whitehill.

The Game Was Cancelled.

The "Indian" foot ball team of this place was booked to play the "Columbia" team of DuBois at the latter place Thanksgiving, but on the morning of the day the game was to be played the DuBois team cancelled the engagement, and on Friday one of the DuBois papers got funny and said, "Reynoldsville was afraid of the cars" and that "Manager Frank Bohren's silk workers, of Reynoldsville, owing to getting into the tangle of a spool of unwound silk, that they could not get out of, they failed to put in an appearance." Saturday the same paper made the following statement:

"It was stated in this paper yesterday morning that there was no football game between Reynoldsville and DuBois on Thanksgiving because the former team backed down. This statement was published on the information given to the reporter upon authority presumed to be good; but it is understood that the game was cancelled by the DuBois management on account, as a party to the engagement says, of the weather indications—which were very unfavorable."
