High School Bulletin.

EDITORIAL STAFF.
Editor-in-chief, F. R. Smith; Assistant Editors, Theo. Nolan and Louis Black; Local Editor, Althea Miller.

Ethelyn Winslow, has returned to school after three weeks' absence.

The Shakespearean Society met on Wednesday, Jan. 8, on account of the chapel being engaged for Friday.

The address given by Prof. McClure last Wednesday was very interesting, and greatly appreciated by the society.

Teacher—How much is 2 and 3?
Bright Sub—6.

Watch for Junior Class pins.

The Junior Class desires that it be made known through this column that they have followed the example of the Senior Class by organizing into class form. At present we are unable to give names of class officers, etc.

Although the directors of the school have tried to guard against all diseases which are liable to be carried in school yet it seems that the germ of a certain brain disease has fastened its destructive fangs upon several of our High School students.

One day last week while two bright Junior girls were wending their way to the educational institution they glanced around and one said "There comes Tom Nolan's horse" "And I thought it was Tom" exclaimed the other. Great minds will differ.

Prof. Lenkerd visited Johnsonburg one day last week.

Miss Klahr was absent a few days last week and we were greatly pleased to see her return to her place in the Sub.
Jr. row.

On account of the great desire for readings in the literary society of the High School we deem it the proper thing to make the Shakespearean Literary Society a Reading Association. It seems that the members of the society would rather sit and listen to the reading of an old dry selection from a worn-out book than to enjoy something of a more interesting nature. We take it for granted that all members of the society have passed the ages of their tender youth and have arrived at that age where they can do away with things of puerile nature, therefore it seems, as the readings are trifling that they should be left to the children and not for people who possess manhood and womanhood.

For 1902.

For the proper observance of the year 1902, upon which we have just entered, wouldn't it be well to resolve:

That our tongues shall not speak ill of any one during the year.

That we will sustain our school teachers in their trials and troubles.

That we will cause the arrest of the first person we see abusing a dumb animal.

That if the light is poor and the steam heat scant, we will not indulge in profanity.

That we will love our neighbors as ourselves, something we have never done before.

That we will not skate on Sunday, nor will we permit our children to do so.

That we will extend more charity and more kindness to the poor servant girls who work in our kitchens.

That for every dollar we give to foreign missions we will give two for the conversion of hundreds of sinners in the shadow of our own homes.

That we will not bet on elections, patronize the dignified slot machines, encourage foot ball or try to check baggage under false pretences.

That we will pay our debts, give employment to the needy, encourage frugality and honesty, speak well of our town and observe all of the Ten Commandments.

That we will condemn sin in every form; pray that the hatred we have for those who differ with us may be removed from our hearts; visit the sick and the sorrowing; care for the orphans; lift up the fallen; despise not the most humble, that our so-called christian lives may truthfully exemplify the teachings of the Master and reflect goodness and love, as our reasonable privilege.—Clearfield Journal.

den, both of Reynoldsville.

DISSOLUTION NOTICE.
Notice is hereby given that the partnership heretofore existing between L. Macro and L.
D'Addario, under firm name of Macro & D'Addario, was dissolved on 20th day of December 1901, by mutual consent. All debts owing to said firm are to be paid to L. Macro, to whom also all claims and demands on said firm are to be presented for payment.
L. MACRO,

Misses May and Edith, of Pittsburg, visited relatives in this place last week.

G. W. Milliren, the coon tamer, captured three fine coons and is succeeding nicely in taming them. One of the coons made its escape.

ANOTHER GREAT YEAR.

Steady Advance Made In Every Direction by The Pittsburg Post.

We notice that "The Pittsburg Post" has had its share of the prosperity of the business world in the past year and has maintained its position at the head of the newspaper procession in Pittsburg.

"The Post" has always aimed to be a clean, decent newspaper, devoid of sensationalism, giving as accurately as possible all the news that was proper for publication, carefully keeping out of its columns such matters as would give offense or do injury. That "The Post" is esteemed and appreciated at its full worth is proved by the steady progress during the year just closed.

The daily and Sunday issues are keeping pace with each other, both in the matter of subscribers and in value as advertising mediums. As to news, special features and illustrations, the reputation of the daily and Sunday "Post" is so well established that it is scarcely necessary to go into details here.

"The Post" enjoys the distinction of having the solidest circulation of any newspaper in the city. No schemes to promote mushroom subscription lists are ever employed, the plan of the management being to make the paper so good that people read it for its worth, not because they are solicited, with premium offers and coupon claptrap. Circulation inflated by pernicious methods are of no value to the newspaper or the advertiser, and the latter are the first to learn this fact. "The Post," too, has less returned copies than any other newspaper in Pittsburg, proving again the solidity of "The Post's" circulation for it is easy enough to boast of a large output from presses when copies are printed only to be returned and sent to the junk pile.

During the past year "The Daily Post" increased its subscription list 2,448 copies and "The Sunday Post" 9,610.

Its advertising record is quite as remarkable, showing an increase of 1,692 columns of advertising over the previous year.
