Two Wrecks in One Day.

Two wrecks occurred on the Low Grade Division of the P. R. R. Monday. A broken axle under a freight car caused the first mishap near Fuller, six miles west of here, in the forenoon. Although this was not a serious wreck, yet it took several hours to get the track cleared and eastbound passenger trains were delayed one and two hours. The second wreck occurred near Summerville and was caused by a rear end collision. Train 169 ran into rear end of train 163, both eastbound freight trains. Engine, caboose and three freight cars were badly wrecked. The tracks were blocked seven or eight hours.

If the third wreck has not already occurred the trainmen will be expecting to hear of it, as they always expect three accidents when there is one, and they are not often disappointed, strange as it may seem.

During his service in congress he has attracted more attention to his State and has knocked out bigger niches in the temple of fame as an orator than any man perhaps, of his age, who ever held a seat in congress for a similar period. He made a speech to Tammany which set the entire nation talking; he has delivered speeches in congress which were published in the papers of foreign lands; he has pronounced orations which are classed by competent authorities as among the world's best.—Louisiana Times. This company is putting in a large number of new "phones in different places.

Teachers' Institute.

The teachers' local institute in the public school building at Rathmel last Saturday was well attended by the teachers as it should have been. On account of the absence of some who were on the program, there was necessarily some changes in the program. Rev. Perry A. Reno and Hon. S. B. Elliott, of this place, attended the institute and delivered addresses. We expected a report from the secretary of this office. Although the attendance was not as large as might be expected, it was an interesting institute.

LILLIAN SYKES DEAD.

Died in Philadelphia—Body Brought Home Yesterday—Funeral To-morrow.

The people of Reynoldsville were greatly surprised and shocked when it was announced on the streets Monday afternoon that Miss Lillian Ardel Sykes had died in Philadelphia, as it was not known by very many people here that she was ill. Typhoid fever was the cause of her death. She took sick one week ago Sunday and was immediately taken to the German Hospital in Philadelphia and was given the best of medical care and nursing, but despite this fact the hand of the Grim Reaper could not be stayed, and at 11:15 a. m. Monday, January 20, 1902, the silent thread was broken and her spirit took its flight into the bosom of rest.

Last September Miss Lillian went to Philadelphia and accepted a position as clerk in one of the large stores of that city. Later her sister, Miss Etta Sykes, accepted a position in the same store and the two sisters were working there when Lillian took ill. Friday evening the family here received a telegram bearing the news that Lillian was dangerously ill. Mr. Sykes started for Philadelphia Saturday morning and he and Etta were present when Lillian expired. The body was brought to this place, arriving here yesterday afternoon. It was a sad home-coming. Funeral services will be held in the Baptist church at 2:00 p. m. to-morrow, conducted by Rev. A. J. Meek, Ph. D., pastor of the Baptist church. Interment will be made in Benish cemetery.

Lillian Ardel Sykes was born on a farm near Sykesville July 22, 1876. She would have been 26 years old next July. Lillian was quite a church worker. Some years ago she joined the M. E. church and afterwards she became a member of the Baptist church. She was usually ready to take up any church work that was given her to do. Several years ago she took a course in the Baptist Training School of Philadelphia with the intention of doing missionary work, but she afterwards decided not to take up that line of work. She was a member of the Baptist Young People's Union. Lillian was a pleasant and agreeable young lady, and, consequently, had many warm friends in Reynoldsville. She will also be greatly missed from the home circle.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Sykes and family have the sympathy of a host of friends in this their time of bereavement.

Life and Career of Elkin.

We have in our sanctuary a pamphlet entitled "Life and Public Career of a Prominent Pennsylvanian," which gives a sketch of the life of Hon. John P. Elkin, present Attorney General of Pennsylvania, from the time he was born in a log house in West Mahoning township, Indiana county, Pa., January 11, 1860, to time of his appointment as Attorney General. The story is written by teachers, preachers and old time friends as they knew him from the time of his struggling in boyhood against adverse circumstances and fighting his way to the top through sheer pluck and a sturdy determination to succeed. He is a self-made man and those who know him best speak very highly of him. This is the same Hon. John P. Elkin that the Republicans will nominate to year for Governor of Pennsylvania. He has the ability to fill the office of Governor.
