Printing Office Secrets. A properly conducted printing office is as much a secret as a Masonic lodge.

We make this statement because it sometimes happens that a communication appears in a newspaper under an assumed signature which excites comment and various parties try to find out who is the author.

On such matters they have eyes and ears, but no mouth, and if they fail to observe this rule let them be put down as dishonorable members of the craft.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE AT ALLENS MILLS.

The Tillers of the Soil from Far and Near Gather and Discuss Some Agricultural Problems.

AN INSTRUCTIVE PROGRAM WELL RENDERED.

Ye Editor Takes a Trip to the Land of Beech Trees, Hingles with the Farmer Folk and Candidates and Partakes of that Bounteous Hospitality for which the Inhabitants are Famed.

A very interesting and largely attended farmers' institute was held at Allens Mills on Friday and Saturday of last week, January 31st and February 1st. The editor of this paper attended the Friday afternoon and Friday evening sessions. The trip was made to Allens Mills in company with M. C. Coleman, of this place, behind his famous roadster, "Champ."

Crawford, J. G. Allen, William Smith and others. The question box brought several very important questions before the institute, but they were all answered in a very satisfactory manner. After another selection by choir the institute adjourned until evening.

Before time to open the evening session Allen's hall was packed, and a number had to stand during the entire evening session, but it was a very orderly and good natured crowd. The evening program was opened with music. The first topic was "Our Public Schools and their Necessities."

Saturday morning session was opened with music and prayer. S. R. Elder, of Beaver, gave a very instructive talk on "potato culture," followed by practical remarks by others. Poultry Breeding and Feeding for Profit," was opened by Dillis S. Allen, who turned the light on that subject very fully; others explained their plans of handling chickens.

The first thing on program was music by choir, which was composed in the afternoon of Dillis S. Allen, W. J. Buchanan, Misses Mabel Morrison and Margaret Crawford. Their voices blended nicely and the music was first-class.

Afternoon session opened with music. The first subject was: "What I Know About Farming." The discussion was opened by J. G. Allen, who showed by facts and figures that farming pays when systematically followed.

Washington Twp. Prohibitionists. The Prohibitionists of Washington township held their primary election January 25th and nominated the following ticket: Justice of the peace, M. D. Blakeslee and F. B. Harvey.
