COLDS

We Have Many Friends Here in Town Who Are Subject to Such Trouble.

Colds if neglected lead to serious and often fatal consequences. Do not go on living with the continual dread of catching cold. There is no need of it. People who take cold easily do so because their system is in just the condition to contract them.

We know of something that will quickly drive colds out of the system by invigorating the entire body. It is VINO, the great tonic reconstructer, that contains all the active curative principles found in cod liver oil.

Here is one letter that we have had presented to us that we would like our friends to read:

"I have been suffering from a severe cold for a number of weeks, and having heard so much about VINO, as being a cure for such troubles, I decided to try it. Two bottles entirely cured me and I now feel in better health than ever before in my life. J. M. Brown, 319 W. Mahanoy St., Mahanoy City, Penn."

Remember that if you do not find that VINO is all that we claim for it we are always glad to refund to our customers the money that they pay us for it, which implicitly endorses VINO.

Ivory Carving.

The Ivory carvers of this country do little or nothing in the East Indian or Japanese manner, nor do they occupy themselves with figure work. Their chief employment is in producing decorative toilet and stationery articles. The carvers of ivory use much the same tools as the wood carvers, but of lighter and more delicate make.

The work is extremely tedious and laborious. The carving is usually done in low relief, and the subjects are such as are suitable to this treatment—Persian designs in delicate curves, the cactus, with some varieties of palms, and hints caught from those marvelously shapely but artistic carvings of the Alaskan Indians. The ivory is stained slightly so as to bring out the design and is permitted to absorb moisture, which it readily does, in order to give it that fresh look common in newly manufactured articles of ivory. The art of staining ivory is a secret guarded well by the carvers.

Some idea of the cost of Ivory carving may be had from the fact that, while a hand mirror framed in plain ivory may be had for $10 or $12, a mirror in carved ivory may cost $100 or more. The small articles in carved ivory cost from $5 to $25, and a toilet set in that material may bring as much as $50.—New York Herald.

When Abroad, Speak English.

The English speaking tourist who wastes half an hour of time, temper and energy in trying to make some dweller in a foreign land understand his bad French or Spanish only to be shocked at length by some such question as "Can't you speak English?" is almost as common nowadays as the track walking tragedian. This is a little story of his experience in Spain, as told by "The Dominic" in The Ladies' Home Journal:

"One day we all entered a little shop in Madrid, and the captain began to speak in Spanish to the girl who was behind the counter. She failed to understand, and so he tried again. Once and again he tried and tried and summoned up his whole vocabulary. At last in his attempt to make his meaning plain by illustration he drew from his pocket a card and with it stroked his chin. The girl fell into fits of laughter and in perfect English said, 'Oh, what you want is a fine tooth comb!'"

Hot Water Pipes in Greenland.

There is a place called Kakortok in Greenland, which was colonized centuries ago by Norwegians, but which is now a deserted heap of ruins. Among the relics discovered there were the pipes lying in what was evidently a cathedral and attendant dwelling houses. From the position of these pipes it is certain that they were employed for conveying some fluid to the apartments of these several buildings, and on making a searching examination the discoverers found that the pipes were connected to a natural hot water spring of volcanic origin.

The Limbs in Walking.

It is pointed out that in walking or running the arms and legs produce a "balancing" like that of the reciprocating and revolving parts of a locomotive. The movements of the legs rest upon the trunk and tend to rotate it in alternate directions about a vertical axis, but the swinging of the arms, each in unison with the opposite leg, produces an opposing mechanical couple, the effect of which is to rotate the trunk in the other direction, thus balancing, in part at least, the rotating action of the legs.

Egyptian Humor.

In a handbook for travelers in the Sudan issued by the Egyptian government, referring to the currency, it is quaintly observed that "in the more undressed parts of the country" beads and bracelets are current.

In the section on shooting there is a pleasant reference to only crocodiles may be shot at from steamers, and even this practice is deprecated as being "more dangerous to the riverain population than the crocodile."

Throwing Men Overboard.

In ancient Scotland the barbarous custom existed which cost Jonah so much inconvenience. When a ship became unmanageable, it was usual to cast lots for the purpose of discovering who was responsible for the trouble, and the man upon whom the lot fell was condemned. Instead of human beings dogs used sometimes to be thrown into the sea with their legs bound.

To Fill Them Out.

Mrs. Boden—I notice you got a new suit of clothes today.

The Boarder—Yes; but they're too loose.

"Well, you can send them back and get that altered."

"I've got a better scheme. I'm going to look up a good boarding house."

Philadelphia Record.

He Reeled.

Mrs. Innocent—What did you enjoy most about your fishing trip, dear?

Mr. Innocent—I got most excited when I was reeling in, my love.

Mrs. Innocent (bursting into tears)—And to—to—think you promised me you wouldn't drink a drop!—Harlem Life.

Inexperienced.

Mrs. Wedderly—I wonder why it is that single men are always the most anxious to go to war?

Wedderly—I suppose it's because they don't know what war really is.

Fire Among Savage Nations.

According to Pliny fire was a long time unknown to some of the ancient Egyptian tribes, and when a celebrated astronomer made them acquainted with that element and how to produce it they were wild with delight. The Persians, Phoenicians, Greeks and several other nations acknowledge that their ancestors were once without the comforts which fire bestows; the Chinese confess the same of their progenitors. Companion, Mola, Plutarch and other ancient writers speak of nations which, at the time when they wrote, knew not the use of fire or had just recently learned it.

The inhabitants of the Marian Islands, which were discovered in 1551, had no idea of fire or its uses. Their astonishment knew no bounds when they saw it applied to wood, most of them taking it to be some kind of an animal which the sailors had brought with them and which must be fed on wood.

All Charged but the Cork.

A good story is told of a digger who had ridden into a Western Australian town to consult a doctor. Having done so, he went to have the prescription made up.

"How much is this lot?" he asked the chemist.

"Well, let me see," was the reply. "There's seven and sixpence for the medicine and a shilling for the bottle." He hesitated, uncertain whether he had charged for everything.

"Oh, hurry up, boss," said the impatient miner; "put a price on the cork and let us know the worst."—London Tit-Bits.

BIG ENOUGH TO HIT.

So Thought the Small Boy, but the Man Thought Differently.

He wasn't very big, but he was a sturdy little chap with a face that bore the marks of much thinking and premature responsibility. I learned afterward that he was supporting a crippled mother and an invalid sister who had been left helpless in the world by the death of her father. He might have run away from home and evaded the responsibility, but he didn't think of it. He just sold papers.

At the loop on Fifteenth street a crowd was gathered, waiting for the evening cars. A ragged young girl was selling flowers at the Fifteenth street end of the waiting station when a man, rushing to catch his car, knocked her against the side of the building. Without stopping, probably not having noticed what he had done, he continued his rush, when the boy stepped in front of him defiantly.

"Say, what do you want to knock a girl down for? Hit me. I'm big enough."

The man paused in surprise and then glanced around. He saw the flower girl picking up her wares and understood. Without a moment's hesitation he went back to her, gave her enough money to make her eyes sparkle with joy and said:

"I'm sorry, my dear, that I hurt you. I didn't see." Then, turning to the boy, he continued: "You said you were big enough, young man, but you're a great deal bigger than you think. Men like you will have a lot to do with keeping this old world in a condition of self respect."

Then he caught his car, and the boy and the girl stood there wondering what he meant.—Denver Times.
