AGRICULTURAL HINTS

Faults in Feeding.

There are faults in feeding that should be avoided. The farmer who overfeeds his animals by allowing food to remain within their reach at all times is not economical in his methods.

Drinking Vessels for Fowls.

One poultryman says that he finds it advantageous to have two sets of drinking vessels, using one one day and the other the next. By this means one set is sunned and aired in the off day.

No Kicking Cows.

Many cows are made cross and unruly by the men who have the care of them. Take almost any nervous, high strung cow and place her under the care of a ill tempered, impatient foreman, and the result is not difficult to foresee.

Concerning the use of the several forms of fertilizers on potatoes it was demonstrated that the addition of potash in any form, when applied with barnyard manure, increased the dry matter in starch in the tubers, and thus improved the quality.

Parrot Walked the Wire.

The rotund German who resides on Olive street has a parrot which is a great pet. It knew so much, and had become so fully a member of the family, that the other day, when Polly unhooked the latch of the cage and skipped there was general consternation.

The Honey Bird.

A great many years ago people used to drink a sweet water called mead that was made of honey. We never hear about mead in these days, when so many different sorts of wines are brought to us from other countries.

ped off close. A bundle of wool tied with a dozen unnecessary knots, and with many loose ends sticking out, always gives a bad appearance to the package, and in many cases prejudices buyers from the whole lot.

Effect of Fertilizers.

Potatoes are grown extensively in this country, and more experiments have been made with them than any other crop, yet the matter of applying manure or fertilizer to the potato crop is one on which growers differ materially.

The Game of Chase.

Swiss children make believe that the pursuer in the game of chase or "tag" is invested with an imaginary evil spirit whose power is subject to certain charms. For instance, if they touch cold iron, a gate latch, a horse shoe or an iron nail the power of the demon is broken.

The Hack Driver's Little Girl.

Six little girls in Miss Rexford's school were about the same age—Corra, Ethel, Sally, Edith, Jenny, and Ruth. Five of them were generally to be seen together, at recess and going and returning from school.

Washing in the Orient.

The Japanese rip their garments apart for every washing and they iron their clothes by spreading them on a flat board and leaving this up against the house to dry. The sun takes the wrinkles out of the clothes and some of them have quite a luster.

How did you get home?

"How did you get home?" asked Edith's father that night. "Mr. Stedman brought me in his hack. Ethel asked us all to ride."

The Travelers.

Said Polly and Molly and Bobby and John, "We'll go to Europe and see the sights. We're afraid we will drown if we go in the boats."

rather larger than a sparrow, and is so fond of honey that it is always on the lookout to get some. There are no beehives in that country, but the bees make nests in the hollow of a tree, or in some other sheltered place.

Sometimes the bear is lurking about among the trees, and he hears it; and by-and-by he sees the bird perched on some branch close by. The bird flies toward the nest of the poor unsuspecting bees, and the bear follows; for he loves the taste of honey, and this is not the first time, by any means, that he has gone after the honey guide.

The Hottentot knows the voice of the honey guide and follows it with great delight. When he reaches the nest he does not forget his kind friend; he takes care to leave behind that part of the comb which contains the eggs and the little grubs, for the bird likes these even better than the honey.

"The bird is our friend," he said, "and we will not betray it!"—Washington Star.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER

Cured by Pe-ru-na of Systematic Catarrh.

An Interesting Letter From Mrs. M. K. Bousch, of Richmond, and Her Little Daughter, Pearl.

Mrs. M. K. Bousch, Richmond, Va., writes: "I had catarrh all through my system for two years and could get no relief. I was advised to try Pe-ru-na and I have taken five bottles of it and am well and better now than I have been for years."

My baby I contracted catarrh, and was doctored by several good physicians, but none did me any good. My mother was taking Pe-ru-na at the time and gave some of it to me, and I soon began to improve, and am now well and fat as a little pig. I am twelve years old. The doctors told mother I had the consumption, but it was only catarrh.—Miss Pearl Bousch.
