We make our bow in editorial work this week with fear and trembling, not that we are unwilling to try to do the work but that we feel our inability to do it. We will ask our friends to help us to make this a bright spot in our school work during the coming year. We hope to give the news of the school and thus keep our friends, who are interested in us, posted as to the doings of the school.

We wish to express our gratitude to the editor of THE STAR for allowing us a column in his paper and hope we may not detract but rather add to the already acknowledged excellency of THE STAR. With best wishes for a happy and prosperous year we greet you.

The Shakesperian Literary Society met Sept. 12, 1902, when they elected the following officers for the ensuing month: Pres., Golda King; Vice Pres., Margaret Stoke; sec., Mildred Ridgeway; critic, Mr. Kern; program committee, Nulu Neale, Coe Shaffer, Ed. Hardman; editor-in-chief, Helena Black; assistant editors, Thomas Nolan, Villa Aley; local editor, John Coleman.

Jay McGaw acted as president protem during the election of the officers. He had some difficulty getting a vote on some motions. The Society met Friday, Sept. 19th and gave their first program which was very interesting.

Ed. Hardman is talking of getting up a class in dancing.

The Junior class followed the example of the Senior class in having a class meeting and electing officers. At present we are not able to give the names of their officers.

Mr. Claude Hamilton was absent half a day last week.

Miss Mildred Ridgeway was absent a day last week on account of sickness.

Dr. J. B. Neale paid a visit to the high school on last Wednesday forenoon.

In the absence of Misses Julia Kirk and Lulu Black on Thursday afternoon, Helena Black and Margaret Stoke taught rooms 12 and 10.

Wanted—Pupils to take elocutionary lessons. Clyde Murray.

There seems to be a great attraction in the Sub. Junior class. What is it?

The substitute teacher of room 10 is a great admirer of black eyes.

There was a general move in the Junior class Monday morning. Now will you be good. The Subs had better be careful or there will be another moving day in the high school.

My advice to the Sub-Juniors is to look up heat belts. For if some of them should make a trip to the south pole they would find the temperature different from that at the equator.

In a recently enacted parody on Casablanca, that beautiful poem of Felicia Hemans in which she has the hero say as he sees himself enveloped in flames, "My father, must I stay?" the twentieth century hero on being handed his hat at two p. m. was heard to say, "Must I, must I go?"

A Skunk Farm.

Joseph Howard, of North Point, is engaged in the odoriferous business of raising skunks for their pelts. He has over a hundred of them now, and expects to grow them in car load lots. He wanted to put a flock of them on exhibition at the Punxsutawney fair, but the management feared they might raise a disturbance in the atmosphere, and declined. Skunk hides are worth from 35 cents to $1.50 each, according to color, the blacker ones being the more valuable. A man who raises them can select the black ones to breed from, carefully excluding all that are white, or spotted, and thus rear only black ones. Unless the animals are well fed they will eat their young and on this account it is difficult to grow them in captivity.—Punxsutawney Spirit.

A Genial Handshake.

Did you ever shake hands with Ex-Sheriff E. C. Burns of Reynoldsville? Burns was one of the best sheriffs Jefferson county ever had and is one of the best all around fellows that you'll come across in a million years. But it's about Burns' hand-shake that we intend to speak. When we were over at Reynoldsville this week we met Burns and, of course, shook hands with him. "How are you?" he said in that pleasing way of his, as he grasped our hand. "First-rate" we responded, but if we had wanted to say more we could not have done it, for we felt Burns' hand closing over ours like a steel vice and we were about to kindly ask him to slack up a bit when he let go. Burns only weighs about 300 pounds.—Punxsutawney Republican.

Tickets good for return passage until Saturday following date of sale.

Reduced Rates to Pittsburg Exposition.

Blessed With Gullibility.

The fakir does business without much capital. He does not need it. Nature blessed man with a degree of gullibility that is nothing but marvelous. Fakirs have a mission after all. The ordinary man does not know what an easy mark he is until some fakir gets hold of him and relieves him of all his ready cash. Omniscient man makes his little joke about woman and the traveling peddler, and generously pardons the folly of the weaker vessel. Omniscient man goes to the county fair and gives a fakir five dollars to show him that a little ball is not under a certain shell. The woman has a dozen emerald-hued spoons to remind her of her folly: the man has nothing. Therein is the man's opportunity. Until those spoons are safely buried in the depths of the garden the man plays on his harp of one string. It is "spoons" from one week's end to another. He has forgotten the five that is nestling snugly in the vest pocket of the fakir. The woman does not know, and meekly submits. Man is of few days and easy.—Clarion Republican.

Reduced Rates to Washington.

For the Thirty-sixth National Encampment, G. A. R., to be held at Washington, D. C., October 6 to 11, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell round-trip tickets to Washington from all points on its lines at rate of single fare for the round trip. Tickets will be on sale from October 4 to 7, inclusive, and good to return until October 14, inclusive. By depositing ticket with the Joint Agent at Washington between October 7 and 14, and the payment of 50 cents, an extension of the return limit to November 3 may be obtained.

Fortune Favors a Texan.

"Having distressing pains in head, back and stomach, and being without appetite, I began to use Dr. King's New Life Pills," writes W. P. Whithead, of Kennedale, Tex., "and soon felt a like a new man." Infallible in stomach and liver troubles. Only 25c at H. Alex Stoke's drug store.

Herick's shoes at D. Nolan's shoe store for $2.00 and $2.50, formerly sold for $2.50 and $3.50.

A Refreshing Comedy.

"Ay don't want to go to jail—dat's why I quit des faller as soon as I get anoder job?"—This is what Nels Nelson says in the new musical farce comedy, "Mr. Plaster of Paris"—a genuinely humorous play, full of new and bright laughable lines and tuneful music. Along with Nelson, (one of the funniest Swedish character parts ever seen in any farce,) there is a dozen other strong comedy roles non-conflicting and of the most amusing kind. "Mr. Plaster of Paris" is of the better comedy school, has a clever plot that is easy to follow and together with bright glib lines, is just the caper to infuse good humor, no matter how chronic the case of "crank" may be. The players have been selected with the utmost care, resulting in a combination of competent comedians, talented girls, musical hits and a farcical performance of the highest class. A special scenic arrangement is carried for the correct framing of the comedy and the careful attention that has been given to detail makes "Mr. Plaster of Paris" one of the best equipped musical farce comedies on the road. This play will be offered at the Reynolds opera house to-night. Tickets on sale at Stoke's drug store.

Reduced Rates to San Francisco.

On account of the meeting of National Wholesale Druggists' Association, at Monterey, Cal., October 7 to 11, 1902, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell excursion tickets to San Francisco or Los Angeles from all stations on its lines from September 28 to 30, inclusive, at reduced rates. These tickets will be good for return passage until November 15, inclusive, when executed by Joint Agent at Los Angeles or San Francisco and payment of 50 cents made for this service. For specific information regarding rates and routes apply to ticket agents.

A Parson's Noble Act.

"I want all the world to know," writes Rev. C. J. Budlong, of Ashaway, R. L., "what a thoroughly good and reliable medicine I found in Electric Bitters. They cured me of jaundice and liver troubles that had caused me great suffering for many years. For a genuine, all-around cure they excel anything I ever saw." Electric Bitters are the surprise of all for their wonderful work in Liver, Kidney and Stomach troubles. Don't fail to try them. Only 50c. Satisfaction is guaranteed by H. Alex Stoke.
