

"Maloney's Wedding Day."
The humorous blunders and embarrassments of Dan Maloney's courtship with the Widow Clancy have stirred up more healthy laughter than any two dramatic productions rolled into one. The author truthfully claims that it was written for laughing purposes only, and since its birth has been the source of exhaustless fun to countless thousands. The press of the large cities pronounce it the real big comedy-drama success of the season, and wherever it appears crowded houses greet it and relish its three hours of genuine enjoyment. It brims with merry mischief, tells a story of deep interest, and reveals in as much real mirth as can be bunched into one hundred and eighty minutes, with a good, big, hearty laugh guaranteed for every minute. James L. McCabe as "Dan Maloney" is matchless in Celtic comedy and Hibernian wit. The supporting comedy comes with the best of press approbations. At Reynolds opera house Saturday evening, Oct. 4. Tickets on sale at Stoke's.

NEWSPAPER LAWS.
Some Rules That it Would be Well for Subscribers to Understand.
The following rules are laid down by the Government for the protection of newspapers:
Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary, are considered as wishing to continue their subscription.
If subscribers order the discontinuance of their periodicals, the publishers may continue to send them until all arrearages are paid.
If subscribers move to other places without informing publishers, and papers are sent to the former direction, they are held responsible.
The courts have decided that refusing to take periodicals from the office before removing, and leaving them unclaimed for, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.
If subscribers pay in advance they are bound to give notice to the publisher at the end of that time, if they do not wish the publisher to continue it; otherwise the publisher is authorized to send it on, and the subscribers will be responsible until an express notice with payment of all arrears, is sent to the publisher.
It is a dangerous trick for a man to allow his subscription account to run on from year to year unpaid, and then tell the postmaster to mark "refused," or to send the editor a notice to discontinue the paper.

GAS EXPLOSION IN MINE.
Six Men Badly Burned and Mutilated—Two Died in Hospital.
Tuesday of last week a terrific explosion of gas occurred in the mine at Helvetia by which six men were badly injured, two of whom died in the Adrian hospital. The scene of the explosion was over two miles from the entrance of the mine, and was the result of drilling into a pocket which was filled with gas. When the drill entered the subterranean cavity the escaping gas caused a loud roar, followed by an explosion, which put the mine lights out for a half mile from where the explosion took place.
Following are the names of the unfortunate men: Dennis McGee, John Sheakar, John Glenn, Owen Glenn, Fargle Boner and Michael Pender. The last two named died at the hospital.
By use of telephone we got some particulars last Wednesday morning of the explosion, wrote an article for THE STAR, had it set in type and in closing up the forms the article was overlooked and the omission was not discovered until the entire edition of the paper had been run off, and that is why there was no mention of the explosion in last week's issue.
