Heavy Freight Traffic.

The Low Grade Division of P. R. R. is handling 35 per cent more freight now than the road ever handled before, and it would be increased to 70 per cent more if there was motive power enough to haul the freight. On account of some of the bridges not being in condition to run big engines over the company cannot run the "jack" or "hog" engines on this division and they have not enough light engines to do the work. New steel bridges are being put in as fast as possible and when they are all in then the big engines will be run on Low Grade. Trains are being run on Dunmore put an extra crew on the Low Grade last week and will put on another new crew this week.

Arbor Day.

Last Friday was designated as Arbor day by the Dr. N. C. Schaeffer, State Superintendent of Public Instruction. The public schools made formal recognition of this fact and at the morning exercises Mr. S. B. Elliot gave an instructive and interesting address on forestry and its benefits. The speaker pointed out at least two uses of trees, their beauty and their commercial value. The state and nation are turning their attention to the subject of forestry and they are setting apart large tracts of timber land in order to preserve the trees from destruction. The boys and girls ought to be interested in the planting and culture of trees. Some of our leading universities have included a course in forestry in their courses of instruction.

A Forcible Hint to Book Borrowers.

A Reynoldsville gentleman who is a great lover of books and who has quite an extensive library has the following notice prominently displayed: "I have a fine assortment of books for sale, including under certain circumstances, and will therefore loan any book in my library, excepting only any mentioned on the annexed list, which will under no circumstances be permitted to be taken from the room. This rule will not be deviated from except in case of fire." Then follows a complete list of his books, which is added to as he makes new purchases.

Fine Work.

J. H. Lewis, of Belle Vernon, visited his son, Roy M. Lewis, in this place last week. Mr. Lewis was very favorably impressed with Reynoldsville, and especially with the glass plant. He says the work done here is superior to the work done in any new plant he has ever visited, and considering the fact that Mr. Lewis is a glass blower, and has been working at it 12 years, he is certainly a competent judge in the matter. It is claimed that glass-blowers are short lived, but here is a gentleman who has been actively engaged in the work 42 years, and he looks as if he was good for 10 or 15 years more.

New Way of Scaolding Pigs.

A Polish man of Rathmel thought he would like some fresh pork last week and he killed one of his porkers. Not having a barrel to scald the pig in, he made a fire out of straw and wood and burned the hair off the pig. He remarked to a neighbor, "Good business for the American man."—Rathmel correspondent.

His Life in Peril

"I just seemed to have gone all to pieces," writes Alfred Boe, of Welfare, Tex., "billiousness and lame back had made life a burden. I couldn't eat or sleep and felt almost too worn out to work when I began to use Electric Bitters, but they worked wonders. Now I sleep like a top, can eat anything, have gained in strength and enjoy hard work." They give vigorous health and new life to weak, sickly, run-down people. Try them. Only 50c at H.
