Robert Knox, jr., who was very ill with appendicitis is able to be about again. He expects to undergo an operation for the same, soon.

Some enterprising young man might do quite well in our neighborhood at herding cattle as we are badly in need of a cow boy as spring approaches.

There was no school in Room No. 2 on Monday and Tuesday, and also in Room No. 3 on Tuesday afternoon on account of the funeral of Charley Dickey.

News of Interest to the Grangers

Almost all the food consumed and much of the raw material used in manufacturing as well as the finished products of the mills must be transported, in part, at least, over the country roads.

Inasmuch as everybody uses the roads everybody should help to pay for them. The farmers have built and thus far maintained the roads we now have. That is one reason why Real Estate in Pennsylvania is not paying an aggregate of sixteen mills tax while other classes of property are paying only three mills.

The demand for better roads is universal and the proposition that all classes of property should be taxed to build them is rapidly growing in favor.

As to a method of raising money the Grange advocates as its first choice the collecting of a tax from personal and corporate property to produce a special road fund. Our second choice is a State appropriation.

However the money may be raised we have only one choice as to its distribution and that is that it be given to the several townships in proportion to the number of miles of road in each. By any other method of distribution favored individuals and favored localities will get the lions share.

The true province of the Pomona Grange is to have charge of the educational and business interests of the Order, to encourage, strengthen and aid subordinate Granges in the district and to strive to organize farming interests under the Grange banner. To secure the benefits of Pomona it is essential that live energetic members of subordinate Granges become the doers in her court. The feeders and lookers on should be few and the workers many and strong. The officers of a well organized Pomona will at once devise work and organize committees to put plans into execution. The Pomona should be a model of Grange work and all that appertains to it so far as the first five degrees are concerned.

The Master, Lecturer and Deputies should be skilled in the laws and work, whether written or unwritten, and have the energy and courage to stand by well defined landmarks of the organization. Harmony in action is indeed very desirable, but at all events let progress be the watchword of each officer and member. Competent officers and committees work wonderful but the rest of the membership may enthrone a wonderful amount of vitality by hearty cooperation. Really an organization of any kind is but a photograph of its membership.

A. T. LILLEY,
Deputy of Bradford Co.

The Secretary of Mapleton Grange No. 1734, of Huntingdon Co., Pa., writes: On Monday evening, February 9, our Grange had a very interesting meeting. Many of the members were present. A number of important topics were discussed and one application for membership was received. Our Grange is in fine working order. The County Deputy and the Master of Pomona Grange are both members of our Grange.

Worthy Master Horton, of the Michigan State Grange, has defined the grange as a fraternal association that will give: "A permanent social gathering for old and young; a parliamentary school and literary society; a school for general discussion of important questions; a convenience for legislative influence; a benefit through trade contracts; a saving through Grange fire insurance; a fixed plan for libraries; a financial assistant to the active farmer; a practical school of opportunities for the young." Yet most of us have not realized that the Grange provides for all this. Is it not time that we were studying the plans of our own organizations?

Katherine Ridgway Concert Company.

Miss Katharine Ridgway was the star last night in a delightful entertainment that formed one event of the Lecture Association's course. She is an eloquent of ability, and she presented a happily selected program. Miss Ridgway's selections were of widely varying character and served to display her art in all its phases, and every phase was enjoyable. The dramatic, the pathetic, the comic, the thoughtful in her pieces were well expressed in tone and action. A handsome woman of splendid physique, she is remarkably graceful and at the same time forceful. Her voice is deep, clear, and steady, and in plain narrative is musical, her softer tones of the sweetest, and her enthusiastic voice full of resonance.—Atlanta (Ga.) Constitution.

While Mr. Percer F. Hunt's voice is not tempestuously powerful, it is used with such refinement and intelligence that it is always pleasing to hear. He might be termed a "restful baritone," if there be such a thing. His enunciation is so good that no one follows with the printed page when he sings.—Troy (N. Y.) Record.

George W. Jenkins of New York, who is endowed by nature with a tenor voice of remarkable beauty and volume, which cultivation has polished and rounded out with a finish that is effective in the extreme. The tenor part in the "Crucifixion" is exquisitely beautiful, and gave Mr. Jenkins full scope for the most artistic rendering, which was fully appreciated by the large number of music-lovers that were present.—Parkersburg Morning News, March 25, 1902.

This company will be here April 6 under the auspices of the public schools.

Among the list of attractions booked to appear at the Reynolds opera house Thursday, March 26th, is Mr. Fitzgerald Murphy's latest effort, "The Power of the Cross." It is said to be a distinct dramatic novelty and is credited as being one of the successes of the season. It is heralded as the greatest play ever written around the doings of the great city of New York. Beautiful scenery, showing many familiar places in New York, and a cast of players seldom seen in melodrama are a few of the promised features.

Tragedy Averted.

"Just in the nick of time our little boy was saved" writes Mrs. W. Watkins of Pleasant City, Ohio. "Pneumonia had played sad havoc with him and a terrible cough set in besides. Doctors treated him, but he grew worse every day. At length we tried Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and our darling was saved. He's now sound, and well."
