VIEW OF THE NEW INDUSTRY FROM THE SOUTH SIDE.

ONE OF THE NEW and important industries in Reynoldsville is the Reynoldsville Clay Manutacturing Company plant. It is now in operation, giving employment to twenty men, and as soon as more kilns are built the force will be doubled. The plant was started with one kiln so that the company could manufacture their own brick to build all the kilns necessary. Six more kilns will be built this summer. When completed there will be ten kilns altogether.

The plant is located 100 feet south of the Star Glass Company plant. It is equipped for the manufacture of paving or building brick, red or buff, hollow block tile and pottery. The brick department is 50 x 109 feet, and has a dry house in addition, which will dry 20,000 brick in from 24 to 36 hours. Two large boilers of 125-horse power each and a 150-horse power automatic engine furnishes power for the plant. The latest improved machinery has been bought for the plant and it has a capacity for making from 25,000 to 40,000 brick per day. There is one large dry pan for grinding clay, which passes the clay from pan up a 44-foot elevator and then down over a screen to a large 13-toot pug mill which prepares the clay for the brick machine. This machine forms the clay into a solid column, passing it on to the automatic cutting table where 16 brick are cut at one time, or at the rate of 50 to 60 brick per minute.

The pottery is equipped with one large 9-foot wet pan which grinds the clay ready for the potter. There is also two turning wheels and one jolley wheel on large dryer and two large glazing tubs. This department has the latest improved and best obtainable machinery for the manufacture of Bristol glazed stoneware, which consists of butter pots, stew pans, bean pot, fruit jars, jugs, milk pans, cuspidors and many other useful articles.

The clay for this plant is hauled from Wishaw over the R. & F. C. R'y. There is a gang of men rking at the clay bank at Wishaw. G. W. Arblaster, superintendent of the Reynoldsville Clay Manufacturing Company plant, is a By order given by Supervis-By order given by Supervisworking at the clay bank at Wishaw.
