News of Interest to the Grangers

Dr. Edwards, of the Michigan Agricultural College, says: "Whoever a Grange exists the ambition of the farmer has changed from the cultivation of products to the cultivation of manhood. What the world needs to-day is not so much the material things as a deeper hold on the inner meaning of life. The Grange is engaged in furnishing manhood and womanhood and here the agricultural college joins hands with the Grange."

If the Grange were a purely business organization, it would be open to serious criticism if it were not more successful than it has been in its business ventures. But the Grange is primarily a social and educational organization. It is its chief business to avoid devoting its strength and time to business to the neglect of its other interests. But each Grange does well when it provides for a strong business committee.

In January, farmer N. J. Bachelder, the Master of the New Hampshire State Grange and the lecturer of the National Grange, was inaugurated Governor of the old Granite State. Gov. Bachelder was nominated by acclamation and triumphantly elected, not because he was a farmer or a Patron of Husbandry but because "A man's a man for a' that" and no heartier words of approval can come from any source than that appeared at the time of the inauguration.

PUNXSUTAWNEY VISIT TOWN.

Knights of Pythias and Pythian Sisterhood Came Over in Special Car.

The Knights of Pythias and the Pythian Sisterhood of this place went to Reynoldsville last Wednesday evening on a special car to visit the K. of P. lodge at that place. There were 61 in the party, filling the large new car to its fullest capacity without detracting any from the comfort of the passengers, and a jollier crowd was never carried over the road.

Somehow the Reynoldsville people learned that they were to be paid a visit, although it was supposed to have been kept a secret, and they had everything prepared to entertain their visitors in the best possible style. With the assistance of their wives, daughters and sweethearts the Sir Knights had prepared a feast fit for the gods. Directly after the lodge meeting the visitors were seated to the banquet, and the way they gorged themselves with good things was shameful. The Reynoldsville people, while they did not say anything, no doubt thought their visitors had been fasting for many days in anticipation of the feast.

After supper the time was occupied by games, dancing, etc. Music was furnished by a good orchestra and there was absolutely nothing lacking in making it one of the most enjoyable social events ever held in the town. The Punxsutawney delegation was well pleased with the treatment they received, and are now anxiously awaiting an opportunity to reciprocate.—Punxsutawney Republican.

Banquet was served in Bell's banquet hall. Wm. Copping says: "The visitors were moderate eaters. When we visit Punxsutawney we will show them how to eat."

Supt. Teltrick's Visit to Our Schools.

Last Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday morning Supt. Teltrick was visiting our schools. On Wednesday morning at the opening services Prof. Teltrick conducted the devotional exercises and afterwards gave a short but interesting address to the pupils assembled. During his brief stay he visited all of the rooms and before leaving he expressed himself as being highly pleased with the work that is being done in the different departments of our schools. Mr. Smith McCreight, one of the directors, was with Prof. Teltrick on Wednesday morning.

announcement of his candidacy in the columns of the most influential paper published in the State by his political opponents. The church, the little red school houses and the Grange hall are the three most powerful agents of civilization in our country to-day.

Since Jan. 1st ten new granges have been organized and two dormant ones re-organized in Pennsylvania. These new organizations are located in eleven different counties.

The elements of a nation's strength is not fleets and armies, nor yet expanse of territory nor manufactures and commerce. Nations have had all these and died. To be secure a Republic must rest on the intelligence, integrity and patriotism of the masses. To be truly patriotic a man must have some interests at stake. The man who owns his hearth-stone, the shelter and support of his loved ones will fight, and, if need be, die for it. How much of America's greatness is due to the fact that her broad acres are yet largely owned by the men who till them. The grange is pledged to the support of every agency that will tend to make this condition permanent. It looks with distrust upon large landed estates. In as much as the small manufacturer and tradesman are already gone it becomes all the more important that the small farmer remains.

An Editor Visited Reynoldsville.

S. C. Hepler, editor of the New Bethlehem Leader, visited Reynoldsville the first of last week, by special invitation, to attend the Protected Home Circle banquet, and a half column write-up of the banquet and what the editor saw in Reynoldsville appeared in the Leader on 23rd inst. Bro. Hepler called at THE STAR office, but the editor was out and did not have the pleasure of meeting him, but we judge from what he says of Reynoldsville, which we publish below, that he sees things correctly:

"At present Reynoldsville is a busy little city. Although the glass works have shut down for this season, yet the silk mill, tanneries and the Reynoldsville Clay Mfg. Co's plants, of which our former townsman, Mr. G. W. Argibaster, is superintendent, are in full blast; and the mining industries of the immediate vicinity add largely to the revenues of the town. Again, the new trolley line connecting Reynoldsville and Punxsutawney is already bringing trade, and altogether the outlook for Reynoldsville is bright. Although we discovered no paved streets, yet we were enabled to see during the night, as the town is lighted by electricity; and having so many industries, such excellent brick structures, electric lights, up-to-date printing plants, a first-class high grade school, and last but not least a trolley line, the time cannot be far distant when they will have paved streets."

The editor of the Leader failed to mention our two large Woolen Mills, Reynoldsville Brick & Tile Co. plant, Herpel Bro's machine shop, Northamer & Kollock's cabinet shop, "Little Gem" Moistener Co., Reynoldsville Milling Co., J. V. Young's planing mill, Doble Bro's wagon shop, and several other industries, but it is probable that it was not the intention to mention all the industries in town.

An Unlucky Train.

A saleswoman came to town one day last week on P. R. R. train No. 113, and she considered it an unlucky train. She got a number of orders in Brookville, but did very little business in Reynoldsville, which she claimed was on account of coming to town on train No. 113.
