MURDER AT WALSTON.

Baptista Alleo Stabbed Frank Carafa—Murderer in Jail.

An Italian was murdered at Walston last Saturday by a fellow-countryman. Baptista Alleo, aged about twenty-one years, stabbed Frank Carafa, aged thirty-five years. Alleo plunged the knife into Carafa's heart and had his hand raised for the second thrust when some of the bystanders caught his arm, but the first stab was fatal. Monday Constable O. P. Walker brought Alleo to Reynoldsville on the trolley cars on his way to county jail at Brookville. Alleo has only been in this country about one month. He went to Walston the first of last week. The trouble arose over some Italians giving a little like some tobacco and Carafa was trying to stop the jangle when Alleo, who was not personally interested in the affair, stepped up and stabbed him.

Birthday Surprise Party.

Sunday, May 3rd, was Mrs. James M. Binney's birthday and during her absence from home Monday forenoon, between 35 and 40 lady friends and neighbors assembled at her home on Jackson street. When she returned home about noon she was very much surprised to find her house full of women. It was a complete surprise to Mrs. Binney, as the preparations had all been made at home of her daughter, Mrs. Richard Bone, on Worth street. After congratulations all sat down to a sumptuous dinner. Mrs. Binney was presented with a handsome leather covered antique oak rocking chair, a set of silver spoons and many other useful articles. The afternoon was pleasantly spent with music, games, etc., and at a late hour the guests returned to their homes wishing Mrs. Binney many happy returns of her birthday.

A Pleasant Surprise.

Friday, May 1st, was a very pleasant day for Mrs. J. E. Dean, of Winslow township, and some of her friends. On that day Mrs. Dean was 73 years old and some of her friends planned, and successfully carried out, a very pleasant surprise. About 10 o'clock the following ladies from Reynoldsville drove out to the home of Rev. Dean: Mrs. Hannah Prescott, Mrs. J. H. Corbett, Mrs. M. C. Coleman, Mrs. Dr. J. C. King, Mrs. R. S. Williams, Mrs. Dr. A. H. Bower, Mrs. J. M. Davis, Mrs. J. A. Whitmore, Mrs. L. G. Lidle, Mrs. E. Barton, Mrs. H. E. Phillips, Mrs. A. F. G. G. Williams, Mrs. G. W. Woodford, Mrs. R. H. Wilson, Mrs. J. Woodford. The following gentlemen were also present: Mrs. N. T. Dean, Mrs. G. Miss Maude Rea and Mrs. C. H. Dean.

Mrs. Dean knew nothing of their coming until they opened the door and walked in. The ladies came with well filled baskets and at the noon hour the large dining room presented a pleasant sight. Two large tables were heaped with good things and all enjoyed the repast.

The afternoon was spent in pleasant conversation and singing. After singing some of the good old hymns that we all love, Rev. Dean read the 23rd Psalm and lead in prayer, after which Mrs. Dean told her guests how glad she was to welcome them to her home, and how grateful she felt for their friendship and remembrance. Many of the ladies she had known for 25 years and their relations had always been the most pleasant. The guests presented Mrs. Dean with a handsome summer dress as a token of their friendship for her. About 4 p. m. the ladies left for their homes, all feeling that the day had been pleasantly spent and that sunshine and happiness had been left in the home from which they had departed, as a result of their pleasant surprise.

A FRIEND.

The Crowning.

The Crowning, or opening of May devotions, was held in the Catholic church Sunday evening. The church was crowded and a number of people were unable to get into the church. One hundred girls dressed in white, carrying flowers and wearing wreaths, took part in the services. The altar was beautifully decorated with flowers. The girls marched up and down the aisles and then stood in front of altar. Following are the names of the girls who took part in the Crowning:

First Angel, Rose Black; second angel, Nellie Degnan; six assistants, Marjorie Bowen, Lucilla O'Hare, Alice Degnan, Rose Degnan, Ella McDonald, Eileen Nolan.

The flowers—Opening address, Joan Geisler; Rose, Elizabeth Taaf; Lily, Margaret Phalen; Violet, Dorothy Schultze; Mignonette, Mazie Burgoon; Lilac, Marie Arnold; For-get-me-not, Susie McKernan; Eglantine, Lena Brennan; Myrtle, Sarah Shannon; Star of Bethlehem, Mary Bolger; Lily of the Valley, Frances McCartney; Heartsease, Rosetta Montgomery; Heliotrope, Frances Flynn.

The wreath of flowers was presented to the Blessed Mother by Frances Tobin.

Incense, Alice Handyside.
Lamp, Josephine Finnell.
Immaculate Conception, Kate Degnan.

Forest Fires Raged.

A great amount of damage was done over this section of Pennsylvania last week by forest fires. Thursday Reynoldsville was surrounded by fires and in the afternoon the air was full of wood smoke. There was a strong wind blowing all day. It looked for a time Thursday afternoon as if the fire on the hill back of West Reynoldsville would swoop down upon the town and do great damage, but the wind changed and drove the fire back over the hill.

At Hopkins mill the fire crept down to the creek bank on opposite side of mill, but no serious damage was done at Hopkins, although one dwelling house was on fire and a number of small fires started in the lumber yard, but men with buckets were stationed through the lumber yard and prevented the fires getting a start. The little village was covered with dense volumes of smoke. A number of men from this place went down to Hopkins to assist in saving property.

The fire swept over sixty acres of young timber owned by William Dougherty and fifty acres owned by John Dougherty in Paradise. William Dougherty places his loss at $1,000. John Dougherty's tract was not so badly damaged. Mrs. John North's barn was burned, Henderson Uplinger's house and his mother's house, near Panie, were both burned.

Popular Resorts.

The management of the Wishaw Park Pavilion wishes to inform the patrons of this popular resort that beginning on Monday, May 11, 1903, the series of dances now being given by the management will be held weekly on successive Mondays, the balance of the week we will reserve for social dances, clubs or parties.

In this connection we would state that having taken over the management of the Mitchell Park Pavilion, located on Traction line near Punxsutawney, we extend a general invitation to our Reynoldsville, Wishaw and Eleonora friends to favor us with their patronage at the series of dances to be conducted this season at this beautiful resort. The standard of excellence in music and order, and all that goes to insure a good time, will be maintained.

Parties wishing terms or open dates apply to
T. J. NEWCOMB,
Wishaw, Pa.

Lot-Henneman.

On Thursday, April 30, 1903, at 11:30 a. m., a very pretty wedding took place at the residence of Mr. Henry Henneman, near Big Run. The contracting parties were S. F. Lot, of Troutville, and Miss Cecelia Henneman. Rev. S. Charles Stover, of Troutville, officiated upon this occasion. W. F. Buchelt, of Sykesville, and Miss Florence London, of Big Run, attended them. More than fifty guests witnessed the ceremony. The climax was reached when the guests went into the dining room, and none were sent away empty.
