Stones are "Alive."
The most curious specimens of vegetable or plant life in existence are the so-called "living stones" of the Falkland Islands. These islands are among the most cheerless spots in the world, being constantly subjected to a strong polar wind. In such a climate it is impossible for trees to grow erect, as they do in other countries, but nature has made amends by furnishing a supply of wood in the most curious shape imaginable. The visitor to the Falkland Islands sees scattered here and there singular shaped blocks of what appears to be weather beaten and moss covered boulders, in various sizes. Attempt to turn one of these "boulders" over and you will meet with a surprise, because the stone is actually anchored by roots of great strength; in fact, you will find that you are fooling with one of the native trees. No other country in the world has such a peculiar "forest" growth, and it is said to be next to impossible to work the odd shaped blocks into fuel, because the wood is perfectly devoid of "grain," and appears to be a twisted mass of woody fibres.

Agriculture in Northwest Canada.
The Canadian government has issued a census bulletin, which gives statistics as to agriculture in Alberta, Assiniboia and Saskatchewan, which united compose the Northwest territories. The total area of these territories is 190,963,117 acres, and only 6,559,964 acres are occupied as farms. Of this area, 75.99 percent is unimproved. Field crops, exclusive of hay, occupy 53 percent of the improved land, but only a fair beginning has been made with fruit trees and vegetables. The area of land in wheat, oats, barley, rye, corn, peas, potatoes and other field crops in 1891 was 194,773 acres. The increase at the end of the last decade was 694,078 acres, or 333 percent. The production of homemade butter is nearly twice as much as ten years ago, and in the interval 10 factories have been put in operation.

DEFY HUNTING IN NORTHWEST.
How the Indians Secure Venison for Their Larder.

A New Yorker who lives a small fraction of the time in the city, being usually long distances away in pursuit of game, tells the methods pursued by the Indians of British Columbia in taking deer. They have evolved a system, the huntsman says, that shows practical skill and sympathy and knowledge of natural conditions. He says: "The Indians, to begin with, do not hunt deer for the pleasure of hunting. They go for deer as a housekeeper goes to market for beef. And, what's more, in British Columbia, at any rate, they don't go often. Salmon are plentiful in the rivers and easily caught. So, why chase animals when they can secure fish? It is something, as it is in New Foundland, where I went a couple of seasons ago. There the prevailing fish, as you might say, is cod. And, though there is no end to the variety of edible fish that can be taken, the natives never think of eating anything else. Cod is plentiful, and they form the habit I suppose. This is so ingrained that they call codfish "fish" simply. The genus is divided into cod and haddock of fish and well, when the British Columbia Indian makes up his mind for venison he goes at it systematically and without sentiment. A group of half a dozen or 12 men split and take either end of a valley. Then they proceed along the mountain slope from the two ends to the center. They choose the sheltered side of the valley, which the deer seek to escape the wind. Each party covers the mountain side, some near the foot, and some at the top, and others between the line, keeping abreast by an initiated owl. The deer on "winding" pursuit have a trick of leaping away down the slope, unlike goats, which go up, and thus between the two approaching parties they are swept together at the middle of the valley. A good-sized herd will thus be killed off, and the Indians are supplied for many weeks by two or three days' exertion."

The Air-and-Draft Cure.
An American-English duchess recently boasted to me of the good which had been done to her by a course which was not only new to me, but was so strange as to be almost comical. The "air-and-draft cure" is what she praised, and it was a remedy for cold hands and feet. This cure is taken at a tiny place in the Ardennes mountains—in a single building there, a sanitarium. As I understood it, this building is bereft of bedroom windows, and has great apertures in the walls instead. The patient retires to a well-bested bed, but leaves uncovered and exposed her feet and hands. Strong winds make the Ardennes their playground, and these blow through the bedrooms and over the extremities of the patients, and, in some mysterious way, their members develop a strong circulation and are presently able to resist cold, and to guarantee to themselves uninterrupted warmth for all time to come.—Cosmopolitan.

Slippers Made of Paper.
Some of the European hotels are introducing a novelty by furnishing each guest on his arrival with a pair of paper slippers, and the plan is expected to contribute largely toward the cleanliness of the hostilities. The slippers are cheap. They are made wholly of paper, according to the Denver Free Press. The soles are of cardboard and the rest is made of white or brown paper, stitched with heavy cotton to prevent tearing. There are various qualities. The most expensive is made of an extra good quality of white paper. The cheapest is made of common brown straw paper. These paper slippers are so cheap that new ones can be furnished to each guest. An attempt is being made also to introduce them in hospitals and public institutions, as they would add much to cleanliness and form another preventive of contagion, since each pair could be thrown away or destroyed as soon as the wearer has done with them.

The Northern of France Railway Company, it is stated, has decided to install wireless telegraphy on its Dover-Calais cross-channel steamships.

Tired Out
"I was very poorly and could hardly get about the house, and tired out all the time. Then I tried Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and it only took two bottles to make me feel perfectly well."—Mrs. N. S. Swinney, Princeton, Mo.

Tired when you go to bed, tired when you get up, tired all the time. Why? Your blood is impure, that's the reason. You are living on the border line of nerve exhaustion. Take Ayer's Sarsaparilla and be quickly cured.

Ask your doctor what he thinks of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. He knows all about this grand old family medicine. Follow his advice and you will be satisfied.

DOAN'S CHANGE DOUBT TO GLAD SURPRISE

EVERETT, MASS.—I received the sample of Doan's Pills and they stopped all my trouble of pain in the back, from which I have suffered for two years. I am a sole-leather cutter, and being on my feet and lifting heavy dies all day, appreciate the help Doan's Pills have given me. I feel like a new man.—Geo. A. BURGESS, 168 Belmont Street.

St. LOUIS, Mo.—Received sample, and on my first bottle from the druggist—they helped me wonderfully. I had a feeling of wanting to urinate all the time, and trouble in passing, burning and itching. That is all gone now, and I feel thankful.—E. K. STEVENSON, 5551 Easton Ave.

ASPEN, COLO., April 10, 1903.—Doan's Kidney Pills accomplished the desired result in my case—relief came the second day after I commenced taking them. I was troubled with retention and dribbling of the urine. Now it is natural and free as ever in my life.—D. L. STAFFORD.

Aching backs are eased. Hip, back, and loin pains, limb swellings and dropsy signs vanish. They correct urine with brick dust sediment, high colored, pain in passing, dribbling, frequency, bed wetting. Doan's Kidney Pills remove calcium and gravel. Relieve heart palpitation, sleeplessness, dizziness, headache, nervousness.

BURLINGTON JUNCTION, Mo.—I received sample of Doan's Pills and they are all that is claimed, they relieved a pain in my back, and did all that was represented.—C. C. RAY, R. F. D. No. 1.

TAYLORVILLE, Miss.—No man can tell the good of Doan's Kidney Pills until he tries them for a week back. I tried everything and got no relief until I used Doan's Pills.—J. N. LEWIS.

WEST BRANCH, Mich., April 11th.—Many thanks for the sample of Doan's Kidney Pills. We had tried many remedies with little benefit, but found Doan's act promptly, and his case, which was an unusual desire to urinate—had to get up five and six times of a night. I think Diabetes was well under way, the feet and ankles swelled. There was an intense pain in the back, the head of which would feel like putting one's hand up to a lamp chimney. I have used the free trial and two full boxes of Doan's Pills with the satisfaction of feeling that I am cured. They are the remedy par excellence.—B. F. BALLARD.

THE EMPEROR OF ETHIOPIA.
That is Menelik's Title, and He is a Descendant of Solomon.

And who is the Emperor of Ethiopia? Those who happen to know may consider it an absurdly easy question to answer. But such is the ignorance of things most necessary to know in which our people are sunk, that only a few are aware that Menelik II. of Abyssinia has borne that title since 1889. He used to be called the negus, his full title being negus negasti, meaning king of kings. The Abyssinian monarch used to be a mere King of Choa. But now he rules the united kingdoms of Choa, Godjima, Djimma, Kaffa and Watamo, with some other provinces. Consequently he is an emperor.

Ancient blood is expected in the emperor, and it is remarkable that he of Abyssinia, the most obscure of the imperial band, is of the oldest stock of all. At least, that is his claim. Allu, his father, came of the old royal family of Ethiopia that traced its descent to Menelik I. son of Solomon and the Queen of Sheba. Allu was eldest son of a great chief named Sella-Sellasse, under whom the kingdom of Choa attained to its highest pitch of power. Now Sella-Sellasse's own name had formerly been Menelik, but he had been warned by a monk to change it, otherwise he would suffer great misfortune. He should, however, said the monk, call the son of his first born by the name of Menelik, and the child so christened would one day be the conqueror of all Ethiopia and the greatest of her rulers since the days of Menelik I. son of Solomon. As soon, therefore, as the grandson was born he was named Menelik. The really curious thing about this story is that it was certainly told and related by an Italian traveler some years before Menelik "conquered Ethiopia" and consolidated his realm.—London News.

France and the Peanut.
Can it be that the hot roasted peanut is destined to be to France what the baked bean is to Boston? Strange things have been unearthed by the State Department, but none stranger than that the Yankee's pet fruit is rapidly becoming the Frenchman's perpetual delight.

The American "goober" has already stormed the French vaudeville theatres and opera houses, and the latest advances declare that it is successfully holding the fort against all comers. The floors of popular restaurants are carpeted with the shells, and the walks in the public grounds are speckled with the shucks.

Marseilles alone consumed 10,000 bags of the American dainty and loudly called for more. The merry note of the roaster's whistle is heard on the street corner, and every day is circus day over there.

It seems, however, that a plebeian product from Africa is having the audacity to question America's supremacy as the peanut country of the world. It is cheap, this African peanut, and on that score it appeals to a frugal and indiscriminating public.

But cultivated taste declares unreservedly for the American nut, regardless of expense. Score another triumph for our glorious institutions!—New York News.

The Penny Sit-Up.
We are ahead of London in some things, far behind in others. A young artist, who styles himself a "nature student," made a study of the slums of London while abroad recently and spent a night in what is known as the "Penny Sit-Up." His description is vividly pathetic. This institution is for men only. It consists mainly of a large shed, with rows after rows of benches having high backs. The inmates pay a penny each, for which sum they have the privilege of sitting up all night and sleeping with their heads resting on their folded arms, which are supported in turn by the backs of the benches in front of them. At midnight the place is crowded almost to suffocation. Each sitter is allowed sixteen inches of bench. It must indeed be horrible to sleep in that posture night after night. I do not see how one could obtain any actual rest or relaxation. As a matter of fact, there can be no rest without relaxation. Many persons have a heart affection that would surely kill them if they slept in an upright position, while others suffer from shortness of breath whenever they lie down. It is a queer old humanity.—New York Press.

Found Him Out.
"Mind, I was in a strange town, dealing with a strange man, and I tried not to act strange, and still the fellow found me out," said the newly married man. "My intended wife and I had a sentiment about spending our wedding night in our own home. The honeymoon trip was not to begin till the following morning. That required laying in a stock of provisions for breakfast. "On the morning of the wedding day I called at the nearest grocery store and ordered a supply. There was butter and salt and eggs and sugar and—well, everybody knows the string! Understand, I did everything a bridegroom is not expected to do to throw the fellow off the track. I order things offhand, not from a fool slip of paper, but from memory. I talked to the pretty cashier and ate an apple out of a barrel as if I had been born in the place, like the store cat. Everything conceivable I did and thought I had the grocer completely fooled when, on handing me the packages, he said: "Well, sir, I hope you'll give us your trade when you get settled."—New York Times.

Mosquito War in Washington.
The Marine Hospital service, through General Wyman has issued circulars to all assistant surgeons on duty at ports at which fruit is received from South America and West Indian ports to guard against yellow fever being spread by mosquitoes coming in the cargoes of fruit. The local health authorities of Washington have made efforts to drain all stagnant pools of water in or near the city or so cover them with oil that the mosquito will not be able to get in or out of them. All property owners and occupants of houses will be obliged to cover or drain off all water on their premises and observe all other precautions to prevent the breeding of the pests. All physicians will be obliged to report all cases of malaria to the Health Bureau, and by this means the authorities hope to locate at once all colonies of malaria-carrying mosquitoes.

The Potato Planter.
Potato planter of to-day would make a farmer of generation ago sit up and rub his eyes. It requires that the potatoes be supplied, but will do all the rest on its own initiative. It picks the potato up and looks it over—or seems to—cuts it into halves, quarters or any desired number of parts, separates the eyes and removes the seed ends. It plants whole potatoes or parts thereof, as desired, as near together or as far apart as the judgment of the farmer on the driving part suggests. Having dropped the seed it covers it, fertilizes it, tucks it in like a child put to bed and paces off the next row with mathematical accuracy.

Railway System in Hungary.
Consul F. D. Chester reports from Budapest that there has been an extension of the railway-zone system in force on the Hungarian State railways, within which zones stop-over privileges are allowed. The supervision of the privilege is more strict than formerly, passengers being required to obtain a certificate from the conductor of the first train. American tourists, he adds, will have to be careful not to purchase in West European ticket offices old Hungarian coupons, lacking the stop-over validity of the new tickets.

Women Made Strong and Happy Mothers.
Catarrh of the Pelvic Organs is a Frequent Cause of Barrenness.

Pe-ru-na Eradicates Catarrh From the System.

TO the woman of ancient Israel not to become a mother was regarded as the greatest of earthly calamities. To become a mother—more especially the mother of a strong, healthy boy—was the height of glory for the faithful woman of the good old Bible days. Even now, when maternity is not esteemed as of yore, the mother of healthy children is an object of admiration, and sometimes envy, by her neighbors. As compared with ancient peoples, the average American woman has a low appreciation of motherhood. There is, however, a great many exceptions to this statement.

The accompanying letters from grateful women who have been made strong, healthy and happy mothers need no added words of praise to make them convincing. Catarrh had weakened and impaired their entire systems. Peruna made them sound and well.

Mrs. E. M. Griffith, Arco, Ida., writes: "Your medicine did me a wonderful amount of good. It cured me of barrenness. I am 30 years old and never had any children; but since beginning your medicine I gave birth to a 10-pound baby."

A YOUNG MOTHER'S LETTER.
Mrs. W. McRoberts, writes to Dr. Hartman from Delano, Miss., the following:
Delano, Miss.

Doctor S. B. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio:
Dear Sir:—I feel perfectly well of catarrh. I did as you directed me to and took Peruna and Manalin. The third of March I gave birth to a 10-pound baby girl and we are both well and happy. I am very thankful to you, and Peruna saved my life. I recommend it to everyone and can't praise it enough.

"I send you my own and my baby's picture. She is so sweet and good,—she is a Peruna baby. I have such good health now. I do all my housework and take care of my baby, and feel so good.

"There are three or four of my neighbors using Peruna now, since it did me so much good. They were just run down, and they think it is fine. It is so good to give strength."—Mrs. W. McRoberts.

girl. She is now six months old and weighs 25 pounds. My friends were all surprised, some would not believe it until they came to see me.

"My husband says he never saw such a change in any one as there was in me after I had taken three or four bottles of Peruna. I am stronger than I have been since I was quite young. God bless you and your medicine forever. I cannot tell you all. My letter is too long already; but I will say Peruna cured me. I never saw or heard of anything half so good. I can never thank you enough for your kindness. In cases of a gripe it works like a charm. I cured my baby when other medicines failed. He was real bad with a gripe."—Mrs. L. M. Griffith.

Mrs. E. E. Thomas, Alpha, Mo., writes: "I have used your Peruna and Manalin. I had been doctoring for several years, but kept getting worse. One day a neighbor woman brought me your book, the 'ills of life,' and wanted me to take your medicine. I told her that I had given up all hope of ever getting well. I had tried so much medicine. My neighbors thought I was nearly dead with consumption. "Finally I concluded that I would make a last trial. So my husband got me a bottle of Peruna and Manalin. I commenced taking them according to directions. That was two years ago. A year ago last November I gave birth to a 10-pound baby boy, who is well and hearty; and I am doing my own housework. I can never give Peruna too great praise. I think it is the best medicine I ever heard of."—Mrs. E. E. Thomas.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

MACHINE UMBRELLA VENDOR.
Automatic Stands Being Placed in Public Halls in England.

There has been shown recently an automatic machine for supplying umbrellas. It is described as a fan-shaped device, with glass front, so that the purchaser can make his selection of the contents. Before doing so, however, it will be necessary to drop two shillings in the slot, and thereby gain access to the compartment, in which his prospective purchase stands. In case the machine fails to respond to the clink of silver, as frequently happens, says the London Engineer, with the "penny-in-the-slot" automatics, there is likely to be trouble.

A New El Dorado.
If experience shall confirm the reports made by experts of international reputation concerning the richness of a new gold-bearing district in Alaska, we are more likely to experience a glut than a scarcity of the yellow metal for some time to come. The more confidence is attached to the reports because the public has not been invited to take part in the exploitation of the placer-mines to which we refer, as it is said that they have been purchased by an Anglo-American syndicate, in which the Rothschilds are represented. If it be true that over a very extensive area the gravel yields on an average two dollars in gold to the cubic yard, there is nothing extravagant in the estimate that something like an annual output of $50,000,000 may be expected for 10 years to come. As the cost of extracting the gold from the gravel is computed at only 60 cents per cubic yard, the proportion of profit should be large. Nor is this the only quarter from which large additions to the annual flow of gold from the Klondike and the South African Rand may be looked for. Extensive deposits of gold are known to exist in Mexico, and it is only a question of time when the mining energies of that country, hitherto concentrated upon silver, will be devoted to an exhaustive search for the yellow metal. The more the world's stock of gold is increased the more desperate, of course, appear the prospects of bimetalism.

Swedish Marriage Customs.
The Scandinavian bridegroom presents to his betrothed a prayerbook and many other gifts, which usually include a goose. She, in turn, gives him, especially in Sweden, a shirt, and this he invariably wears on his wedding day. Afterward he puts it away, and in no circumstances will he wear it again while alive. But he wears it in his grave, and there are Swedes who earnestly believe not only in the resurrection of the body, but in the veritable resurrection of the betrothal shirts of such husbands as have never broken any of their marriage vows. The Swedish widower must destroy on the eve of his second marriage the bridal shirt his first wife gave him.

A Valuable Discovery.
An optical screen used in Tyndall's experiments was transparent only to the heat rays of the spectrum cutting out ultra-violet as well as all visible rays. For a third of a century physicists have been seeking a similar screen that would pass only ultra-violet rays, cutting off all others. This discovery—stated to be of great scientific value—has been made at last by Prof. R. W. Wood, who has been aware for some time that nitroso-dimethyl-aniline would exclude all rays except the ultra-violet and some red and violet, but has only succeeded in obtaining the desired effect by combining this substance with cobalt glass. A remarkable peculiarity of the chemical named is that it gives a spectrum 20 times as broad as that yielded by ordinary quartz.

So says Mrs. Josie Irwin, of 325 So. College St., Nashville, Tenn., of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Never in the history of medicine has the demand for one particular remedy for female diseases equalled that attained by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and never during the lifetime of this wonderful medicine has the demand for it been so great as it is to-day.

From the Atlantic to the Pacific, and throughout the length and breadth of this great continent come the glad tidings of woman's sufferings relieved by it, and thousands upon thousands of letters are pouring in from grateful women saying that it will and positively does cure the worst forms of female complaints.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all women who are puzzled about their health to write her at Lynn, Mass., for advice. Such correspondence is seen by women only, and no charge is made.

An Ideal Woman's Medicine.

So says Mrs. Josie Irwin, of 325 So. College St., Nashville, Tenn., of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Never in the history of medicine has the demand for one particular remedy for female diseases equalled that attained by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and never during the lifetime of this wonderful medicine has the demand for it been so great as it is to-day.

From the Atlantic to the Pacific, and throughout the length and breadth of this great continent come the glad tidings of woman's sufferings relieved by it, and thousands upon thousands of letters are pouring in from grateful women saying that it will and positively does cure the worst forms of female complaints.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all women who are puzzled about their health to write her at Lynn, Mass., for advice. Such correspondence is seen by women only, and no charge is made.
