Mr. Harris says : "I have spent considerable time in selecting a company to meet my tastes. Both in the dramatic and vaudeville lines the plays are all strong, and the specialties of a very high class." Mr. Harris, who has been in the show business several years and is a good comedian himself, is a good judge of a threatical company, and when he states that he has a good company the people can rely on his statement.

Alumni Officers.

At a business meeting of the alumn of the Reynoldsville high school last Thursday afternoon the following officers were elected for the ensuing year ; President, T. F. Nolan, 203; vice-president, Miss Margaret Butler ; secretary, Miss Nellie Dougherty, '98; treasurer, things of a business nature a motion was passed providing for the appoint ment of a committee consisting of a representative from each class for the pur pose of assisting in decorating the halls of the public school building with suitable and appropriate engravings. Recognizing the efficient labors of the Mothers' Club in behalf of the welfare of the schools, a motion was passed extending to that association a vote of thanks for the valuable assistance and encouragement which its members have given to the schools during the year.

DECORATION DAY.

Arrangements are being Made for Appro-priate Observation of the Day.

Two weeks from pext Saturday, May 0, will be Decoration Day and arrange nents are being made for appropriate bservation of the day with parade and coration of soldiers' graves in the foresoon and speeches in Frank's Park in the afternoon. The Sons of Veterans have charge of the arrangement of program for the day. All the Sunday schools and secret orders of Reynoldsville will be invited to take part in the parade. The Keystone band will be out in the forenoon, afternoon and evening, The drum corps will also furnish music that day. Good speakers will be engaged for the program in the park in the afternoon. The Woman's Relief Corps will serve ice cream in the park. Full program and particulars will be published in THE STAR either next reek or following week. Memorial Sunday services, May 24, will be held in the Baptist church and Dr. A. J. Meek, pastor of the church, will preach the Memorial sermon. The old soldiers, Sons of Veterans and members of Woman's Relief Corps will attend this service in a body. Will meet at lodge room at 10.00 a. m. All old soldiers are invited to meet in the Post coom and attend this service.

For several years the citizens of Reynoldsville have been apparently indifferent about taking any active part in observing Decoration Day, but we should not grow careless about honoring the brave men who made such great sacrifices and endured untold bardship that Old Glory might float o'er a land of the free. Every person, so far as possible, should help the old veterans and Sons of Veterans observe Decoration Day in befitting manner.

Mrs. Gray Burned Monday.

Mrs. Mary Susanna Gray died at Hopcips at 11 a. m., on Saturday, May 9th, 1903, after being confined to bed over three weeks with stomach and liver trouble. Deceased was born March 27, 1828, making her 75 years, 1 month and 12 days old at time of death. W. Mobney, of Rathmel, George Johnston, of Pleasant Valley, Mrs. Anna Hendricks and Mrs. E. L. Evans, of Reynoldsville.

False Economy. Burgess Simmons fined a man Satur lay for throwing banana skins on the sidewalk. The man said he did not know there was an ordinance forbidding the throwing of skins on sidewalks. His Honor inquired if he did not read a town paper and he said, "no." This is a case, like many others, where it is not economy to get along without a town paper. Every family should have a local paper. THE STAR gives all the news all the time and is only $1.00 per Jarvie Williams Was the Victim—Had to Take Strychnine Pills.

Thursday, May 7th, was Jarvis Willams' birthday and his wife planned a birthday surprise party which worked out se successfully that the surprise was so great to Mr. Williams that it might have proven a serious affair, as it effected his heart. There was a doctor in the crowd and he gave Jarvis strychnine pills, and although he kept up during the party and enjoyed it, yet he was not in a condition to come down town to his work on Friday. Only men were invited to attend the party and while Jarvis was attending a meeting of the Walking Club Friday evening they assembled in his house. At nine o'clock Jarvis started home, stopping at home of his father-in-law, William Barclay, for his wife and son, who were waiting for him, and when Jarvis stepped into his home the lights were sudenly turned on and he was amazed to see his house filled with men. All preparations for the party were made at the home of Mrs. Williams' parents and Jarvis was kept entirely ignorant of what was going on, although he had on several occasions bragged that they could never give him a surprise party Jarvis' son, Clifton, was as much surprised as his father about the affair. It was a real pleasant surprise party. There was an abundance of good things to eat. James Butler, H. Ward Eason, guitar players, John Welsh, violin, and Charles S. Kirchartz, mouth-organ. musicians of local reputation, entertained the jolly party of gentlemen with a few fine selections. Various games were played

Mr. Williams received several handsome and valuable presents, consisting of an expensive leather covered golden oak rocking chair, a golden oak book case and writing desk combined, a willow foot stool, gold ring an I gold necktie pin.

Death of Mrs. Weary. Mrs. Henrietta Weary died at the Weary homestead, near Chestnut Grove, Washington township, Wednesday, May 6, 1903, after a long sickness. She was born in the eastern part of Pennsylvania Nov. 1, 1824, making her 78 years, 6 months and 5 days old at time of death. She and her husband immigrated to this section of the country about a half century ago to encounter the hardships of torest life Mrs. Weary was well known to many o the older citizens of Reynoldsville, as she made frequent trips into town up until a few years ago. She was a member of the Lutheran church and died in the hope of a blessed immortality in the kingdom of Christ. Funeral service was held in the Lutheran church at Emerickville at 10.30 a. m. Friday, conducted by Rev. J. H. Myers of Reynoldsville, and interment was made in Emerickville cemetery.

The deceased is survived by five sons and one daughter, as follows: Joseph Weary, Mrs. Susanna Boyer, Nathan, John, David and Emanuel Weary, all of whom live in Washington township except John and David, who live in Old Virginia.

Died at Adrian Hospital.

William Dinkubn, who resided nea-Rathmel, died at the Adrian Hospital at 2.00 p. m. Wednesday, May 6th, 1903. An autopsy was held on the body Thursday afternoon. HIGH SCHOOL COMMENCEMENT.

of Seven Graduated-Orations and

The seventh annual comm xercises of the Reynoldsville High chool were held in Assembly ball last Wednesday evening, May 6, 1903. There vere seven graduates, three young men and four young ladies. For the first time in the history of our schools the graduates appeared on the platform wearing caps and gowns. The gowns hid the pretty dresses the young ladles had on. Assembly hall was well filled and the marked attention given by one and all was evidence of a general interest on the part of the audience. The essays and orations were highly commendable and were presented in a pleasing manner, showing ease and grace that could only be acquired through skilled and able training. The graduates one and all acquitted themselves in a manner very creditable to them selves, their instructors and the Reyn oldsville High School. The young people did so remarkably well that they were congratulated and highly praised by many friends after the comnencement exercises were over. A vocal solo by Miss Golda Belle King, violin solo by Prof. Will L. Strauss and several selections by the orchestra interspersed the literary productions of the graduates. The stage was nicely decorated with flowers and the class colorspurple and gold. Rev. Perry A. Reno. pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, presented the diplomas. The program for commencement was as follows : PROGRAMME.

Big and Better Ore Uncovered.

J. H. Cook was exhibiting today a big chunk of bright new zinc ore taken from a new drift in the Reynoldsville mine two and a half miles south of Recds. This rich stuff has just been struck and is better and there is more of it than ever. Cook is sure there is a long life ahead of this mine. Twentyone men are employed at this mine, a big mill is in operation, and the 200 foot level is being worked. Three hundred tons of ore have recently been marketed at Carthage, and 500 more tons are in the bins with thousands still in sight in the ground .- Carthage (Mo.)
