

Indian Bill's Grand Parade.

Indian Bill's Grand Parade will be one of the most striking and dramatic pageants ever witnessed by the public in the streets of any city. There will be Indians in all their native picturesqueness and grandeur: Bucks, chiefs, squaws, pappooses, ponies; in fact, everything belonging to the great tribes represented will march through the streets just as they do on the plains. Trappers, cowboys, vaqueros, scouts, ranchmen, pioneers, and their animals, outfits and appurtenances will pass in review before the people. This show, though picturesque as it can be, because of its almost kaleidoscopic changes of costumes, is wholly unlike a circus. It is, in fact, as different from a circus as could be imagined, as its parade, which will begin daily at 10.30, will show most eloquently. Indian Bill's Grand Parade is a show in itself, furnished gratuitously to the public daily. Will exhibit at Reynoldsville on Tuesday, May 26.
