shaving in Egypt.
The sacred rite of shaving of the beard is found in Genesis XII, 14, where we read that Joseph on being summoned before the king shaved himself. There are several references as to shaving in Leviticus, and the practice is alluded to in many other parts of the Bible. However, Egypt is the only country mentioned in the Bible where shaving was practiced. In all other countries at that time such an act would have been considered ignominious. Herodotus mentions that the Egyptians allowed their beards to grow when they were in mourning. So particular were they as to shaving at all other times that to have neglected it was to make oneself the butt of coarse and ridiculous jokes.

Even in this day and age when the Egyptian wants to convey the idea of a man of low condition and slovenly habits he always pictures to you a man with a full beard. This notion is very ancient, a fact attested by works of art found in burial monuments dating back thousands of years.

After a man passes fifty he finds that his hopes have to be jacked up and repeated twice as often as ten years before. —Athens Globe.

Here the Credit.
"There is one thing I like about your husband—he never hurries you when getting ready to go out with him."
"Very little credit is due to him for that, my dear. Whenever I see that I am not likely to be ready in time I simply hide his hat or his gloves and let him hunt for them up and down until I have finished dressing."
Cutting.
Very tart was Douglas Jerrold's retort to a would be wit who, having fired off all his stale jokes with no effect, exclaimed:
"Why, you never laugh when I say a good thing!"
"Don't!" said Jerrold. "Only try me with one!"

Not Too Much So.
Uncle Reuben says: "I like a conscientious man, but I like him as I like him. In other words, I don't want him so conscientious as to admit that he quarrels with his wife, cuffs his children or starves his dawg to carry out sartin principles."—Detroit Free Press.

The lighter the individual the easier he will find it to float in the social swim.—Chicago News.

The greatest of faults, I should say, is to be conscious of none.—Carlyle.

City Water Pressure.
No matter where you live, a combination of a well, a pump and a KEWANEE AIR PRESSURE TANK will give you water service equal to that of city water works. The pump is used to pump water into the tank, and may be operated by hand, by windmill, by a gasoline engine or by any other power. The tank is a specially constructed air tight steel tank of whatever size may be best suited to your requirements. It is generally placed in the basement of the house and delivers water by the force of compressed air. You need no long carry buckets of water up and down stairs unless you enjoy it. With the air-pressure system you can go to any one of a dozen points in your house or grounds, turn a faucet and have all the water you want. You can provide your country home with the greatest of city luxuries—a modern bathroom. Most important of all you can protect your home and family from fire. The average pressure in the tank is forty pounds, which is sufficient to throw a strong stream over the top of a two-story building. Those who have stood at helplessness in the presence of fire in the country will appreciate what this means.

A Kewanee Air Pressure Tank costs less than an elevated tank and tower and lasts about five times as long. It does not freeze in winter nor deliver warm, stagnant water in summer. It never blows over, and it requires no painting or repairs. The compressed air passing through the water purifies it and renders it healthful and sparkling. This is the modern system of water supply. It gives satisfaction. Over two thousand outfits are in use in all parts of the country, under all sorts of conditions. Write us about your requirements. R. Dorothy Dodd

"The Style of a 'Dorothy Dodd'"

INEXPENSIVE

The woman whose capacity for style exceeds her ability in dollars will find that the style of a "Dorothy Dodd" shoe gives her foot all the distinction of a high-priced custom measured shoe. The "Style of a 'Dorothy Dodd'" has become proverbial. It is a shoe that preserves the natural outline of the foot yet actually makes it look a full size smaller. No other shoe is designed like it. When your foot is tired DON'T put on a slipper. Put on a "Dorothy Dodd." It hugs the foot around the instep and rests every other part of it. It saves fifty per cent of foot fatigue. Sincerely yours, Oxford $2.50, Boots $3.00. Fast color eyelets used exclusively.
