Trusses Fitted Perfectly

Manufacturers of Trusses can say what they will, we know that the same make of truss does not fit all persons equally well. Different persons and different cases of Hernia call for different kinds of trusses. We have all kinds and we fit every person perfectly. That is why our trusses have such a reputation for ease and comfort. It is because we pick the right truss for each particular case and then adjust until the fit is perfect. Come in and talk the matter over with us. We guarantee satisfaction on every truss or money refunded.

At 7.00 p. m. last evening, July 21st, 1903, Miss Mary Rebecca Patton, of Prescottville, and James Garfield Pentz, of Reynoldsville, were married at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. E. C. Boyle, in Punxsutawney, in the presence of a half hundred friends and relatives. Rev. Perry A. Reno, pastor of the Reynoldsville Methodist Episcopal church, performed the ceremony. The bride was dressed in white voile. She looked lovely. Miss Susie Schultze, of Reynoldsville, was bride's maid. She was dressed in pink tissue over pink silk. Prof. G. W. Lenkerd, of this place, cousin of groom, was groomsmen. Grace and Gertrude Stoke, of Reynoldsville, were the flower girls. Miss Miller played the wedding march. The parlor was tastefully decorated with ferns and smilax. It was an unusually pretty wedding. After hearty and warm congratulations an elegant wedding dinner was served. The bride's table was beautifully decorated with green and pink ribbon, smilax and white roses.
This young couple are well known in Reynoldsville. The bride is the handsome, refined and well educated daughter of Mrs. Mary Patton, of Prescottville. She is a graduate of the Indiana Normal and Grove City College, and was one of the most successful teachers in the schools of Reynoldsville several terms.
James G. Pentz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pentz, is one of our bright and promising young men. He graduated recently in the Allegheny College at Meadville, Pa., with high honors. He is a young man of excellent qualities.
The wedding presents were handsome, valuable and useful, consisting of china, silverware, linens, rugs, &c.
The following Reynoldsville people attended the wedding: Rev. Reno and wife, Dr. J. H. Murray, Misses Anna and Olevia Murray, Mrs. H. J. Pentz and daughter, Miss Mary, Benjamin Haugh and wife, G. W. Stoke and wife, Mrs. C. A. Stephenson, Prof. G. W. Lenkerd, Misses Olive Reynolds, Edna Meyers, Susie Schultze, Olie Ross, Elsie Ross, Gertrude Stoke, Grace Stoke.

DIED AT HOSPITAL.
Jennie McEntire Died Sunday in Allegheny—Buried Yesterday Afternoon.
Miss Jennie P. McEntire, daughter of Rev. J. C. McEntire, of this place, died in the St. John's Hospital in Allegheny City at 11.00 a. m., Sunday, July 19, 1903. Her death was caused by a stroke of paralysis received July 11th, superinduced by being poisoned eating the latter part of June, mention of which was made in THE STAR last week. The body was brought to Reynoldsville on noon train Monday and funeral service was held at home of Rev. McEntire at 2.00 p. m. yesterday, conducted by Rev. Perry A. Reno, pastor of the Reynoldsville M. E. church. Interment was made in Reynoldsville cemetery.
Jennie McEntire was born at Hagerty, Jefferson County, Pa., December 2, 1860, making her 42 years, 7 months and 17 days old at time of death. Jennie was engaged in the dress making business in Reynoldsville a number of years and was well known to many of our townspeople. On account of her geniality and pleasant disposition she had numerous friends here who were sorry to learn of her death.
Out of town people who attended the funeral were as follows: Mrs. Edward Hassey, sister deceased, Mrs. Henry Goodwin, of East Liverpool, Ohio, H. F. Betch, of Pittsburgh, Mrs. John Hartman, of Allegheny City, Mrs. John Ross and Mrs. John Lockroy, of Homestead, W. W. McEntire and wife, of Oakland, Jasper McEntire and wife, of Helvetia.

Fourth Street Paving.
The readers of THE STAR know that town council passed an ordinance a couple of months ago for paving of Fourth street from Grant street to Deitz alley and that the contract for the paving was let to C. B. Hastings, of Brookville, but the contract for paving was held up by some person or persons. At a special meeting of town council last evening another ordinance was passed authorizing the burgess and town clerk to let the contract for paving Fourth street.

PRETTY CHURCH WEDDING.
A Large and Fashionable Audience Attended Milliren-Glenn Nuptials.
Last week mention was made in THE STAR that Glenn A. Milliren, of Kane, one of the proprietors of Millirens large store in Reynoldsville, would be married on the evening of July 15th, and from the Troy (N. Y.) Times of July 16, we clipped the following:
"The First Baptist Church of Hoosick Falls was the scene of a pretty wedding last evening. A large and fashionable audience was present to witness the nuptials of Susan Amelia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Glenn, and Glenn Alvin Milliren of Kane, Penn. The officiating clergyman was Rev. W. E. Webster. The edifice was beautified with tasteful decorations. On the outer edge of the pulpit there was a row of hemlock trees, and from the floor to the platform there was a bank of ferns, palms and daisies. To every other pew was secured a bunch of ferns and daisies. At 7 o'clock to the strain of Lohengrin's wedding march, Clyde E. Millington, organist of the Fifth Avenue Baptist Church, Troy, at the organ, the bridal party appeared, preceded by the ushers, Vincent R. Boynton, Chicago, Ill.; Kenneth W. Buell, Eagle Bridge; Edmond L. Worden and Harold F. Rising, of Hoosick Falls, after whom came the maid of honor, Miss Imogene Leuffer, of Kane, Penn., a cousin of the bride, attired in a robe of point de esprit over pink silk, trimmings of medallions of lace and cream satin ribbon, insertions on skirt corresponding with medallions. She carried a bouquet of pink roses, tied with wide satin ribbon. Following were the flower girls, cousins of the bride, Camilla and Harriet Rising, the former dressed in blue silk and the latter in white silk. They carried baskets of carnations and roses. Then appeared the bride, cynosure of all eyes, leaning on the arm of her father. She was beautiful in a robe of embroidered Brussels net over white satin, trimmings of white satin ribbon and pearls, and wearing a veil reaching to the floor in the back and three-quarters length in front, which was secured to the hair with ropes of pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses and sweet peas. At the altar the party was met by the bridegroom and the best man, J. Gaylord Glenn, a brother of the bride. The bride was given away by her father. A ring was used in the ceremony. As the bridal party departed from the church the organ gave forth Mendelssohn's wedding march. A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents, 23 River Street, which was attended only by relatives and immediate friends. The home was prettily decorated with ferns, palms, potted plants, pink and white carnations. A bay window, in which stood the bridal party while receiving their friends, was banked with greens and flowers. A collation was served. Mr. and Mrs. Milliren were recipients of numerous beautiful and valuable presents. The bridal couple left on an evening train to spend several weeks at Cape May, N. J., after which they will reside in Kane. The groom is an esteemed and prominent merchant of Kane, Penn. The bride possesses a pleasing personality and is accomplished."

Sylvester Brennan Dead.
At 1.00 p. m. yesterday, July 21, 1903, Sylvester Brennan died at his home in West Reynoldsville. His death was caused by choleraemia, or jaundice. He had been sick almost one year. Mr. Brennan was born in County Cork, Ireland, April 15, 1839, making him 64 years, 3 months and 6 days old. Came to America with his parents when 9 years old. He was married to Magdalena Kreig at St. Marys, Pa., May 28, 1867. Unto them eleven children were born, five sons and six daughters, one of whom is dead. Mr. Brennan moved to Pannocast in 1870, where he resided until a year ago last May when he moved into a new house he had erected in West Reynoldsville. He had always been a very industrious man and had many friends. He is survived by his widow and following children: Mrs. W. C. Reed, of Troutville, John S. Brennan, of Panic, Mrs. Edgar Reed, of McGehee Mills, Sara, Etta, Sylvester E., George, Della C., Lena D., Eugene T., at home.
