laborate Preparations for an Enormous Attendance on Labor Day, flonday, September 7th.

ight and day almost for ten months past the NEW EXPOSITION man-

September 2nd, and closes on Sat-urday, October 24. figh musical possibilities have practicost in the engagement of Crea-tore, Sousa, Damrosch, the Fa-dettes and Vessella, together with a dazzling array of instrumental and vocal soloists. Eleven special attractions have been sifted with minutest care out of a heaped up collection that desired entrance, and only those selected that could offer the largest measure of amusement, entertainment and edification. Exhibits and displays are all new and novel, numbering 150 all told and representing an investment of $500,000.

mprovements and innovations might be toiled off at length, but sufficient is the statement that never before in the 14 years of the EX-POSITION'S existence have preliminaries been so exactingly worked out, nor the management been so confident of the unquali-fied, even enthusiastic, approval tate, since they have been the EXPOSITION'S most loyal supporters. For their convenience the railroads will arrange regular excursions each week at the one fare rate, with prospects of special excursions at intervals.

much for general features of the

NEW EXPOSITION'S coming sen-

son. But special object of this article is to direct attention to the fact that the EXPOSITION will be in full swing on Labor Day, Monday, September 7, with Creatore, the volcanic wonder, as musical attraction. If there were nothing else to be seen or heard in Pittsburg on Labor Day but Creatore, time and money were well expended in a trip to the great Steel City. A Western Edi-tor, who had heard bands and or-chestras galore for 20 years, and had been absolutely.

had been absolutely unmoved by their music, consented reluctantly with a friend to hear Creatore who so thrilled and stirred him that he wrote these breezy de-scriptive words:

head, he springs across the stage with the ferocity of a wounded lion. Crash! Bang! And a grand volume of sound chokes the hail from pit to dome. Then he doubles up like a question mark, and, with glaring eyes and grating teeth, with outstretched prompt-ing finger, he creeps stealthily around, the very picture of hate and malice personified. Suddenly a wild leap into the air, and with his long halr standing straight up, he lands stiff-legged, like a bucking bronco. Now he leans over the row of music stands, and smiles the smile of a lover-pleading, supplicating, entreac-ing caressing, with outstretched hands, piercing the air with his hands, piercing the air with his baton like a fencing master. Al-most to his knees, he begs, he demands, he whirls around with waving arms. He laughs, he cries, he sings, he hisses through his elenched teeth. He feels the music with every fibre. Now it is the rushing winds: now the mad plunging of galloping horses; now the booming of the surf on the bleak rocks, and now the birds singing in the treetops or the sound of angel's wings. He throws up his hands like an Aztec at prayer. A wild burst of melody and all is over. He bows and smiles, then goes behind the scenes and compa his hair.

Itendance upan a Creatore concert with its soul-stirring, nerve-twanging music, will be a Labor Day Souvenir cherishable for years to scenes and combs his hair."

he NEW EXPOSITION managers expect to greet 30,000 visitors on Labor Day, and will experience sore disappointment if of this number 15,000 are not its enthusi-astic Suburban friends.

*Creatore starts the band in a mild, entreating way. A simple uplift-ing of the arms. Then suddenly, with a wild shake of his snaggy by its Surborban clientele of re-sults achieved in their behalf Suburbanites will be accorded every consideration that reason can die-

Lightning Bolts Do Much Damage.

During the terrific rain and thunder storm which swept over this section of the country on Tuesday considerable damage was done. A crew of threshermen were at work at the barn of Roderick McDonald, near Grove Summit, when the building was struck by lightning, setting it on fire, but the men were fortunately able to subdue the fiames and save the building. After finishing work at the McDonald place the crew moved over to the barn of John H. Smith to begin operations and were just getting the machinery in readiness when a severe storm came np, during which Mr. Smith's barn was struck by lightning. Here the men were not so fortunate. G. C. Gracey, who was with the party, was knocked down by the flery fluid and momentarily stunned, and the hay in the loft, where the bolt first struck, was set on fire. The men made strenuous endeavors to save the property but the supply of water gave out and the building was completely destroyed. All the live stock and farm machinery was gotten out out the entire seasons crops, stored in the barn went up in smoke. Mr. Smith's loss will probably reach $1,000 or over, and it was only partially covered by insurance. The bolt which caused the damage came down through the hay loft, heating a bay fork which it struck red hot. One of Mr. Smith's horses was knocked down but apparently suffered no permanent injury. Mr. Gracey was quite severly shocked but felt no particular inconvenience after that evening. Considerable other damage of minor nature is reported in the wake of the storm.-Falls Creek Herald, August 28th.

Bedridden, alone and destitute. Such, in brief was the condition of an old soldier by name of J. J. Havens, Versailles, O. #### What is Life?

In the last analysis nobody knows, but we do know that it is under strict law. Abuse that law even slightly, pain results. Irregular living means derangement of the organs, resulting in Constipation, Headache or Liver trouble. Dr. King's New Life Pills quickly re-adjusts this. It's gentle, yet thorough. Only 25c at H. A. ## A WEAK STOMACH.

May Be Strengthened by Wearing a Wide Finnnel Bandage.

All who suffer from poor digestion thould wear a ten inch width of flannel bandage next the skin, pinned fairly tight round the body over the stomach. No liver or digestive pill or pepsin preparation helps the stomach twentieth part as much as his flannel prescription. A poor circulation in the stomach, causing that chilly, "miserable" feeling, is at the root of half the indigestion that mortals are heir to. That is why hot water drinking gives relief. It helps the circulation. A finnnel bandage worn day and night all the year round cures the faulty blood elrculation of the stomach; consequently it cares dyspepsia. Five bours' interval between meals, avoiding fried foods, made dishes and mixtures and observ ing three or four "Lenten meals" in every week are golden rules for good digestion. A good dinner at night is necessary for those whose pleasure or work keeps them up very late, but for ordinary folk who dine at 7 and go to bed about 10:30 only a light, wholesome repast should be taken at the end of the day, when the muscles and nerves are more or less exhausted. A "tired stomach is a weak stomach" is a golden rule to remember, yet how often one bears people say:

"I've been rushing about all day and am tired to death. I must have a big meal to make up for it." You may put the big meal into the stomach, but you cannot make the stomach digest it .-Exchange.

Killed Him In Cold Blood.

It was after dinner in the little cafe beloved by literary Bohemia and the diners at the end table were swapping stories of their most startling experiences. Each had told a thriller, and all eyes turned to the long haired poet who wrote only martial lays.

"I had a terrible experience once," he said. "The memory of it haunts me now. I inflicted the most awful fate possible to imagine upon a fellow creature. It was in Germany. I didn't know the language very well, and I suppose I must have made some blunder in addressing a flery looking chap at a hotel there. What it was I don't know, but at any rate he declared he had been insulted and demanded a duel on the spot.

'One of us,' he cried in tones of fearful wrath, 'shall never leave this room slive!"

"I knew him to be an expert swordsman. But was I afraid? No! 'So let It be,' I said. And then I rushed out of the room, locked the door behind me and left him there to die!"-New York

A Boarding House Superstition. "Speaking of bad luck," said a landlady the other day, "did you ever hear that it was bad luck to go back to i house you had once lived in? Well, it is. I heard some one say that when I was a little girl, and some way it has always remained in my mind. If any person who has lived in my house goes away and talks of coming back I always try to dissuade him. One young ffed at the idea, yet the after he came back to live with me he lost his position and did not get another until he moved away from my He would have stuck it out only I told him I would have to have my room. So he went away, and at once secured another and better position than the one he had when he first came to me."

The Best Bargain on Record. Probably never in the history of the world was a better bargain made than the purchase of the Island of Grenada, in the British West Indies. It was bought by the French from the Caribs by a solemn treaty in the middle of the seventeenth century, and the price paid was two bottles of rum. Esau's mess of pottage was a good stroke of business by comparison. The Caribs soon regretted having sold their birthright and vainly tried to get the island back by force. It is now one of Eng-land's most prosperous colonies in the West Indies, with a population of over 50,000 and a big trade

"I'm glad you're satisfied with some thing." she snapped. "Oh, I'm not. I merely meant to in form you that it is not ideal."-Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Why She Liked Him "Why do you like Harry?" asked one fair maid of another. "He kisses you most awkwardly. I've noticed." "That's just why I like blm." was the quick retort. "If he went about it in a graceful manner I would know he had been practicing before he met me."

A Saturat Weather Vane. It was an old belief that if the pre- Wonders of the served body of a halcyon or kingfisher were suspended by a thread from the celling its bill would always turn toward the quarter from whence the wind was blowing.

Thus Barabas in Marlowe's "Jew of Malta" says:

"Rut now how stands the wind? Into what quarter peeps my halcyon's

In more modern days a stuffed kingfisher has been seen hanging from the beam of a cottage celling at Botley, near Southampton, and in other places of that neighborhood, where there is a kindred belief that if a dead kingfisher is bung up by its beak its breast will turn with the ebb and flow of the tide.

Cassius M. Clay as a Fighter. General Cassius M. Clay fought many duels in his day, usually with his long bladed knife, meeting pistol or rifle equally with that trusty weapon. His physical strength was gigantic. He was accustomed to the use of weapons, and he was always cool and never lost his judgment. For example, when an adversary shot him and he supposed he was done for he inflated his lungs to the full, conscious that he would live as long as he could hold his breath; then he drew his knife and did his bloody work. That was when he killed Turner. After all, speaking musingly, reviewing his life, he confessed to a reporter when he was above eighty-four that he was opposed on principle to the duel, thinking it a savage way to settle a difficulty. "But there are some cases for which it seems to be the only remedy," be added.

A Beautiful Tonst. On a grand day in the old chivalric times, when the lady of each knightly heart was pledged by name, when it came to St. Leon's turn he lifted the sparkling cup on high and gave them this: "I drink to one," he said, "whose image never may depart, deep carved on the human heart, till memory is dead." With that he paused as if he would not breathe her name in careless mood thus lightly to another, then bent his noble head as though to give that word the reverence due and gently said, "My mother!"

She-I believe every man is the architect of his own fortune. He-Yes, but the trouble is most men spend so much time on the plans that they have none left for building. - Ex-
