Two funerals were conducted at the Paradise Reformed church on Sept. 2, 1903, by Rev. S. C. Stover. In the morning Monivet Naomi, the youngest daughter of Christian Muth, was buried. Aged 3 years.
In the afternoon of the same day Mrs. Sarah Elizabeth Reed was laid to rest, aged 30 years, 3 months and 24 days. There survive her a husband, Ira C. Reed, and six small children, two boys and four girls. This seemed a very sad funeral because a mother was taken away when she seemed to be so much needed. Mr. and Mrs. Reed lived a happy life together and were frugal and energetic. She was a consistent member of the Reformed church at Paradise up to the time of her death.

Anonymous Communication.

It is the custom of THE STAR, and all regulated newspapers, to pay no attention to communications that do have the name of the author attached to it. The name would not be published if the person writing the communication did not want it published, but the editor must have the name as a matter of good faith. Persons sending communications to this office for publication, who do not give us their names, are assured positively their communication will not be published.
