

Why is it

That Dr. Gibson has visited so long and his practice still increases? Ninety fitted in the dull month of August while others with more extensive advertising complained of little work? Answer: He has a thorough optical education, the latest methods, works intelligently, never advises glasses unless needed and guarantees his work.

What is Life?

In the last analysis nobody knows, but we do know that it is under strict law. Abuse that law even slightly, pain results. Irregular living means derangement of the organs, resulting in Constipation, Headache or Liver trouble. Dr. King's New Life Pills quickly re-adjusts this. It's gentle, yet thorough. Only 25c at H. A. Stoke's Drug Store.

Value of a Grange.

A subordinate Grange is the most practical and the most natural means of promoting all the interests of a rural community ever conceived in the history of the world, for the following reasons:

1. It contributes to the social life by frequent regular meetings in which the art of sociability is so agreeably and informally taught as to fascinate rather than repel those participating in the exercises.
2. It contributes to the high moral standard by affording convenient and agreeable society for old and young in which the highest standard of morality is maintained, thereby preventing association of its members in society of the opposite nature.
3. It contributes to the happiness of the home by the mental recreation afforded all members of the family in the various Grange gatherings attended, thereby broadening their mental vision and increasing their happiness, which is sure to be reflected in their home life.
4. It contributes to the material prosperity by its discussion of all matters of importance tending to local development, and often is instrumental in securing the establishment of industries that give added population as well as taxable property, thereby indirectly aiding every taxpayer in town.
5. It contributes to the general intelligence of the inhabitants by its frequent discussion of questions of a public nature and by the educating influence of other exercises, resulting in mental development and a more intelligent citizenship, which is an uplifting force in any town.
6. It contributes to the general welfare by dissipating neighborhood quarrels, by breaking up long-standing feuds caused by church, school, or society troubles, by promoting better roads, better schools, and better farming, by stimulating more interest in public affairs, resulting in the election of better men to office and better enforcement of law as well as the better transaction of the public business of towns, counties, and states.
7. A subordinate Grange contributes in these ways to the upbuilding of a rural community by making it a more desirable place in which to live and making its citizens more intelligent, more prosperous, and more happy.

A Boy's Wild Ride For Life.

With family around expecting him to die, and a son riding for life, 18 miles, to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, W. H. Brown, of Leesville, Ind., endured death's agonies from asthma; but this wonderful medicine gave instant relief and soon cured him. He writes: "I now sleep soundly every night." Like marvelous cures of Consumption, Pneumonia, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds and Grip prove its matchless merit for all Throat and Lung troubles. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1.00. There appears to be a disposition among people nowadays to think that it doesn't make much difference if a fellow does have callous spots on his heart as big as a hen egg if he can produce plenty of the coin of the realm on demand, but the time will come when the fellow who is decent though poor will get his just reward, and he can spend his eternal summers on Easy street while the fellow who rode red automobiles over the feelings of his fellow men is hunting for the ice man.—Falls Creek Herald.

A Unsavory Feature.

The country fair is in full blast now over the State, and the attendance when the weather does not interfere is reported good. The interest shown by the people of the country communities is not abating. But there is one feature of the country fair which cannot be regarded with any satisfaction, and that is the growing toleration of gambling devices. Once the gambler at the country fair was looked upon with horror. Of late he has come to be one of the chief features. In some fairs it is said that the gambler pays such high prices for the privilege of fleeing the people that the entire expenses of the fair are met in this manner if everything else should prove a failure. The managers excuse the presence of the gambler by saying the people want to play the gambling games, and that the gambler pays the expenses of the fair. Undoubtedly there is truth in the argument. If the people did not patronize the gambler at the fair he would not be there. The patronage is the misfortune. At some fairs it has become notorious. Wherever the gambler is tolerated the reputation of the fair soon spreads. Some of the fairs will not permit gamblers on the grounds. From all signs such fairs do not suffer any from want of attractions or attendance. It is safe to reason that other fairs could be made attractive to the people by providing something else than dishonest games. If not, then the fair that depends on the gambler should shut up shop. If the rumors are true that women are playing the gambling games openly at some of the country fairs the managers of such fairs have a plain duty, and that is to abolish the gambler and if the management will not do it the borough officials should take a hand. The legitimate country fair is too valuable an institution to suffer from disreputable practices.—Pittsburg Times.
