

STREET PAVING QUESTION.

Should Be Submitted to the Voters at November Election.

The article published in THE STAR last week, suggesting that the borough be bonded for $30,000 for the purpose of paving Main and Jackson streets and that it be submitted to the voters of this borough at the November election, received the hearty endorsement of a large number of our citizens. It must not be understood that it would only cost $30,000 to pave both streets. At a rough estimate it will cost $60,000, but it is expected that the property owners on each side of the streets will pay one-third of the expenses of paving in front of their property, or property owners two-thirds of expense and borough one-third. There is no doubt but that the majority of the property owners on Main and Jackson streets would enter into an agreement to pay their portion of the paving expenses, and we believe if town council gives the citizens an opportunity to vote on the bond question in November—and all the voters understand the question thoroughly—that there is no doubt but that the majority vote will be to bond the borough for a sufficient amount to pave Main and Jackson streets. There is no argument against the fact that these two streets should be paved. The only question is how shall the money be raised?

The valuation of property in this borough is about $700,000, and it can be bonded for 7 per cent. of that amount, which would be $49,000. The borough now carries $6,000 bonds, not including the school bonds, but the school bond is separate and would not interfere with bonding the borough for 7 per cent. for other purposes if necessary.

As stated in THE STAR last week, Main street is in a very bad condition and will have to be repaired not later than next spring, therefore it is important that the street paving question be voted on at the fall election so that all preliminaries can be arranged in time to begin paving next spring.

Over $2,000 was expended on our streets last year and what were they like this spring, and every fall and spring? Simply horrible! If the borough is bonded for $30,000 the interest would only be $1,200 per annum, leaving some for a sinking fund each year out of what is annually spent on the streets, spelling the streets in dry weather and doing them no good for the muddy seasons. Besides that, we would have streets that would be a credit to our town and everybody could be proud of. The bonds can be issued for twenty or thirty years, giving the future generation an opportunity to help pay the indebtedness.

If bonds had not been issued we would never have had the fine school building we now have nor the excellent school advantages the children now enjoy. The people of to-day don't have to liquidate this bonded indebtedness alone, but the young people now getting the advantages of a good school system because of the brick edifice that is a credit to our town, will have an opportunity to help pay the debt in years to come. Who would want to go back to the old 8-room frame school house again to save a few mills on school tax?

The Farmer, As Others See Him—As Seen by Himself.

Recently, at a grange picnic, a gentleman—not a farmer—extolled the farmer to the skies. As he saw it, the farmer is the most independent man in the land. He can scarcely know a want that he cannot himself supply. His wife enjoys a paradise and his children are the healthiest, happiest, and most contented to be found anywhere. There is nothing of which he can justly complain.

Soon after, a farmer who owns two good farms and a house in town was heard to say:

"The farmer is not respected by anybody. He gets no public recognition. When he goes among other people he is sneered at as only a farmer. He is discriminated against by legislators and business men. He pays the bulk of the taxes and others fix his prices for him. A $200.00 check will be required to pay my taxes this year. I am tired of it. My properties are in the market."

There is some truth in what the first man said. Too much truth in the statement of the second. The mission of the grange is to realize for the farmer as far as possible, the dreams of the first and to correct the evils complained of by the second.

Fearful Odds Against Him.

Bedridden, alone and destitute. Such is brief was the condition of an old soldier by name of J. J. Havens, Vandalia, O. Man!

Man! man! Thou art a strange conglomeration of inconsistencies! When it is winter thou longest for summer, and when it is summer thy head buries for winter, when thou art single thou wishest for a wife, and when thou art married thou wishest the divorce court. When riches are thine, thou wouldst be possessed of brawn and a good appetite. When the gout cometh thou wishest thou would prefer the rheumatism, but when cricks and twitches play tag in thee, then thou yearnest for arnica and the better things of life. If it is a boy thou art sorry it was not a girl, and vice versa. If thou keepst a horse, thou wishest it were an automobile, and if thou hast an automobile, thou wishest the thingamajig in its vitals. Verily, thy days are full of contradictions and longings.—Ex.

High School Bulletin.

Edited by Members of the Reynoldsville High School.

Once again in the history of the Reynoldsville High School, the Shakespearean Literary Society appears before you in gaudy colors.

At the first regular meeting of the Literary Society held Friday, Sept. 18, the society was organized and the following officers were elected for the ensuing month: President, Cora Shaffer; vice-president, John Colman; secretary, Amy Bollinger; critic, Mr. McClure; pianist, Amy Bollinger; program committee, Cora McCright, Ethel Kunes and Garfield Harris; editorial staff: editor-in-chief, Clyde Murray; 1st assistant editor, Geneva Milliken; 2nd assistant editor, Frank Strouse; local editor, Bertha Bowser.

One of the pleasant surprises of the summer vacation was the marriage in the latter part of August of Mr. Leavenworth, a former principal of the High School, to Miss Dady, who had been a member of Room 13 for a number of years. Mr. and Mrs. Leavenworth are now in Boston where he intends to continue his theological studies while Mrs. Leavenworth contemplates pursuing a course of study that will aid her husband in his future work. We join with their many friends in Reynoldsville in wishing them great success in their chosen field of labor.

It may be a rumor, but it is whispered that the Subs aren't in love with remainder of High School.

The Seniors were star gazing last evening.

A Reynoldsville Junior has been trying to kidnap a Punxsy Senior.

In order to keep in good standing we must have sufficient workmen than we had counting votes last ballot day.

The Senior class were greatly pleased when Prof. Smith informed them that they would have an apparatus for physics in a few days.

The High School starts in with an enrollment of six Seniors, five Juniors, "all girls," nine Sophomores, fifteen Freshmen. They all report 100 per cent. in attendance.

Owing to the sad fact that there are no masculine members in the Junior class it is the opinion of all that their work can be nothing more than failure. To strengthen this belief we need only take the words of a Junior, who she sighs "Oh! for a man."

The Seniors in their study of astronomy are moving out from this earth and dwelling among the celestial many miles away.

Miss Margaret Smith, of Allegheny, Miss Agnes Baldwin, of Summerville, Miss Edith Herrick and Miss Mary McClure, of Reynoldsville, visited the High School Friday.

The "All Girls" don't have enough boys to fill their class offices and partners.

We have heard of Bacon boiled down, fat Bacon, but we never have heard of Bacon teachers.

Though the school greatly regrets the loss of one of its Senior boys, Will Reynolds, we all join in wishing him the greatest success in his work at Wooster Preparatory.

Three Senior witches can't command ball.

We are all glad to know that the school board has purchased a new piano for Assembly hall. Though the piano is not here as yet, we expect it within the next few days.

Prof. Bacon will probably teach the "All Girls" how to act when they go to Room 13 for literature.

The classes start their work with an excellent staff of High School teachers. Prof. Smith, principal, Prof. McClure, assistant principal and Prof. Bacon teacher of Room 13.

The Twentieth Century Club of Room 13 met Monday, Sept. 14, and held a business meeting for the purpose of electing officers. Those elected were: Pres. Twila Shaffer; vice pres., Lillian Harris; sec., Florence Harris; attorney, Leonard Harris; critic, Mr. Bacon; pianist, Nellie Foley and reporter, Mildred Sutter.

Five new pupils came to the Ninth grade last week, making twenty-one, and fifteen in the Tenth.

Mr. Bacon has made quite an impression upon the pupils of Room 13.

Fanny Alexander and Wallace Mitchell visited school last week.
