

ITEMS OF INTEREST TO THE STATE GRANGERS.

The work of the rural schools of this State can be made more valuable to the country than they are and the Grange is giving some attention to their improvement. The Grange stands for better education, especially in the rural districts, realizing that the future of the farm homes will soon be controlled by the boys and girls that are at school now. How important it is that they should be taught something of the elements of agriculture and of nature.

The officers and members of the Grange in Penn'a. are fast increasing the strength, popularity and influence of this great conservative organization. The many subordinate granges are bringing new light into many isolated farm homes and adding culture and refinement to all, while at the same time it stands as a watch dog to protect, defend and advance the more material interests of the rural home.

Dues were paid to State Grange on 3,780 more members for quarter ending June 30, 1903, than for June 30, 1902. Farmers not only can organize but they are organizing.

The thirtieth regular annual Grange Encampment and picnic under the auspices of Centre County Pomona Grange was held on their grounds at Centre Hall, September 12 to 18. The County Grange owns 28 acres of ground adjoining the railroad, well equipped with necessary buildings, including a large auditorium, and planted with shade trees. They own also a large number of tents. More of these than usual were occupied this year.

Addresses were delivered in the auditorium every afternoon. A prominent feature was an entertainment given each evening by the members of Progress Grange No. 96. A different program was rendered every time. When the busy people of the farm found time to do all this work is a wonder. That they did it well is evidenced by the fact that they sang and played before large audiences.

Our niece, who had Consumption in an advanced stage, also used this wonderful medicine and to-day she is perfectly well." High School Bulletin.

Edited by Members of the Reynoldsville High School

The following officers were elected at the meeting of the Shakespearean Literary Society on Friday, Oct. 9, 1903: Pres., Clyde Murray; sec., Miss Sessor; critic, Prof. McClure; program committee, Miss Klahr, Miss McCroight, Miss Coe Shaffer; editor-in-chief, John Coleman; 1st assistant editor, Miss Myers; 2nd assistant editor, Miss Williams; local editor, Carl Kirk.

Prof. McClure gave oral examinations in all his latin classes last week.

It has been stated that the Reynoldsville Public School is about the best in the country. But is it? We are handicapped by a limited supply of apparatus in the physics, astronomy, botany and zoology classes. I say limited, so limited that we have nothing but our text books. Why should we not have apparatus? Something we could work with. What good are all these statements in our texts, if we cannot apply them. So many times a law or statement is so vague, that it is not understood at all, and can not be explained without apparatus. The school shall probably be equipped in the future, but here is a case in which we would need the most delicate instruments to explain, so vague is the statement.

The prospects are an extra session for the Junior class after 4 p. m.

Lectures are quite frequent now in the High School.

Not any more class meetings.

More work there bachelor girls.

Say Kirk, when do you and Strouse want another excuse from society?

Murray's new form of communication was witnessed by the entire Senior class last Thursday in the German class.

The Juniors like to get into the Senior class.

I wonder if the "Press Muzzler" would have any effect upon the "Bulletin."

The Banner Books Library.

The Banner Books Library, a concern recently organized in Punxsutawney, received its first installment of books last week. The company has established headquarters on the second floor of the Kurtz building, next door to the Spirit office, where, in a short time, suitable apartments will be fitted up for the accommodation of those who wish to inspect the collection or become acquainted with the system. The Banner Books Library proposes the same plan that has made the Tabard Inn system so popular. They offer a life membership for $3, with the additional privilege of obtaining any of the latest musical publications and popular songs for one year, both for the sum of four dollars. Music alone $1.50 a year. The plan for supplying the public with the best and latest literature obtainable is the conception of two young men who live in Punxsutawney and the popularity of the scheme has been demonstrated in St. Marys and Johnsonburg where 225 memberships have been secured. A canvass of Punxsutawney will be made at once and as soon as possible the system will be extended over the entire country. Miss Carrie Wall has accepted the position of local canvassing agent. The officers of the concern are, Selu E. Mohny, president and general manager; W. B. Shomo, secretary and treasurer.—Punxsutawney Spirit.
