The condition of Holland Clawson, who has been at the Adams hospital several weeks has changed but little. He is not yet out of danger.

The programme rendered by the "Roney's Boys" always pleases the most fastidious. Be sure to hear them sing Friday evening.

Rev. Frank Boner, son of W. J. Boner of Sandy Valley, who has been preaching in Idaho, preached in the Reynoldsville Presbyterian church last Sunday morning.

Dr. D. F. Fox, who will be here Dec. 16, is a noted and successful Chicago clergyman and a brilliant orator. He handled his subject, "A Neglected Cavalier," in a masterly manner. He is a favorite everywhere.

Frank Wiley, brother of W. W. Wiley, proprietor of the City Hotel, who was an employe in the White Front restaurant at Puxsutawney, has moved to Reynoldsville and taken charge of the City Hotel restaurant.

The plot of Assembly hall for the lecture of Dr. Fox Dec. 16, the second attraction of the public school lecture course, will be opened at Mr. Stoke's drug store Monday morning, Dec. 14. Arrangements will be there made for reserved seats.

Prof. C. V. Smith will have charge of the meeting in the rooms of the Young Men's Reading Association next Sunday afternoon at three o'clock. These meetings are proving very interesting. Every young man of town is cordially invited to attend.

The Chautauqua Literary and Scientific Circle met Monday evening with Prof. Smith. It meets next Monday evening with Miss Cora Milliren. This is the fifth year of the existence of the present local circle and those in attendance pronounce it the most interesting of any.

The lecture was brilliant and masterly. Such a torrent of eloquence, such a multitudinous array of facts; such choice and rich English; such climaxes. It made up an evening that will not soon be forgotten by his auditors, and we venture the prediction that Newton people will want to hear Dr. Fox again. —Newton Journal, Ia.

Do you not want to belong to the largest fraternal insurance order in town? The Protected Home Circle has over 152 members. You can take out insurance between now and January 1st and will be one year younger than after January 1st. $2.00 is all it costs to join and both sexes are admitted.

The Presbyterian ladies will hold an "Experience Meeting" in the church Tuesday evening, Dec. 15th, at 8.00 o'clock, at which time they will tell how they earned their dollars. The "Experiences" will be interspersed with recitation and music, both vocal and instrumental. A cordial invitation is given to everyone. A small admission of 10 cents will be charged.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Lane, of West Virginia, son-in-law and daughter of George Sharp, deceased, were notified last week that he could not live, but the word was changed and they did not know until they reached Pittsburg Monday evening that he was dead, and did not know until they arrived here yesterday that he had been buried.

Perry B. Love, agent for the Central Accident Insurance Co., last week handed A. J. Postlethwaite, the companies draft for $200 being indemnity for disability resulting from being struck in the eye by a small cylinder from the engine on the 9th day of last September, while riding on a passenger train between Clearfield and DuBois. The Central never fails to pay just claims promptly.

The building at Sandy Valley which has been used as a union church for several years is now the property of the Methodist congregation of that vicinity. The land was owned by Robert Waite, and James McGee of Sandy Valley also had a claim against it. By mutual agreement both these gentlemen gave to the Methodist church a full and freed deed. Rev. J. C. McEntire, of Reynoldsville, is pastor. A number of repairs will be made and then the pastor will begin a series of revival meetings.

James P. Castner and John S. Culbert, two nimrod of Donora, spent last week hunting in this section with R. E. Koehler, editor Donora American. They returned to Donora Saturday with their game bags full of pheasants. All three of these sportsmen had dogs of their own. Mr. Castner's dog cost $150.00, Mr. Culbert's $50.00 and Editor Koehler's considerable less than either of the others, and from appearances we would judge his dog would do just as good work as either of the high priced dogs.

We have had nothing better than "A Neglected Cavalier" as delivered by Dr. Fox. The general verdict of the audience was enthusiastically in his favor, and the opinions of those whose opinions we respect and whose commendations we most desire were all unambiguously for him. His word pictures are wonderful. No need to use a stereopticon with him. We are more than satisfied. I cannot resist the inclination to write you thanking you for recommending him for our course.—Franklin J. Tyrell, Prest., Lake Geneva, Wis.

A citizen living nearby was awakened by the noise and began firing on the men as they ran away and they returned the fire. Though pursued they escaped in the darkness. There was no money in the safe and it was not even locked, but the burglars didn't know that.

THE STAR will have more to say on the bonding of the borough for street paving before the February election.

U. M. W. of A. Convention.

Delegates from Sub-District No. 5 of District No. 2, United Mine Workers of America, held a convention in the P. O. S. of A. hall in Reynoldsville yesterday afternoon. The attendance was good, with plenty of enthusiasm, but there was little business of importance to transact except the election of officers for the ensuing year. The result was as follows: President, John Sullivan, Puxsutawney, re-elected; Vice-President, William Owens, re-elected; Secretary and Treasurer, James Burns, Puxsutawney, re-elected; District Board Members, John McKenna, Rositer, James Fitzpatrick, Adrian, Thomas Torrence, Adrian, S. R. Williams, Reynoldsville, P. T. Sullivan, DuBois, and Joseph Brown, Helvetia. The auditors, credential committee and tellers are: Jerry Ford, DuBois, Thomas Hammond, Adrian, and John A. Donnelly, Lindsay.

Three Impostors.

Monday three men went from house to house in Reynoldsville asking for charity on various pleas. Two of them claimed to be workmen who had been disabled at their trade and were "trying to make a living as best they could," and backed up their statements by showing bandaged arms. A third sold shoe strings. Their appearance was suspicious and matched the description sent out from Puxsutawney of the men who cracked the safe at that place Sunday morning. Policeman J. M. King placed them under arrest and lodged them in the Reynoldsville lock-up over night. Tuesday morning they were examined but the Puxsutawney people had not sufficient evidence to identify them positively, and they were discharged with the advice to get out of town by the first train. They did.

An examination of their supposed injuries revealed nothing but a few marks and showed them to be base impostors.

LODGE OF SORROW.

B. P. O. Elks No. 519 Render Tribute of Praise for Two Absent Brothers.

In memory of their departed brothers, John D. Nolan and Edward B. Phalen, Reynoldsville Lodge No. 519, B. P. O. Elks, held a lodge of sorrow in Centennial hall Sunday afternoon, and with impressive and beautiful ceremonies paid loving tribute to the dead. The service was public and a very large audience participated in the memorial. The rostrum was decorated with evergreen and flowers and profusely hung with purple and white, while at one end, heavily draped with black, stood a white tablet having on it the names of the absent brothers.

The service opened with the tender strains of "Hearts and Flowers" rendered by the Strauss orchestra, and following it the Exalted Ruler, James E. Mitchell, in a brief address stated the meaning of the lodge of sorrow and exemplified it with part of the lodge ritual. The orator of the day, Mr. Mat. Savage, editor of the Public Spirit of Clearfield, gave brief eulogistic sketches of the lives of John D. Nolan, who died at Sandusky, Ohio, in July, 1902, and Edward B. Phalen, who met death on the railroad at DuBois in November, 1902. His address was not long but sincere and eloquent, and while he paid deserved tribute to the worth and popularity of the absent brothers, was listened to with rapt attention by the audience. A. J. Hepler, editor New Bethlehem Leader, was present and though not on the program for an address, consented to take part. He is a fluent and pleasing speaker and with well chosen words made the closing address of the meeting. The specially prepared music was one of the most beautiful features of the service. A quartette of ladies, Mrs. Stoke, Mrs. Gillespie, Mrs. Williams and Miss Lenker, a quartette of gentlemen, Mr. Alexander, Mr. Reddick, Mr. Thomas and Mr. Herpel, and the Strauss orchestra rendered at intervals throughout the program selections in keeping with the hallowed spirit of the lodge of sorrow.

The Wishaw Park Pavilion is about to be opened for a series of winter balls, the initial one to be given on Thursday evening, December 24, 1903. Wishaw Park is a justly popular resort with the patrons of dancing and is not excelled in this section for comfort and convenience. Heat is furnished through the medium of steam, and grounds and pavilion are lighted by electricity. The Jefferson Traction Co. lines pass directly through the grounds and cars are held in park until the termination of the ball. In fact the welfare of patrons is looked after in every possible way.

Viaduct Will Come Down.

The noted viaduct near Rockton, on the C. & M. it is said has been condemned. Next season the route of the track will be changed. Beginning at a point between the viaduct and Rockton a line will be constructed that will avoid the deep ravine of the viaduct, and by the building of two small bridges will bring the track back to the present line in the neighborhood of Bloom's Run.—DuBois Searchlight.

A full attendance of the members of W. R. C. is requested at the regular meeting on Friday, Dec. 11th, for the annual election of officers.

BURIED WITH MILITARY HONOR.

George Sharp, who died at DuBois Hospital Thursday, Was Buried at This Place Sunday Forenoon.

Mention was made in THE STAR last week that George Sharp, of Reynoldsville, was lying at the DuBois hospital in a critical condition from injuries sustained by being kicked by a high spirited and vicious horse. At 9.30 a. m., Thursday, December 3, 1903, Mr. Sharp closed his eyes in death. Blood poison causing dissolution. The body of Mr. Sharp was brought to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Norman Anderson, in West Reynoldsville, where it remained until the day of burial.

Funeral services were held in the Baptist church at 11.00 a. m., Sunday, conducted by Dr. A. J. Meak, pastor of the church. It was a very large funeral. Mr. Sharp was an old soldier and member of the Grand Army Post and Sons of Veterans attended the funeral. There was a firing squad from the Sons of Veterans Camp. The mortal remains of George Sharp were buried in the Reynoldsville Cemetery with military honors.

George Sharp was the oldest son of Daniel Sharp, deceased. He was born in Reynoldsville, then a wilderness, in a log cabin near where Ab. Reynolds' residence now stands, on the 26th day of November, 1845, making him over 58 years old at time of death. During the Civil war he enlisted with Company H, 105th regiment and served his country faithfully for 3 years, 11 months and 18 days, when he was honorably discharged. He was wounded in the left thigh during the war.

October 11, 1870, Mr. Sharp was united in marriage to Clara Catherine Rhoads, of this place. Unto them eight children were born, four sons and four daughters, all of whom, with the widow, survive Mr. Sharp, and their names are as follows: Mrs. Lewis Lane, of West Virginia, Mrs. Norman Anderson, of West Reynoldsville, George Oscar Sharp, Ada Orabel, Chester, Robert Bruce, Harry and Hazel May, all at home.

With the exception of four years in the army George Sharp spent his life in this section of the country. He was a lumber contractor and at time of death had a large contract for Cook & Co. at Garco, Clearfield Co., where he moved his family last year and was living in camp temporarily. Mr. Sharp carried $1,000 life insurance.

George Sharp was an honest man and a very hard worker. Those who worked with him or had any dealings with him claimed that he was a fine man to work for and was honorable in all his dealings.

New Railroad to Indiana.

If all reports are true Indiana county is to have another railroad, one which, when completed, will extend from New York to Pittsburg. The proposed road is to be seventy-three miles shorter than the Pennsylvania between the two cities, and will reach a comparatively undeveloped part of the state. Surveyors have been working all along the line, and have the preliminary work well under way. A part of Westmoreland, Indiana, Armstrong, Cambria, Blair, Center, Union, Snyder, and Columbia counties are reached, according to the survey. It traverses the Schuylkill Valley, thence through Northampton County to the Delaware River opposite Belvidere. It crosses three opposite in New Jersey. It is said that the proposed road will follow the old survey of the Pittsburg & Eastern through Indiana County. Crossing the river from Armstrong county at Leechburg the road as now planned is to follow Crooked Creek to Marlton Centre; then up East Run to Fleming Summit, from which point it parallels the P. R. R. to Cherrytree.—Indiana Democrat.

DEATH FROM APOPLEXY.

W. A. London, of Sykesville, Expired Suddenly Away From Home—Large Funeral Sunday.

W. A. London, a prominent and honored citizen of Sykesville, carpenter by trade, died at Sawickly, near Pittsburg, at 5.00 p. m. Thursday, December 3rd, 1903, from apoplexy or congestion of the brain. He was working at his trade and had worked up until noon Thursday when he was suddenly stricken with a severe pain in his head. He was taken to the home of R. J. Huges, with whom he boarded, and three doctors were summoned and did all in the power of medical skill to save his life, but his case was beyond their power and at five o'clock he passed from this life into the Great Beyond.

On Wednesday Mr. London had written a letter to his wife, in which he had counted the number of days until Christmas when he would come home to stay. On the way home from school Thursday evening one of the children got the letter out of the post-office and the family all rejoiced that papa would soon come home to remain with them. A couple of hours after the letter was read a swift-winged telegram carried the shocking and heart-breaking news to his family that the husband and father was dead. Mr. London was in the prime of life and apparently enjoying excellent health, and the announcement of his death was a great shock and surprise to his host of friends in Winslow township.

The body was shipped to Sykesville Friday evening, accompanied by Mr. Huges and Mr. Harman, two men with whom he worked at Sawickly.

Funeral service was held in the Sykesville M. E. church Sunday at 2.00 p. m., conducted by Rev. Richards, pastor of the Luthersburg M. E. church. It was a very large funeral, the church was filled beyond its seating capacity and a large number of people were compelled to remain outside of the church. The I. O. O. F. lodge of Troutville, of which deceased was a member, attended the funeral in a body. Interment was made in the cemetery near Sykesville. A beautiful floral piece, three links, was presented by the seven brothers of the deceased.

Webster A. London was born near Big Run, Jefferson county, Pa., December 16, 1860, making him 42 years, 11 months and 17 days old at time of death. In June, 1889, he was married to Miss Hannah Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. M. Moore, of Emersleville. Unto them five children were born, three sons and two daughters, the oldest is now thirteen years and the youngest a year old. The names of the children are Karl, Twila, Allison, Verner, Macy.

Mr. London was an excellent man, very much interested in church and school work. He had been a faithful member of the Methodist Episcopal church for a number of years and served one or two terms as school director in Winslow township. He was a genial fellow and had no trouble in winning and keeping the friendship of those who became acquainted with him. The family have the sympathy of the people of Sykesville and community.

The deceased is survived by his wife, five children, his mother, seven brothers and two sisters. The brothers and sisters are: James, Arthur, Robert, Jefferson, John, Hester and Francis London, Mrs. Ezra Stewart and Mrs. Noah Syphrit.

Card of Thanks.

We hereby express our heartfelt and sincere thanks to our neighbors and friends for their kindness and sympathy in the time of our deep sorrow and great bereavement by loss of husband and father.
