to-day," is now generally presented in this form : "Do it to-day !" That is the terse advice we want to give you about that hacking cough or demoralizing cold with which you have been struggling for several days, perhaps weeks. Take some reliable remedy for it to-day -and let that remedy be Dr. Boschee's German Syrup, which has been in use for over thirty-five yours. A few doses of it will undoubtedly relieve your cough or cold, and its continued use for a few days will cure you completely.

No matter how deep-seated your cough, even if dread consumption has attacked your lungs, German Syrup will surely effect scure-as it has done before in thousands of apparently hopeless cases of lung trouble. Paper Read by Mrs. A. J. Sprague, of Desire, Pa., at Farmers' Institute Recently held by Paradise Grange. When two people units their destines for life their first move is to establish a home. Home is the cradie of the nation and some of our very smartest and best men have come from the farm home, so that if there is any one home above another that should be made attractive it is the farmer's home. This may at first appear to be a very simple question and one easily answered. We are ready to say, if I had lots of money I could soon make my home attractive. You might fill your house with alegant furniture and costly draperles. but think you that would be attractive to your boys if every time they came into one of the elegantly furnished rooms they were admonished to be careful and not break or disarrange any thing ? Our homes are a sort of kingdom ; we are the rolers and on us devolves the responsibility of unking that kingdom attractive or otherwise First we must make it as good to look at as possible with the facilities at hand. The sense of sight is perhaps the one we are the most apt to indulge but we should be careful and not sacriflee looks to comfort. Home is where the coming men and women receive their first and, conse quently, their most lasting impressions, hence we ought to make it a school and teach each their responsibility in making home attractive, for what home would be attractive or even endurable if each member did not work in unison Another necessary element in making home attractive is different diversions Nearly all children and young people love to read. As soon as most children learn to distinguish one letter from mother they begin to read and it is most necessary that we see to it that proper books and periodicals are put in their way. Many a boy can date ils downward tendency to trashy literatu ...

A great amount of innecent amo ment may be gotten out of the harmles games that may be enjoyed at home Of these there are an endless variety so that each may suit their own tastes. True the farmer and his family may not have as much time for recreation as some other professions but he can enjoy what he has with the better zest. Then let us, as the heads of farmurs! homes, make them so attractive that world may look back to their home as the most attractive place in the world.

in company or in public, accustom that child to always observe the habits of good manners at home, in the family's every day life. If a child is taught to speak and act politely to the memb rs of his own household, it will come so natural for him to do so that he will feel no embarrassment in treating strangers in the same manner. Good manners, like religion, should be the every day and every hour kind, not that which is held in reserve for some special day or occasion. It is just as easy for a boy or girl to be polite and genteel as it is for them to be crabb d. You will make many more friends this way than you will in any other .-- 4t. Marys Gazette.

Tired-Out Women.

Fagged-out women, suffering from back-ache, unable to stand long or walk far, or with symptoms incident to the weaknesses peculiar to the sex-such women need a friend to tell them that many such symptoms are the result of physical conditions that can be remedied only by building up the streagth. This building up can be done most effect-ually with Celery King. It cleanses the stom-sch and bowels, giving restful sleep and the appetite of girihood.

TN PREPARATION for the approach of spring and summer we have secured the best line of merchandise in the market. We are all familiar with the soaring of the price of cotton and with war in the far East now raging, prices of raw materials are still going up with bounds and leaps. In our purchases however we bought early and secured our goods at old prices, therefore can save you many dollars on all staple Dry Goods. We have not substituted inferior lines or merchaudise stuffed with shoddy and cheapened by making over narrower looms, etc., to decrease amount of raw material to the yard. Therefore we express an important truth when we say we can save you many dollars on all lines of staple Dry Goods.
