C'ves to Salzer's Oats its heartiest endorsement. Salzer's New National Oats yielded in 1913 from 120 to 300 bu. per acre in 36 different States, and you, Mr. Farmer, can beat this in 1914, if you will. Salzer's seeds are pedigree seeds, bred up through careful selection to big yields.

Per Acre:
Salzer's Barley yielded 121 bu.
Salzer's Home Builder Corn 300 bu.
Salzer's and Macaron Wheat 30 bu.
Salzer's Victoria Rape 40,000 lbs.
Salzer's Teosinte, the fodder wonder 160,000 lbs.
Salzer's Million Dollars Grass 50,000 lbs.
Salzer's Pedigree Potatoes 1,000 bu.

Now each yields pay and you can have them, Mr. Farmer, in 1914.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

Solved Problem in His Sleep.
Representative John J. Gardner of New Jersey, is no dreamer. None the less, he has evolved a plan to work out "catch-problems" in his sleep. At the remarkable story goes, this industrious chairman of the labor committee works them out correctly. A few nights ago Mr. Gardner worked at one of these perplexing problems for several hours, finally deciding to sleep over it. In the night he awoke and worked out the problem with ease.

The following morning he discovered the paper with the problem worked out with mathematical precision, but he did not recognize the answer as his own. He required the word of his wife to convince him that he had worked out the problem and now he is disposed to think that the next time he drafts he will "sleep over it" and hope to find the solution in the morning.—Washington Post.

Field for Women in Japan.
The Japanese government railway bureau proposes to employ young women to sell tickets at the central station at Yokohama, and if the innovation proves a success all the male ticket sellers on the government railways will be displaced by the other sex. At first sight the rapid manipulation of tickets seems to be an occupation for which feminine figures are peculiarly suited, but there may be objections, and they will no doubt find adequate expression in this country should a similar proposal be made.—London Chronicle.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

DARK GOWNS IN FAVOR.
As is always the case when light colors have been fashionable for some time, there is a revolution in favor of dark ones, so this year there will be many dark costumes worn. But there are some charming browns and greens and purples and one shade of red in the American Beauty rose color, and all of these are thought very smart.

The black cloth or black velvet costumes, however, or the very dark brown, will be the most popular of any, and the same coloring is carried out in the afternoon and evening wraps. But in these days so many gowns are requisite, and also so many wraps, that it would seem possible to the women of wealth to have all the different colors in a winter outfit.—Harper's Bazar.

WOMAN SERVES IN ARMY.
Katrina Arnautova, a young Macedonian woman, is not a typical new woman, though a soldier. She is about twenty-six years of age, very well built and good looking, with a keen, sympathetic expression. In a black fur cap, a gray tunic of military cut and metal buttons, a leather belt, gray trousers and leggings of a dull violet colored wool, this woman soldier is to be seen shouldering arms against the Turks. Five have fallen by her shots. One brother fell at the hands of the Turks, another was exiled to Asia Minor. This, coupled with a strong desire to aid in the liberation of her native land, is responsible for her present occupation. The men, she says, have always treated her with great respect and kindness, wishing to always clean her rifle, leggings, and sandals.

HEALTHY GIRLS.
It is no longer fashionable with the fair sex to feign delicacy, nor are the girls of the coming generation actuated by an insane desire to appear fragile and genteel at the expense of health. The scores of buxom, bright-eyed young ladies one will meet in any of our public thoroughfares any afternoon is ample evidence of the truth of the assertion. No longer do the fair ones seem wan and pale to look upon, nor is their style of locomotion suggestive of effort; but, on the contrary, nearly all seem strong and lithe of limb, and with cheeks suffused with the ruddy glow of health. Doctors generally agree that there is far less of sickness among the sex than had formerly been the case, and this could be attributed solely to the glorious practice young ladies had of late acquired of testing their capabilities as pedestrians, and in engaging in other forms of light physical exercise. It is to be hoped that the good work will go on.

YAWN BEFORE ARISING.
Do not jump up as soon as your eyes are open. Remember that while you sleep the vital organs are at rest. The vitality is lowered and the circulation not so strong. A sudden spring out of bed is a shock to these organs, especially to the heart, as it starts to pump the blood suddenly.

Take your time in getting up. Yawn and stretch. Wake up slowly. Give the vital organs a chance to resume gradually.

Notice how a baby wakes up. It stretches its arms and legs, rubs its eyes and yawns, and wakes up slowly. Watch a kitten wake up. First it stretches out one leg, then another, rubs its face, rolls over, and stretches the whole body. The birds do not wake up and fly as soon as their eyes are open; they shake out their wings slowly. This is the natural way to wake up.

A good yawn and stretch is better even than a cold bath. It will get you thoroughly awake, and then you will enjoy the bath all the more.—Boston Post.

WOMEN'S CLUB IN BOHEMIA.
Mrs. Josefa Humpal-Zeman, formerly of Hull House, Chicago, and a well-known club woman in that city, has just returned from a two years' residence in Europe, where she studied sociological conditions, and the school systems of various countries. Mrs. Humpal-Zeman is a Bohemian, and is proud of the fact that the first social settlement was started in her native land as far back as 1860. The wife of a famous labor authority and leader established and still supports this social center with the aid of a board of trustees.

The Woman's Club also flourishes in Bohemia, one pioneer organization bearing the name of "The American Woman's Club," the founders hoping that its members would increase in progressive spirit. A very up-to-date club has just been founded, after the plan of the Chicago Woman's Club, though on a much smaller scale. Mrs. Humpal-Zeman took with her to Europe photographs of many of the largest clubhouses in the United States, and she reports that not only women, but men everywhere showed the deepest interest in them. European men were delighted to find that Mrs. Humpal-Zeman, for all her club affiliations, still wore lace gowns and arranged her hair becomingly. "Their own women," said the returned traveler, "frequently become very masculine when they take to letters or to learning. It is difficult for Europeans to realize how it is that American

Simple Fashions

New York City.—Tucked blouse coats are much worn by young girls as well as by mature women and are exceedingly becoming. This one, designed by

MISSES' TUCKED BLOUSE COAT.

May Manton, allows a choice of cape or no cape, and is made with the latest sleeves and the flat neck finish, that is desirable with the fur neck scarfs and fancy boas of the season. This model is made of royal blue broadcloth with cuffs of velvet and trimming of Persian lamb braid and makes part of a costume, but the coat suits the odd wrap equally well.

The coat consists of blouse and skirt portions, which are tucked on continuous line. The blouse is fitted by means of shoulder and under arm seams. When the cape is used it is arranged over the shoulders with its edges beneath the outermost tucks. The sleeves are tucked above the elbows, form full puffs below and are finished with shaped cuffs. The skirt, or tunic, is tucked, fitted over the hips by means of darts and joined to the blouse beneath the belt.

girls. These are made of cloth or changeable glace silk, with picturesque floppy brims, and rosettes as the trimming feature. A curtain ruffle on the edge of the brim is an attractive and childish touch that gives decided chic.

Ermine in Shades.
Ermine with a slightly yellow tinge is much sought after, and takes its place with old lace, as it is so far only time that has been found to soften the dead white. This ivory shade remains after cleaning, and one of the best dressed women has had a childhood's tippet of ermine combined with chinchilla, with excellent effect.

New Dress Hats.
Some of the new dress hats are very pretty. These are made with crown and wide rim of Irish lace, the edge of the crown and the edge of the rim of tulle. On one of the hats are particularly attractive flowers, big, pink tipped white lilies. On another are pink poppies, and the familiar orchid is to be seen on others.

A Pretty Blouse.
A pretty blouse which is made of checkboard squares of white silk separated by insertions of lace, has for the stock, cuffs and tops of the shoulders, the plain silk tucked in many fine, close tucks.

Chaille Patterns.
Chaille patterns have somewhat more character than formerly. A rich blue ground is spotted with large discs outlined with black and filled with green and white stripes.

Sailor Blouse in "Peter Thompson" Style.
The sailor blouse is ever popular, ever in demand, but this season a bit more so than common. The very excellent May Manton model shown is in true "Peter Thompson" style and is drawn on over the head, but allows a choice between two styles of sleeves, and of yoke and sleeve caps or a plain for the medium size is six yards twenty-seven inches wide, three and five-eighths yards forty-four inches wide, or two and seven-eighths yards fifty-four inches wide, with three-eighths yards of velvet and five yards of banding to trim as illustrated.

The Hedyay of Velvet.
Fashionable persons are wearing two sorts of velvet at night. One is of heavy quality and is the old silk velvet, an emblem of luxury in the past. But these thick velvets are used mostly by women of age, since no younger woman wants to be bothered with the weighty folds. At a dance one of these handsome velvets is impossible. Younger women are wearing the light velvet, and that is a novelty. These velvets are not of greater weight than taffeta, and have all the sheen and lustre of the thick velvets. The new velvet is the handsomest fabric on the market and needs little or no trimming.

In the shops these light velvets are sold from $3 to $8 a yard. Velvets are in great demand for evening wear, and silks are decreasing in favor.

Lace Requirements.
The most admired real laces for deep collars, handkerchiefs, neckbands, with tab ends, or a stole finish, are Venetian laces, Duchesse, and Duchesse with Brussels point, and Brussels point de gaze, as well as point de Venise. Real laces of this day are very apt to be mixed in style, as Brussels point with Duchesse. Milanese, Mechlin and Maltese laces represent an individual choice more particularly. There is something beautiful and dainty about real Milanese lace, its close designs suggesting point de Venise. Flourences, bertinas, collarettes and the different styles of neckband laces must be real now to be the correct thing.

Fabric Hats.
Fabric hats, which came into vogue with the embroidered muslin hats of the summer, are still in high favor for

The blouse consists of front and back and is finished at the neck by a sailor collar, at the waist with a casing in which elastic or tape is inserted. The shield is separate, finished with the standing collar and joined to the waist beneath the sailor collar. When used the yoke and sleeve caps are applied over the waist. The tucked sleeves are straight, but the bishop ones are shaped to form full puffs at the wrists. Both are finished with straight cuffs.

The quantity of material required for the medium size is five yds twenty-seven inches wide, three and one-eighth yards forty-four inches wide, or

A Japanese House.
A Japanese house is the simplest thing in the world. It consists of a post at each corner and a roof. One may say it is all on one floor. And in daytime it is all one room, if it is a small house. The number of rooms it depends on the number of bedrooms the owner requires. They are divided by night by paper shutters fixed in grooves, like the divisions of an old-fashioned workbox. There are no doors or passages. Your bedroom acts as a passage, and when you want a door you slide back the nearest panel. Two sets of shutters go round the outside. These outside shutters cannot be slid in the same promiscuous fashion as the other. Each is held in its place by the next, and the last one is secured with a bolt of wood. There are plenty of Japanese houses which when secured for the night would hardly stand a drunken man leaning against them. An Englishman's house may be his castle—a Japanese home is his bedroom, and his bedroom a passage.

The population of Japan is twelve times as dense as that of the United States.
