A Fine Recitation.

Miss Anna Loy May, the elocutionist who is instructing the Seniors and Juniors in the high school for commencement next week, gave a sacred recitation in the M. E. church last Sunday evening entitled "The Starless Crown." Miss May delivered the recitation with ease and grace. It was enjoyed by the large congregation. Rev. Reno's subject was "The Crown of Life." Miss May's recitation was given after the sermon, and after that John Reddick sang a solo, "Will There be Any Stars in My Crown," the choir joining in the chorus. Mr. Reddick is a fine tenor singer.

Home Wedding.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. John Walker, of Rathmel, was the scene of a very pleasant event on Wednesday, April 20. The occasion being the marriage of their estimable daughter, Miss Jennie, to Mr. Duncan McPherson, Jr. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. J. Meek, Ph. D., of Reynoldsville, at 5:00 p. m. in the presence of about forty guests. The bride and groom were attended by Miss Nellie Lucas and Mr. John McPherson, brother of the groom. Miss Agnes Walker rendered the wedding march. Many congratulations were extended to the young people after which an elegant supper was served. The bride and groom are deservedly popular and have a large circle of friends who wish them a pleasant voyage through life. They will enter into housekeeping in Rathmel.

Temporary Machinery Building.

The American Production Company will erect a temporary building, which will be completed in three weeks, if weather is favorable, for the machinery now in Mr. McSherry's shop in Pittsburg. It is expected the machines will be in operation in the temporary building inside of four or five weeks. On account of present orders to be filled it is necessary to keep the machinery in operation and Mr. McSherry has to vacate his shops in Pittsburg as the building is to be torn down. After the machinery building proper has been completed and machinery moved into it, the building now being erected out of tiling will be used for pattern building.

Mr. McSherry was here over Sunday, returning to Pittsburg yesterday. As soon as the temporary machinery building is completed and machinery shipped to Reynoldsville Mr. McSherry will remain here all the time. At present he has to divide his time between the Pittsburg plant and Reynoldsville.

N. T. Rhodes and his crew of men who are getting the ground ready for the erection of the buildings for the American Production Company will soon have their work completed.

Commencement Notices.

As announced last week the sermon to the graduates will be delivered by Dr. Samuel A. Martin, president of the Pennsylvania College for Women, on Sunday evening, May 8. Tuesday evening is the time set for the Junior Contest and on Wednesday evening the commencement exercises proper will be held. The orchestra and other first-class talent will furnish music for the different occasions. All these exercises will be held in Assembly hall and the public will be cordially welcomed to them.

The Alumni reunion and banquet will take place on Thursday evening at the Imperial Hotel. It is hoped that there will be a good attendance of the members of the association and their friends as well as at the business meeting in Assembly hall at 3:00 p. m. of the same day.

DIED YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

Mrs. Sarah A. King, Aged Eighty-Seven Years, Peacefully Passed to the Great Beyond.

Mrs. Sarah A. King, wife of Mr. Jacob King, died at their residence on Main street, Reynoldsville, after an illness of about five weeks. She was born May 5th, 1817, in Clarion county. She was married to her surviving husband March 5th, 1840, and for more than 64 years they journeyed through life together. She was the mother of five children, three of whom preceded her in the future world. Two are still living, viz., Dr. J. C. King and Mrs. M. C. Coleman, both of Reynoldsville. Early in life she became a christian and was a member of the church for nearly 67 years, and died in fellowship of the Reynoldsville Baptist church. She was conscious to the end of life and peacefully passed away at 1:30 p. m. Tuesday, May 3rd, 1904. Had she lived two days longer she would have been 87 years old. Funeral services will be held at last residence at 2:30 p. m., Thursday, conducted by her pastor, Dr. A. J. Meek. Interment in Reynoldsville Cemetery.

Mrs. King was a woman of sterling worth. She was a kind wife, true and sympathetic mother and a good neighbor. Several years ago she and her husband left their farm in Clarion county and came to Reynoldsville to live, where they have many friends. She was faithful in her attendance at church and seldom was her seat vacant when she had strength to attend. Her husband, who is nearly 91 years of age, and children have the sympathy of a large circle of friends. She has gone but is not forgotten.

Knocked Down for Stealing Umbrella. Last Friday a man named McGuire, who had been around town imbibing from the cup that intoxicates, stole a fine silk umbrella from E. C. Burns, which was given him as a Christmas present. Mr. Burns learned that McGuire had the umbrella for sale for a quarter and he started on the hunt of McGuire and caught him near the Ross House about six o'clock, but McGuire did not have the umbrella and denied having stolen it. McGuire was drunk and rather saucy about the matter and Ed. allowed his angry passions to get the better of him and he hit the fellow and knocked him down. Ed. is a large, powerful man and his blow was a stunner. McGuire was hauled to Burns' livery stable and a couple of doctors were called. After a careful examination the doctors found that the fellow was not seriously injured. In an hour after McGuire was hit he was able to sit on a chair and laugh and joke about the affair. McGuire remained in town until yesterday morning.

The affair lasted quite an excitement Friday evening and there were wild rumors afloat for two or three days. It was reported that McGuire's skull was fractured, that he had three or four ribs broken, that he had been taken to the Adrian hospital, and it was also reported that McGuire had died. These reports were all false.

Good Insurance Order. Albert H. Shubert, of Brookville, Pa., a member of the Reynoldsville Protected Home Circle, died on April 24, 1904, after an illness of a number of weeks. Mr. Shubert carried $1,000 insurance in the circle, which will be the means of saving the home for his family, as the home was only partly paid for at time of his death. It pays to be a member of a good insurance company that will protect your home. You know there will be something for the widow and children when the husband is taken away. The Order has a reserve fund of over $811,000, has paid out over $2,500,000 and has a membership of 55,000. No assessments. Only costs $2.00 to join the order. Either sex can join it.

Cut Flowers. Leave your order at J. C. Barto's for cut flowers for commencement. All orders will be carefully filled with choice flowers.

The social held in the chapel of the Presbyterian church last Thursday evening was a very pleasant affair and was well attended, but the attendance was not as large as it would have been had it been a pleasant evening.

Bicycle repairing and sundries at Hoffman's. We also have high grade wheels for sale at low prices.

We are not training your children for Shakespearean actors but to read and enjoy the highest class and best literature written in our own language. Come and see the boys and girls take the parts of the Merchant of Venice Friday night.

All kinds of rough and dressed lumber, lat and shingles for sale at S. Shaffer's lumber yard in Reynoldsville.

When you buy boots or shoes ask for Gold Trading Stamps. Bing Stoke Co.

Cut flowers at Barto's. Don't forget that John H. Doubles has reopened his big I. X. L. ice cream parlor on East Main street.
