

Simple Fashions

New York City.—Eton jackets are among the most fashionable coats of the season and are given the broad shoulder line of fashion by means of the same, sometimes reversed to give the needed touch of color.

Plaid Mercerized Canvas.

Mercerized canvas, taking the place of old-time Scotch gingham, is shown in plaids of all sizes. While costing seventy-five cents a yard, narrow width, it will far outwear cheaper material. It is particularly suitable for summer traveling or seaside wear, as it needs no starching and does not crush easily. An ecru ground, plaided with various colors, is exceptionally pretty in this material.

A Broom Petticoat.

One of the most useful devices for the careful housewife is what is called "a broom petticoat." It is used to brush down the walls, and is a preventive against cobwebs. It is made of cream cotton flannel, and looks much like a petticoat with its double frill and raw strings of tape. It opens at the side, and has tapes to secure it. Including the frill, it is twenty-three inches long.

Woman's Smoking Jacket.

The latest innovation in the world of dress is the ladies' smoking jacket. From a medical point of view this is the most delightful garment in the world, following strictly on the lines of a man's smoking coat, with pale pink, blue or buff facings and jeweled buttons.

Reception Frocks.

Afternoon reception frocks appear to be made in all the lighter and softly clinging fabrics, with tiny little gaugings, pleatings and ruchings and entire deux or medallions of lace.

The New Summer Silks.

The new summer silks are shown in scroll and other designs, but in these also the small dot and narrow stripe take precedence.

Girls' Costumes.

The combination of box pleats with tucks is an exceedingly effective one that is much in vogue. This very various capes, cape collars and the like. This one, designed by May Manton, is peculiarly jaunty and smart, and includes both the narrow vest and cape collar, the latter being optional, however. As shown it is made of earth brown broadcloth with vest and trimming of fancy braid and is stitched with corticelli silk, but all the suiting materials of the season are equally appropriate and plain sleeves can be substituted for the full ones whenever desired.

The blouse is made with fronts and back, the former being fitted by means of single darts, and is arranged over the narrow vest. The cape collar is separate and is finished with a turnover collar, the two being arranged over the Eton and outlining the vest. The full sleeves are made in one piece each and finished with flare cuffs, but the tight sleeves are in regulation coat style, stitched to simulate cuffs.

The quantity of material required for the medium size is four and five-eighths yards twenty-one inches wide, four yards twenty-seven inches wide, or two yards forty-four inches wide, with three yards of braid and three yards of lace to trim as illustrated.

A Poetical Trousseau.

Where is the American heiress who can boast a trousseau of thirty costumes, in which every stitch has a poetic and symbolic significance? A wardrobe of this kind is in the possession of Mme. Wong, the wife of the Vice-Commissioner from China to the St. Louis World's Fair. These wonderful dresses were unpacked the other day at the Wong residence in St. Louis. No two of the gowns were alike, and many of them are woven in an entire piece. The exquisite workmanship in the robes is beyond the power of description. All are embroidered in so delicate a fashion that an artist's brush could not have delineated them more perfectly. Each flower and emblem worked on the gown of a Chinese woman of rank signifies some beautiful sentiment. A robe embroidered with plum blossoms speaks the poetry of life. The phoenix, with its outstretched wings, denotes wedded happiness. To the uninitiated eye this wealth of embroidery is the perfection of the artist's skill, but to the Chinese husband each sprig and blossom, bird and butterfly, carries its own message of love.—Chicago News.

Becoming Hats of Rubber.

The gossamer rubber silk lined automobile hoods are not unbecoming, especially to the piquant faced woman. These hoods are gathered full in front over the hat and fall long and straight around the face under the chin to the back. A hat is also made of this rubber which has a bright silk lining. It looks like any other chapeau, and is trimmed with rosettes and frills of charming little frock, designed by May Manton, shows them used most satisfactorily and is adapted to the entire range of seasonable fabrics, simple childish wools as well as washable stuffs, but is shown in white batiste figured with blue.

The frock consists of waist and skirt. The waist is made over a body lining which is smoothly fitted and the two close separately at the centre back. The sleeves are tucked to be snug above the elbows and full below and are gathered into straight cuffs. The skirt is cut in seven gores, all the seams being concealed by the pleats.

The quantity of material required for the medium size (twelve years) is ten yards twenty-one inches wide, eight and one-fourth yards twenty-eight inches wide, or five and one-fourth yards forty-four inches wide.

To Get Rid of Roaches.

To rid your kitchen of roaches try powdered borax with red pepper mixed in with it. I find it excellent. Sprinkle the mixture in corners and on shelves, leaving it there over night. Do this several nights and you will not be annoyed by bugs. It is said that to boil the borax makes it more effective. To boil borax put a quantity of it in an old pan—a fire shovel is still better—and hold it over hot coals until it ceases to fume and boil. This leaves a dirty white friable mass, which can be reduced easily to coarse powder. The evaporation of all the water in the borax makes it caustic, and the roaches get "hot foot" and scampers.

To Wash Embroidery.

The reds, blues, and greens of the cross-stitch embroidered collars and cuffs, so much used now, will "run" when they are laundered unless some preventive is used. If the thread with which the work is done is of good quality a bath of 10 to 15 minutes in strong salt and water before each washing will set the color. A solution of sugar of lead is also used. The latter, old laundresses claim, will need using but once before the color becomes fast.

Colors can be made fast, too, by soaking in alum water. But the alum water will fix any soil as well as the color that is wanted. For this reason only new goods is wanted. For this reason only new goods should be put into it, while they are still clean and before they are used.

Some women who have had sad experiences with cotton dresses and waists always soak such material which is in plain color or in figures or stripes in alum water before it is made up. The washable stocks and collars may be treated in the same way.

In wringing any colored embroidery it is a safeguard to cover it first with a white cloth, and wring it first with a white cloth, and wring the two together. In this way, if any color is squeezed out it spots the plain cloth.—Philadelphia Evening Telegraph.

Recipes.

Breakfast Puffs—Mix half a cup of water with half a cup of milk. Pour this gradually over one cupful of flour; add a pinch of salt. Beat until smooth; then beat with an egg beater until very frothy. Fill hissing hot greased gans two-thirds full with the batter, and bake 35 minutes in a quick oven.

Tea Cake—Rub two level tablespoonfuls of butter into one quart of sifted flour; add to this enough cream to make a dough for rolling out; add to the flour one cupful of currants; toss on a floured board, roll out, cut with a biscuit cutter; bake on a griddle or in the oven; split, butter and serve on a napkin.

Shrimp Salad—Put one cup of shrimp in cold water, and let stand 20 minutes. Drain and dry on a towel, remove the intestinal veins; put aside six of the largest shrimp, and break the remainder in pieces; add to them a little cream dressing, and arrange on lettuce leaves. Put one teaspoonful of cream dressing on each, and garnish with whole shrimp, capers and olives.

Potato Dumplings—To one pint of grated potato, which should be cooked and lightly salted the day before you wish to use them, add four grated soda crackers, two well-beaten eggs and just sufficient flour to prevent them sticking to the hand. Form into balls, any size you desire, and boil in salted boiling water until they rise to the surface, which will be in about 15 minutes. Keep the pot covered while they are cooking. Skim from the water and over the top pour cracker crumbs browned in butter.

Fried Beef Kidneys—Cut a beef kidney into slices one-third of an inch thick; put them in a bowl and pour boiling water over; let stand 10 minutes; lift the slices from the water to a towel and dry thoroughly; then roll in flour; put a little butter in the frying pan when hot; lay in the kidney; when brown on the under side turn and brown the other; sprinkle with salt and pepper; arrange on a hot platter, resting one on the other; add a little flour to the butter in the frying pan; stir until smooth; season with salt and pepper; add water and boil until thickened; remove; add a little lemon juice; strain into the centre of the platter; serve very hot, with squares of toast.

Loyster Cutlet—Put one cupful of chicken stock or cream in a frying pan; rub together 1-2 level tablespoonfuls of flour and the same of butter; add this to the boiling cream and stir until thickened; then add cream and stir until thickened; then add two cupfuls of chopped lobster meat; season with salt and pepper; cook two minutes; then add one egg, well beaten; stir quickly; remove from the fire and add one tablespoonful of lemon juice; spread the mixture on a platter and when cold divide into as many portions as are to be served; shape into cutlets, roll in crumbs, then in beaten egg, then in crumbs again; put three or four in the frying basket and fry in smoking hot deep fat; remove, drain on paper and stick a clam in the end of each lobster cutlet; serve on a folded napkin with some tartare.
