BEAUTY THINGS TO WEAR

FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

New York City.—Full waists worn with fancy boleros are extremely smart and allow of many charming and effective combinations. This one shows a round centre is intended to be the size of the skirt or petticoat, although it may be cut out to accommodate a wider one. The plain edge of the circle is stitched to the draperies. The embroidery then falls in folds, much more graceful than the ordinary flounce.

FANCY WAIST.

Latest Ideas in Lace.
The day of the heavy, rope-like lace is waning, and all the new sorts coming now to trim the summer frocks are on the Chantilly order, thin and airy as cobwebs. But most beautiful cobwebs they are, wrought upon with delicate wreaths of flowers and other designs suggesting the Pompadour period. Breton, Alencon and the Maline laces, as those with a basis of fine netlike Maline are called, are going to have a great season.

Crepe de Chine Suits.
One of the newest particularly smart stuffs for the coat and skirt suit, and one that has been eagerly received simply on account of its novelty for the purpose, is crepe de Chine.

Shirt Waist With Underarm Gores.
Plain shirt waists, made in tailor style, always are in demand and always are smart. This one is made with under-arm gores, which render it peculiarly well suited to stout figures.

Carrot Pudding.
Two cups grated carrot, two cups grated potato, two cups chopped suet, two cups flour, one cup sugar, one cup molasses, one cup raisins, one cup currants, one lemon (grate rind and add juice), one teaspoonful cream tartar, spice and salt. Steam three hours, bake half an hour.

Chocolate Souffle.
Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter; add five tablespoonfuls of flour; do not brown, but stir constantly until smooth; add gradually half a cupful of milk and stir until thickened; pour this over the yolks of three eggs and two tablespoonfuls of sugar, which have been beaten together; put two squares of chocolate in a pan over hot water; when melted add it to the mixture; stand aside until cool; shortly before the souffle is to be served beat the whites of eggs until stiff; mix them carefully into a cold mixture; turn into a buttered mold; the mould should be only three-fourths full; cover the mold; stand it in a pan of boiling water and boil half an hour; serve with sugar and cream.

Two Cheese Sandwiches.
A circular cracker, of the variety known as water thin, is crisped in the oven. It is then spread with rich cream cheese, rather thickly, and topped with a layer of ruly bar-le-duc. This is made of stemmed red currants floating in a delicious jelly. The other cheese sandwich consists of two oblongs, three by one and one-half inches, of brown bread, cut very thin and freed from crust. The filling is prepared by rubbing some cream cheese very soft and blending it with minced watercress and two tablespoonfuls of mayonnaise dressing. The brown bread sandwich is served on a crisp lettuce leaf. It is a tasty and delicious sandwich for summer luncheons and for picnics. Nothing can fill its place.

A Short Cut to Marmalade.
To slice oranges and lemons in the process of making marmalade, there is nothing better than an ordinary carpenter's plane, an instrument which is found in almost all households in the larger or smaller form. The older wooden planes are preferable, as they do not discolor the fruit as the more modern all iron plane would do. To use, invert the plane over the pan in which the marmalade is to be made. Take the whole fruit and move it back and forth over the knife, removing the seeds as they appear. This will give slices equal to those made with the very expensive marmalade machine, though with slightly more trouble, but much more quickly and easily than with an ordinary knife. The plane blade should be sharp and properly adjusted before commencing the slicing. An individual once trying this short cut will never use the ordinary kitchen knife again, for the ease and rapidity with which the fruit is sliced is marvelous.—Boston Cooking School.

HINTS FOR THE HOUSEKEEPER

Dishcloths are quickly made fresh and sweet by boiling in clean water with a good lump of soda added.
Always put the sugar used in a tart in the centre of the fruit, not at the top, as this makes the paste sodden.
When peeling onions, begin at the root end and peel upward, and the onions will scarcely affect your eyes at all.
In boiling meat for making soup the meat should be put into cold water, in order to extract all the goodness from the meat.
Soup will be as good the second day if heated to boiling point. It should never be left at a sauceman, but turned into a dish and put aside to cool. Do not cover the soup up, as that may cause it to turn sour.
A tablespoon of black pepper put in the first water in which grapes and buff linens are washed will keep the colors of black or colored cambrics or muslins from running. A little gum arabic imparts a gloss to ordinary starch.

If moths are in a carpet, turn it over and iron on the wrong side with a good hot flatiron. Then sprinkle the floor underneath liberally with turpentine, pouring it into the cracks if there are any. Rub the turpentine in and then you can turn back your carpet. Repeat this treatment two or three days.
A good recipe which will keep the bristles of hair brushes stiff after washing is as follows: Pour into an open dish a dessertspoonful of ammonia in a quart of cold water. Dip the brush into this, moving up and down, but taking care not to wet the back of the brush. In this way the bristles will be clean and white in less than one minute and without any rubbing. Then dip the brush into clear water, shake and place in a rack to drain.

Second Life For Evening Shoes.
When light satin or white kid shoes are too soiled to appear again, they may neatly be covered with black silk or velvet, or velveteen, sewed on very carefully to the exact shape of the shoe. The heels must be enameled black with hat enamel, and the shoes then serve excellently for day wear.

Women as Artists.
One of those connected with the art department of the St. Louis Exposition is quoted as saying:
"Woman will stand on an equality with man at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition. No special classification in exhibits is made for woman's work, and no building as at Chicago, but in all the manifold ramifications of exposition work woman participates. Woman will hold a place in the juries of award. Woman sculptors and painters have done some of the finest work on the Exposition buildings. Women have had places on Government, State and other boards in the collection of exhibits and in the exploitation of the Exposition. There are even women concessionaires, and a woman contractor competed with men in the actual physical construction of the Exposition."

Not a Whim.
You see, the athletic shirt waist is not merely a fashion whim, says the Indianapolis News. It is really the expression of an improved social condition.

Strange Trades For Women.
About seventy years ago a New York restaurant hired a young woman as cashier. She was the first woman cashier in the city, and the restaurant doubled its trade, because of the rush to see a woman at the cashier's desk.

What Girls Can Do.
"I am only a girl. What can I do?" Is the exclamation one frequently hears when some fair young creature is urged to bestir herself and accomplish some good for those about her. It is such girls as these who fall to realize that it is the girl who does things in this world who is attractive, both to men and to her own sex, which last counts a little, too, in the long run.

Every girl can do one thing well if she will only take the trouble to find out what that thing is. The difficulty is that she often looks in the opposite direction; she wants to do something great and showy or nothing at all. But there are other talents within reach if she will only look, and these talents may be such a comfort to her in her dark hours that they will make life better and happier both for her and those about her.

How the world likes a cheerful, plucky girl who makes a brave fight and hides her skeleton in a closet instead of folding her hands and whimpering because things don't come her way; the girl who puts her own griefs as much as possible aside—who takes a wholesome interest in life.

Church and Hats.
"I strongly believe that, above all, a lady's hair is much more beautiful than her bonnet," said the Rev. J. Cumming Smith.

"It is certainly advisable for the women to remove their hats at meeting, and the woman who is not willing to do so lacks the true spirit of a Christian."

A movement has been inaugurated in Chicago to induce women to remove their hats at the Sunday service. If successful, without effecting a change in attendance, the movement will dispel a popular theory in regard to "fine hats and other garments influencing the large attendance of women at church."

"I was central in regard to this question," said the Rev. J. Cumming Smith, of the Tabernacle Church, "until I took my vacation in April."
"It was during this vacation that I sat in a pew in one of our churches. In front of me was a pew filled by half a dozen or more lovely women, all wearing broad brimmed hats. I had to strain my neck in order to see the minister and the choir. It was during this service that I realized the advisability of removing the hat, and accordingly I at once took my stand on the question."

"I like to see women and men well dressed for church. In fact, I believe those who can afford it should have a costume of neat, respectable appearing garments, especially for the Sunday service, and look nice."

Full Waist of dotted silk mull, with slashed bolero of pale green mousseline taffeta, which matches the skirt, but there are numberless other materials that are equally desirable. Vellings are always pretty made with waists of either thin, soft silks or muslin and Having the right poise of the body, hold it when you walk. Step lightly on the balls of the feet, and take an easy, fairly long, swinging step.

It is really no more intrinsically modest to walk with a short step than it is to have a small mouth; at least there are other expressions of lofty feminine ideals equally convincing to admiring men. So walk freely and comfortably, if you like to, resting assured that your ethical standards will be unshaken.
And learn to breathe right.
The New York girl gets her splendid lung capacity from her outdoor life. She breathes right, because in the main she lives right, but there is no reason why every girl should not know to use her lungs and improve her health and beauty as a result.
If your chest is held high, as is necessary for correct standing, then you have the proper position for good breathing. At the start regularly practice breathing before an open window.

very nearly all the season's fabrics can be utilized. The yoke of lace with collar to match makes an attractive feature and is finished with lace or other banding when the bolero is not used.

The waist is made with a fitted lining on which the full fronts and back are arranged and is closed invisibly at, and on a line with, the left edge of the yoke, which is hooked over onto the left shoulder seam. The sleeves are wide and full, finished with double frills, and can be made full length by using linings to the wrists and lacing the lower portions to form cuffs. The slashed bolero is cut in one piece and is arranged over the waist, being joined to it at the lower edge beneath the full belt.

The quantity of material required for the medium size is: For waist, four and one-fourth yards twenty-one inches wide, three and five-eighths yards twenty-seven inches wide, or two and one-fourth yards forty-four inches wide, with one-half yard of all-over lace; for bolero, one and three-fourths yards twenty-one or twenty-seven inches wide, or seven-eighth yards forty-four inches wide.

Grisaille Silks.
The most precious bits of stained glass in Old World cathedrals are the pieces of "grisaille," so-called, decorative painting in monochrome of a greenish gray.
The silk merchants borrow the word this season as a trade name of grisaille. Some are the queen's gray, a sober color which is adopted by women in half mourning or by those who seldom wear anything but black. Some shades of gray without the slightest touch of green also pass muster as grisaille.

Flounce Embroideries.
Deep or narrow flounce embroideries in fine Swiss or heavy materials, collar and cuff sets, and special blouse sets, are manufactured of this embroidery. A flounce that will do away with the necessity of gathering is shown, made of a circle of Swiss, the embroidery being along the outer border. The and is appropriate for the entire range of waistings, although shown in white mercerized chevot. The back is plain, drawn down in gathers at the waist line, but the fronts are slightly full line, and the bolero is made in one piece with the stock and closed at the back.

The waist consists of fronts, back and under-arm gores, the fronts being laid in narrow pleats at their upper edges and either pleated at the waist line or left free to be adjusted to the figure as preferred. The sleeves are the fashionable ones of the season and form drooping puffs over the cuffs.
