The Pipe Organ Recital.

The pipe organ recital at the Baptist church on Wednesday evening of last week was a grand success. Henry S. Fry, organist in the Holy Trinity Memorial Chapel of Philadelphia, provided himself a master of the pipe organ and music. His pedal work and fingering was fine and elicited the praise of all. The program was well rendered and showed the power and capacity of the organ from the deepest and heaviest tones to the finest and lightest notes. The organ was manufactured by the Estey Organ Co., of Brattleboro, Vermont, and is a sweet and powerful in tone and presents a very neat and imposing appearance. The organ has over five hundred pipes and is run by a water motor. The one half the cost of the organ is the gift of Mr. Andrew Carnegie, the other half the cost is provided for by the church and their friends. Mr. Fry was assisted in the program by Miss Annie Haigh, of DuBois, who gave two well rendered and well received violin solos. Miss Haigh is recognized as a fine violinist. Miss Bessie Albert, of DuBois, sang three fine solos. Miss Albert has just completed a four years course in the Peabody Conservatory of Music in Baltimore, Md. Mrs. Schofield, of DuBois, presided at the piano. The auditorium was filled to overflowing and the lecture room was also well filled with appreciative and music loving hearers.

The Growth of Reynoldsville.

The people of Jefferson county note with a degree of satisfaction the rapid manner in which the town of Reynoldsville has been coming to the front during the past few years. There is no town in the county that has made more rapid strides than Reynoldsville, and the numerous enterprises that have been located at that place during the past few years are in nearly every instance backed up by local capital. The people of the town have taken an interest in the affairs of the place, and if the same progressive spirit that has been manifested in the recent past, shall continue for another few years, Reynoldsville will soon become the metropolis of the county, or perhaps, of this section of the state.

Reynoldsville's experience has been a peculiar one. Some time ago it was but an overgrown coal town and depended entirely upon these operations for its existence. Year by year, however, the coal mines of the town commenced moving farther away and other little towns sprung up about it. The very foundation was thus slipping from under the town and every day it became more evident that if the town was to hold fast to the surface of the earth it would have to secure other things for the employment of labor.

At the critical time the people came to the rescue of the town, and it seems that every man has risked what money he had and obligated himself for what he could get in order that his town might become prosperous again. This has made Reynoldsville one of the best towns in the county.—Brookwayville Record.

FIVE YEAR PASTORATE ENDED.

At His Own Request Rev. Perry A. Reno will be Given Another Appointment.

Rev. Perry A. Reno, who was pastor of the Reynoldsville Methodist Episcopal church five years, has ended his pastorate at this place and is now at Titusville attending the Erie Annual Conference. At the quarterly conference held in the M. E. church last Thursday evening Rev. Reno stated that he expected this to be his last year as pastor of the Reynoldsville church, and on Sunday evening he preached his farewell sermon to a large congregation.

REV. PERRY A. RENO.

Rev. Reno has no idea where he will be sent by Bishop Fowler for the coming year, nor is it known who will be sent to Reynoldsville.

Rev. Reno is a kind and warm hearted man and a zealous pastor. Mrs. Reno, in her genial and pleasant manner and activity in church work, is a great help to Rev. Reno in his work as a pastor. Their only daughter, Miss Amy, who has been a student in the Women's College at Baltimore, Md., the past four years, is a fine young lady. During the five years stay in Reynoldsville Rev. Reno, wife and daughter have made many very warm friends who are sorry that they will move away, and whose prayers and best wishes will go with them to their new field of labor.

In Rev. Reno's last year at Reynoldsville he received 93 persons on probation and out of that number 67 were received into the church in full relation, and 26 persons were received by letter, making a total of 93 persons that were added to the membership of the church during the past year.

Base Ball on Labor Day.

Three interesting games of ball were played on the ball grounds at this place on Labor Day. Game in forenoon was the fourth game between the married and single men of Reynoldsville and resulted in a score of 9-11 in favor of the married men. In the early part of the afternoon a ten inning game was played between West Reynoldsville and Emerickville teams. At end of ninth inning the score was 20-20, making it necessary to play another inning, in which the Emerickville boys were shut out and West Reynoldsville got four runs, making the score 20-24. About four o'clock the married men and single fellows again met on the diamond and the single fellows were victors, score 9-18. The single men won three out of the five games.

Explosion at Powder Works

Another explosion occurred at the works of the Mahoning Powder Company's plant, located about two miles from this place, on Wednesday afternoon about 2.00 o'clock, the third to occur in the past three years. One man was instantly killed, and three others very badly injured, one of which died the same day. Just what caused the explosion nobody seems to know, and the officials and men are giving out no information. When the explosion occurred hundreds of people from this place, at once surmised what had happened, rushed with all possible speed to the mill, but were met at the gate by a watchman who announced that nobody could be admitted but physicians. Little or no information was given out at first, and it was not known for some time that any one was killed.

It was later learned that those killed and injured were as follows: Leonard Bair, aged about 23 years, of Cloe, instantly killed; Sheridan Calhoun, injured so badly that he died Wednesday night; and Lot Bair, brother of Leonard Bair, and William Van Dyke, very badly injured, but may recover.

The explosion occurred in the press room, and it is estimated that about 600 kegs of powder let go. The building was blown to atoms, and the body of Leonard Bair was blown about 100 feet from where the explosion took place. He was evidently struck on the head by a piece of flying debris, as the entire back portion of the head was gone when the body was found. Aside from this the body was not badly mutilated. Sheridan Calhoun was badly burned all over the body. The other injured men received many cuts and burns.

The shock of the explosion was heard for many miles, and windows were broken in Punksutawney. Many of the houses at Cloe were badly damaged, some of them having the windows, sash and all, blown out, and the chimneys falling in others.—Punksutawney Republican.

A Magnificent Parade.

Independent of all other showmen, Sig. Sautelle, one of the world's recognized circus kings, states most emphatically that he will never enter into any compact to do away with the parade. In the words of Mr. Sautelle, others may do as they please relative to abolishing their street displays, he proposes to continue putting out as gorgeous a pageant as is possible in every city or town where his shows exhibit just as long as he remains before the public. This season Mr. Sautelle, whose Nine Consolidated Railroad Shows will appear in Reynoldsville, September 19, afternoon and evening, promises a most magnificent free parade. In the several sections will be heard numerous bands of music and there will be 200 or more men and women, including Indians, cowboys and girls, heavily carved dons of rared wild beasts, golden chariots, gilded tableaus, vans and floats, hundreds of blooded horses and ponies, a troupe of elephants, a double herd of camels, clowns, steam callopes and a number of exclusively new and original features. Notwithstanding that Mr. Sautelle has invested a goodly sized fortune in the purchase of animals, the building of rolling stock and procuring up-to-the-minute novelties that his free street show will be second to none this year, he has combined his several amusement enterprises and exhibits all under a high water-proof tent for one price of admission. Two full hours are consumed in the presentation of the Imperial programme and at times there are as many as twelve acts given simultaneously. There is something doing all of the time and a royal treat is promised circus-goers upon the above day and date. The performances will begin at 2.00 and 8.00 p. m. and as the doors will be opened one hour earlier, ample time will be afforded patrons to view the many classified exhibits in the menagerie and enjoy the promenade band concert.
