

DEATH OF MRS. THOMAS L. MITCHELL SUNDAY.

Had been ill for a Few Weeks but Death came with Unexpected Suddenness.—Large Funeral Tuesday Morning.

Mrs. Thomas L. Mitchell, only daughter of Dr. and Mrs. S. Reynolds, died at the home of her parents on Main street at 3.10 a. m. Christmas, December 25, 1904. Mrs. Mitchell had been ill seven weeks, but her family was not greatly alarmed about her condition until about midnight Friday, when she took a sinking spell and from that on the lamp were born unto this couple, whom with the father survive the mother. Funeral services were held at the residence of Dr. Reynolds at 10.00 a. m. yesterday, conducted by Rev. A. D. McKay, pastor of the Presbyterian church, assisted by Rev. Dr. A. J. Meek, pastor of the Baptist church, and Rev. Dr. J. A. Parsons, of the

of life flickered until it finally went out, although everything possible was done to save her life. Her mind and voice were strong until the last moments. A short time before she expired she talked calmly and intelligently to Rev. A. D. McKay about departing and left satisfactory and consoling evidence for her loved ones that she was trusting in the Savior and was going to the heavenly land. She peacefully closed her eyes to earthly scenes.

Maude Donaldson Reynolds was born in St. Marys, Pa., July 24, 1874, and was thirty years, five months and one day old at time of death. In 1879 her parents moved to Reynoldsville and with the exception of a couple of years, she spent her life in Reynoldsville and was well known to many of our townspeople. She had a happy disposition, was kind hearted and won many friends. She was educated in the public schools of this borough and Grove City College.

In September, 1897, she was married to Thomas L. Mitchell and they resided in Kane about two years and then returned to Reynoldsville. Two bright little daughters, Imogen and Cora, Methodist church. Interment in the Reynoldsville cemetery.

The floral tributes were beautiful, consisting of a pillow of roses and lilies from Mrs. Cora Mitchell and family, spike of roses and carnations from Charles Hirst, Lena Black, Frank Herpel, Mary McClure, Clyde Murray and Edward Hardman, spike of roses, carnations and narcissus from Utopia Society, spike of chrysanthemums, roses and narcissus from physicians of town, bouquet of roses and maidenhair fern from Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Brown, bouquet of carnations and narcissus from Mr. and Mrs. Albert Reynolds, bouquet of carnations from Mr. and Mrs. Charles Herpel, bouquet of chrysanthemums from Mr. and Mrs. Ira S. Smith, Louis O. and Miss Lydia Mellinger, bouquet of carnations from Miss Maybell Florence Sutter, bouquet of carnations from Misses Martha and Anna Kunes.

The following out of town relatives and friends attended the funeral: Robert Norris and wife, of Conneville, Miss Almira Reynolds, of Lock Haven, Bruce Mitchell, of Homestead, Lawyer C. C. Benscoter and wife, of Brookville.

A Great Year for the Farmer.

Speaker Cannon's description of the American farmer as "just plumb prosperous" is substantially confirmed by the eighth annual report of Secretary Wilson of the Department of Agriculture. It was a year of record production in nearly all lines, the total farm products of the country reaching the colossal sum of almost five billions. The only comparison which the joyful Secretary can make is with the national debt and what the farmers could do to that with the value of their crops, if they got it all, staggers the imagination. The corn crop alone would pay the entire national debt, a year's interest besides and have enough left to make a good start toward improving the Ohio river. The great American hen lays enough eggs in a month to pay a year's interest on the public debt. The farm products for two years, says the Secretary, equal the output of all the gold mines of all the world since Columbus discovered America. They amount to more than six times the capital stock of all the national banks and lack but a miserly three-quarters of a billion of the value of all the manufactures, exclusive of raw material. They are three times the gross earnings of all the railroads and four times the value of all the materials. As if this were not enough, Mr. Wilson points to the banks in the farming States, showing heaped-up deposits and overgrowing lists of depositors.

It was certainly a great year for the farmer. If he fell down in supplying wheat, cattle, sheep and hogs the decline was so slight, especially in beef, as to acquit him of the responsibility for high prices, which continues to rest with the enjoined beef trust.—Ex.
