In All Parts of the United States Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Has Effected Similar Cures.

Many wonderful cures of female ills are continually coming to light which have been brought about by Lydin E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and through the advice of Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., which is given to sick women absolutely free of charge. Mrs. Plakham has for many years made a study of the ills of her sex; she has consulted with and advised thousands of suffering women, who to-day owe not only their health but even life to her helpful advice.

Mrs. Fannie D. Fox, of 7 Chestnut Street, Bradford, Fa., writes:

Street, Bradford, F.a., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I suffered for a long time with womb brouble, and finally was told by my physician that I had a tumor on the womb. I did not want to submit to an operation, so wrote you for advice. I received your letter and did as you told me, and to-day I am completely cured. My doctor says the tumor has disappeared, and I am once more a well woman.
I believe Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the best medicine in the world for women."

The testimonials which we are constantly publishing from grateful women establish beyond a doubt the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Comand to conquer female diseases.

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. She asks nothing in return for her advice. It is absolutely free, and to thousands of men has proved to be more precious

GOOD PROFIT IN QUINCES.

This is a fruit which is very much neglected, says a writer in the Farm Visitor. Nevertheless, it is one of the most important in the entire list; important, because there is not a housewife who dees not look for it in the fall of the year when fruit is being 'done up," as the family saying goes; Important, because it is one of the finest of all fruits for jellies, preserves and marmalades; important, because there is no other fruit in its green state so thoroughly advantageous to the stomach and liver, particularly acceptable to the latter on account of its known presence of phosphoric acid. The quince, besides, is a highly profitible fruit, selling at a higher price than any other; not by the measure, but most frequently by the dozen specimens, bringing from fifty cents to $1 per dozen. Unfortunately, the quince s more subject to the ravages of the Sau Jose scale and codling moth than any other fruit.

APPLES FOR STORAGE.

Formerly it was supposed the apples ought to sweat before they were stored, but investigations indicate that any ripening which takes place bytween the picking time and the storage house is injurious to the keeping quali ties of the fruit. Penches delayed twenty-four hours did not keep as well as those stored at once. Bartlett pears delayed three or four days were soft in two or three weeks in storage, while the fruit stored at once was in prime condition at the end of five weeks The investigations emphasize the necessity of quick storing as soon as the fruit is picked. Fruit stored in the erchard or on the railroad siding, or In closed freight cars, in hor weather, s injured seriously, and no treatment in the storage house can overcome the damage inflicted.

The investigations point out also that apples, pears and peaches ripen more slowly if left on the tree than when removed and stored in the orchard. The fruit is much better on the ree than off if it cannot be stored at once. The method of packing is also of fundamental importance in influence ing the behavior of the fruit in the storage house.-G. H. Powell, in the Mirror and Farmer.

TREES OF MANY FRUITS.

Many people who live on city lots long for fruit threes of their own from which they can gather fresh fruit instead of being dependent upon the markets, but owing to the cramped garden area they feel that an orchard is an Impossibility. Mr. Vaughn, of Pasadena, was confronted by just such a problem, but he has eleverly found a way out of the difficulty. On the back of his town lot he had room for six fruit trees. He planted navel oranges and peaches and plams, and when they become strong and sturdy he grafted and budded other varieties into them. The operations were all successful, and now Mr. Vaughn has aumerous varieties of fruit that ripen at all times of the year, and furnish an abundance for table use. On one navet orange tree Mr. Vaughn budded a tangerine, a grape fruit, a lemon and a blood orange, making with the navel orange liself five kinds of fruit on one tree. They all bear profusely, and the is of extraordinarily large size The peach trees were budded with numerous varieties of early and late peaches, as well as apricots and nectarines. These bear from July 1 to November 1. The plum trees have been induced to produce many kinds of plums. If all the fruit raised from these six trees came from individual trees of their own kind, it would take a five acre ranch to accommodate them, -Country Life in America.

NEW FERTILIZING SYSTEM. Certain sections of the old school horticulture opposed the introduction of the dwarf fruit tree. They also clung to their out-of-date systems of feeding. They were at first hostile to my views about fertilizers, but their hostility is undergoing a great change. In what, then, does the new fertilizer system consist? Fruit farmers in Eng land have been nitrogen mad for years. Even that great scientist, Sir William Cookes, considers that the want of nitrogen is the cause of the depressed er. Yet manure induces excessive wood growth in fruit trees, plants and condition of the agricultural industry. and would possibly commend nitrogen as the great cure-all for the fruit growvines. It furnishes an excess of nitrogen compared with the phosphoric acid and potash, and fruit orchards stand in need of supplies of potash more than anything else. It must not be forgotten, though I point it out now for the first time, that whatever plant food be fed, especially to the apple crehard, it should contain a larger proportion of potash than of phosphoric acid, or even nitrogen. I emphasize these words because the assertion will come as a surprise to mary. It may be doubted, be criticised, but it cannot be refuted. It is based upon practical experience With the aid of dwarf trees, consisting of the special varieties I have named, fed on the new fertilzer system, commercial fruit growing can be made an

WOOD IN PAPER MAKING.

Spruce and Hemlock Pulp Take the Place of Rags.

"Perhaps the first way wood was used to communicate thoughts, or as a means of keeping records, was in the olden days when travelers through the forests chipped the trees and made marks on the wounded spot so they could trace their way back, said Charles Kieren. "Today nearly all the paper used for correspondence, legal and business records, is made out of wood The day of rags for papermaking has passed, for it not only is easier, but cheaper, to make all grades of wood pulp, and the latter produces by far the better results.

"Spruce and hemlock are the best woods for paper making. The first yields the strongest fiber, but the latter makes the whitest paper. Even papyrus is made of wood pulp, but we have found it too expensive to make any quantity of that grade, for it takes a special process and the mills have to run at a reduced speed While you might think that any cull wood could be used in the making of paper, it is not so. Of course, choice logs that would make good lumber are not required, but the wood has to be selected with much care.

"If the fiber is in the least de cayed, it is of no use for the mak ing of pulp. But the day of picking over filthy rags gathered from the streets is past. Where mills that use rags have to employ 100 girls for sorting, a wood pulp mill can turn out 30 tons of paper a day with a work ing force of only 30 men."-Milwau kee Sentinel.
