OPENING

WE WISH TO ANNOUNCE to the public that we will open our doors for business on Monday, April 10th, at which time we will be glad to meet as many of our stockholders and prospective depositors as can make it convenient to call on us, and also all others that feel interested in the growth of our new enterprise. Wherever you see a cut of the above KEYSTONE you will at once recognize us. This will appear on all our checks, notes, drafts, stationery, etc. We shall be pleased to meet you in a friendly and business way, assuring you that we are in shape to do anything that any trust and banking company can do in a safe and conservative way, allowing interest on time and savings deposits. Come and open an account and get acquainted. Remember the date.

WHY TRAVEL ABROAD?

An American Should Give His First Study to His Home Land.

When Pa wrote "There's No Place Like Home," he gave poetic expression to the love he bore toward the little nook more precious than "temples or palaces." What flowers of rhetoric could approach in power of assertion these five little monosyllabic words, "There's No Place Like Home"—to gain which were impossible!

It is a great privilege of Americans to be able without hyperbole to apply them to travel, for what is there in any part of the habitable globe more fraught with interest, instruction, education, refreshment of mind and body and uplifting of soul than nature has provided, with hand so lavish, for the delectation of those having the good fortune to dwell in this goodly land?

Would he see a Riviera? We have several on the shores of the azure waters both of the gulf and the Pacific, far distancing that laved by the Mediterranean.

Does he pine for snow capped mountains? Let him repair to the plains whence Pike's Peak, Mount Logan and our other great elevations rear their hoary summits into cloudland.

Would he witness a majestic cataract? There is but one without a rival, the imperial Niagara—in the chain of our great lakes, most turbulent of links.

Neither Nile, Niger nor Ganges, great rivers though they are, are comparable to our own Mississippi, well named "The Father of Waters." Our peerless Hudson excels in picturesque effects the vaunted Rhine.

What of the beauties of the Golden Gate, on whose shores sits enthroned queenly San Francisco, pronounced peerless among cities by a much traveled European prince of imperial blood?

Where is there, even in miniature, anything to vie with that earthly paradise, the valley of the Yosemite; what to compare with the deep and rugged gorge through which passes to the sea the impetuous Colorado river?

The Mammoth Cave of Kentucky, one of the world's wonders, is as yet but partially explored.

Why, then, travel abroad, while all these and vastly more than can be enumerated remain unseen at home?

"Are not Abana and Pharpar, rivers of Damascus, better than all the waters of Israel?" said Naaman the Syrian of old when ordered by the prophet to bathe himself in the Jordan for healing. Who can help admiring his pride of country and robust patriotism? Most worthy are they of emulation.

Be it for health or recreation, there is no grander travel field than that we have at home.—Travel.

The Rainy Day.

A well known artist recently received a letter from a chap who has regularly made it a practice to borrow money of him. In this letter the chap who is always in financial difficulties surprised his correspondent by saying:

"This time I have decided to reverse the usual order of things, and, instead of borrowing from you, I ask here-with $50, which I am going to ask that you will lay aside for me for a rainy day."

But the artist couldn't find any resemblance in the letter. He searched for it on the floor, under the table—in fact, everywhere he thought he might have dropped it. Then quite accidentally he turned over the sheet on which the letter was written and discovered this postscript:

"I've just looked out of the window and find it's raining like the very deuce!"—Collier's.

A Story of Sir Robert Ball.

Sir Robert Ball, the noted British astronomer, on one occasion went to a remote town in Ireland to lecture on his favorite topic. Arriving at the station, he looked for the expected conveyance, but found none. After all the other passengers had disappeared a man stepped up and said, "Maybe you're Sir Robert Ball?" On receiving an affirmative reply the man hastily apologized, saying, "Sure, your honor, I'm sorry I kept you waiting, but I was told to look for an intellectual gentleman." Sir Robert thought that under the circumstances it would be better not to inquire what was the man's idea of intellectuality.

Old Time Railway Travel.

Third class passenger coaches in England used to be coupled on next to the engine. The travelers came in for terrible treatment when any accident occurred. At times the engine was driven tender first, in which case frozen hands could be warmed at its smokestack. The passengers were packed, seventy of them, into a truck eighteen feet in length by seven and a half in width. There was no roof and not, as a rule, proper protection at the sides.

Marital Persiflage.

"I must confess," remarked Mrs. Crabbe, "I don't believe there ever was a really perfect man." "Well," replied Mr. Crabbe, "Adam would have been perfect, I suppose, if Eve had only been made first." "How do you mean?" "Well, she would have bossed the job of making Adam."—Philadelphia Press.

FLORAL EXCURSION.

The excursion rate will not be accepted on trains, and passengers not provided with tickets will be charged the regular full fare.

Horse Went Mad.

A horse belonging to Geo. Kennedy, the East Brookville meat man, developed symptoms of hydrophobia while in the stable on Saturday of last week and died in fearful agony a short time later, after creating lots of excitement in that locality. The horse was quite valuable and had but recently been purchased by Mr. Kennedy from W. K. Fetzer, who bought the animal in Clarion county about two weeks ago.—Brookville Republican.

As the coat shrinks the wearer's profanity expands. Why waste workmanship on a shrunken cloth? Saves time in the factory, and time of course is money—but the wearer gets the short end and wears the short coat. That's the "Clothcraft" way. There is a patented Clothcraft machine that shrinks the cloth in the piece before it is made up. Does exactly what the high priced tailor does with wet cloth and hot iron, but does it quickly by wholesale.

This is only one point of Clothcraft excellence, but it shows the intent of the Clothcrafters and the thoroughness of their work.

No other concern does or can use our shrinking machine. It's a Clothcraft patent. Without it no cloth is likely to be properly shrunken in a factory except at very great expense.

The style and fit of Clothcraft clothes and cloth are self evident. You can see and judge them for yourself—but it is well for you to know that behind the perfection of fit and finish is the solid honesty of wearful cloth and workmanship.

Glendale.

J. Walter Moore has his spring wheat sowed.

Mrs. Lizzie Moore is visiting her sister, Mrs. C. K. Hawthorne in DuBois.

Mr. C. A. Chamberlin visited relatives in our town the past week.

Newton Bassard is weather-boarding his house.

F. W. Deemer is sawing on the Schucker & Smith mill.

The surprise party at Frank Moore's was well attended and every one seemed to enjoy themselves.

Since the party Mart Perrin says he wishes school had just commenced instead of closed.

Sunday school was re-organized on April 2nd.

E. E. Newcome lost another horse on Saturday.

John Bassard sold his hard-wood logs to A. D. Deemer, of Brookville, and his hemlock to H. A. Swab, a contractor of Reynoldsville.

Miss Jessie Corbin, of Allens Mills, visited her grand-father in this place last week.

L. W. Moore and Mrs. Katharine Hopkins, both of this place, were married at the M. E. parsonage at Emerickville on Thursday, Mar. 30, 1905, by the Rev. W. H. Garnett. On the following night the calthumpian band furnished "circular saw music" until Low promised them a party and treat on Saturday evening, April 8th.

Bitten by Mad Dog.

Brookville got the first mad dog scare of the year yesterday morning, when a black and tan hound made its appearance on Main street, showing all the symptoms of rabies. Several dogs and a horse were bitten by the vicious brute, and it was later learned that William F. Plyler had been bitten by the dog, near the Crato school house, in Rose township. A popular subscription was at once started to defray the expenses of sending Mr. Plyler to the Pasteur Institute at Pittsburg for treatment.—Brookville Republican.
