THE STATE GRANGE.

J. T. Allman, Press Correspondent.

The grange is better and is in every way fitted to better conditions on the farm—not only so but all of the conditions that affect the farmers life. Poets have sung of the peace and charm of the country and they have not exaggerated its possibilities but how few get out of it all that is possible. The eye must be trained to see and the heart to appreciate the beauties of nature. With too many

"The cowslip on the meadows brim a yellow cowslip was to him and nothing more."

Old plod stumbles along and nature spreads out her gorgeous panorama before him in vain. With all the wonderful activity of 20th century Americanism there are millions, and not a few of them on the farm that need to be waked up. There is no place in which the farmer can be more thoroughly aroused than in a good grange meeting. If you have never been there try it.

With an eternity behind us we linger for a moment, as it were, on the shores of time before plunging into eternity to come. Nor may we come this way again. Is it wise then that our short earthly career should be given to uncommittal toil that we should be so absorbed in money making that we cannot stop to hear the song of the bird, to note the beauty of the flower, to listen to the prattle of the child or to greet our fellows. If necessity is driving us we should stop and look into the cause of the necessity. If mere greed we should stop all the more before we become altogether sordid.

If every man were permitted to enjoy the fruits of his labor there would be no necessity for any one to be a slave. If he is in any way robbed of that which is his by right more toil will not make conditions better for him.

Fellow farmers, even in this busy season take time to get your breath, attend the meetings of your grange. If you cannot do this for a part of the cause. If the remedy is such that you can apply it yourself do it. It is beyond your individual effort seek the help of your fellows. Since machinery has so many times multiplied the powers of the human hand the world can be housed and clothed and fed without grinding any one and if the workers themselves once rightly use their power it will be done.

KEYSTONE BAND MET WITH UNFAIR TREATMENT.

Were Debarred from Entering Tournament at Buffalo Last Week at the Very Last Minute.

ANOTHER PROTEST.

In the preliminary band contest held at the front yesterday morning the Reynoldsville Keystone Band, which arrived in Buffalo with the lodge from that town, participated. Subsequently when they arrived on the ground in the afternoon they were informed that they were disqualified, no reason being given. Such is the statement made by W. W. Wiley, delegate from the Reynoldsville lodge and manager of the band.

Mr. Wiley said: "We have spent more than $500 bringing this band to Buffalo for the express purpose of participating in the contest. When we were disqualified this afternoon I went to Mr. Getchofer, the chairman of the committee on ceremonies, accompanied by Richard Ramsey, the director of the band. Mr. Getchofer refused to listen to us, said he was too busy, and directed us to go to the judges. We are given to understand that we are disqualified because the band was not a union band. Well, in the printed regulations which we received, it was expressly stated that any band coming from a town that was outside the jurisdiction of the local federators would be permitted to compete. The nearest federators to us is at Pittsburgh, 125 miles away, so any such objection falls to the ground. We believe we have a distinct grievance and we intend to have this matter threshed out.—Buffalo, N. Y., Courier, July 12, 1905.

As it is well known that the Keystone Band went to Buffalo the week of July 10th with the B. P. O. Elk delegation from here; this band went for the purpose of entering the band contest. They were entered in class B, there being two classes, class A and B. In order to discern what bands were eligible to enter this contest, a preliminary contest was held in the fore noon and the final contest at 4:00 o'clock of the day set aside for the band contest. The bands entering this preliminary in class A were Mexican Band, 61 pieces, 54th Regiment Band, Rochester, N. Y., 40 pieces, 2nd Brigade Band, Pittsburgh, Pa., 40 pieces. In class B Doring's Band, Troy, N. Y., 29 pieces, Wheeler & Wilson Band, Bridgeport, Conn., 25 pieces, Robinson Band, Paterson, N. J., 28 pieces, Keystone Band, Reynoldsville, 21 pieces. Each band entering this preliminary contest in order to qualify for the final were to be judged as to their ability by their playing B. P. O. E. march and an overture of their own selection. The Keystone Band rendered the overture "Champion," a high grade piece of music that they some years ago at DuBois won first prize in a tournament of bands of the Northwestern Pennsylvania Band Tournament Association. Director Ramsey states that the band on this particular day rendered this overture better than they ever did before, and musical people know what that means when it is said about the playing of the Keystone Band by such an efficient director as Director Ramsey.

After the preliminaries came the final contest at 4:00 o'clock, but before the final contest, each director, including Director Ramsey, were called to draw their number for getting on the stand to play in the final, this band getting No. 1, which would entitle it to play first, but upon the arrival of this band at the appointed hour and just a few minutes before the judges entered their enclosed tents the chairman of the musical committee informed Director Ramsey that the Keystone Band was disqualified in the contest. He would give no reasons to the manager, as stated in the clipping, but we learned in a very short time that it was because our band was not a union band. The query is why did they let us on the stand in the first place? It looks very much as if they didn't take us seriously and that after hearing the difficult overture and the masterly manner it was handled it put them to thinking that they may lose some laurels to the "minor" band, as it was called, as the music for the contest was much easier music than the preliminary. The applause for the Keystone band was equal if not more than what was given the Mexican Band, while the other bands received but little applause. It also can be said that this contest looked very much as though the bands that won were scheduled to win. One of the judges admitted that the Keystone Band had the highest average of any band in the preliminaries, but under conditions that existed they were disqualified. The Mexican Band was not a union band, but the chairman of the committee came out with a statement in the papers next day after a protest had been made against the first prize going to that band on account of being non-union, saying that a special dispensation had been granted by the American Federation of Musicians giving this band permission to enter the contest.

The Doring's Band, of Troy, N. Y., was allowed to qualify with a march and a gallop. Another surprise was when the Pittsburgh Band was playing in the final, it being the first band to play, and each band to play two selections the chairman of the musical committee shouted in a loud tone of voice so that the judges could hear plainly that the Pittsburgh band would now play "Carmen." This was the only band that such an announcement was made and the members of that band made an awful strong protest about it out to no avail.

The winning bands in class A were Mexican Band 1st prize, $600 with 178 points; 2nd prize, 54th Regiment Band, Rochester, N. Y., $250, 168 points. The points being a possible 180. The winners in class B were Doring's Band, Troy, N. Y., 1st prize, $400, 173 points; 2nd prize, Wheeler & Wilson Band, Bridgeport, Conn., $250, 170 points. Other facts showing that the contest had the appearance of a horse race could be enumerated but space will not be asked for at this time.

W. W. WILEY,
Mgr. Keystone Band.
