A Correction.

In a recent issue of THE STAR it has been made appear that the "acting Burgess" has been guilty of a misdemeanor, by receiving a license fee lower than the minimum, stipulated in borough ordinance, relating to peddling and hawking, within the limits of said borough, and ordinance No. 38 is quoted.
The editor has erred, and it is my desire to have such error corrected, as I know few of our citizens are familiar with the various borough laws, and it is certain that the writer of the above article referred to is very unfamiliar with said laws.

In the first place, ordinance No. 38 refers to the protection of telegraph and telephone poles, and has nothing to do with selling on the streets at all.
I think it was intended to read ordinance No. 28 that being the ordinance quoted. This ordinance does only apply (as the first section says,) to "house to house canvassing," and not to street vendors, as the people may think it does.

The ordinance that refers to street vendors, is ordinance No. 71 which is as follows:

Section 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the Burgess and Town Council of the borough of Reynoldsville, and it is hereby ordained by the authority of said council, that it shall not be lawful for any person or persons, to appear within the limits of the borough of Reynoldsville, as a peddler or lawker, for the purpose of selling, vending, peddling, hawking, or exposing for sale anything whatsoever, without first having prepared a license from the Chief Burgess, and paying therefor a sum not less than $1.00, or more than $50.00 per day for such license.

Section 3. That all ordinances or parts of ordinances, inconsistent herewith be and the same are hereby repealed.

Now if any one will say that ordinance No. 28 has any reference to "street selling or vending," in answer will say, that by virtue of ordinance No. 71, ordinance No. 28 is repealed and therefore not a law.

The same item refers to a "petition to the council to instruct the Burgess." This would be improper, because the Burgess is not subordinate to the council, but rather the reverse is true.
By ordinance No. 71 the Burgess has discretionary power to say $1.00 or $50.00 and there is no dilution of council, or other act, or actions, that will change this power, only by an ordinance enacted.

Respectfully,
J. C. SAYERS.
