We heard a good one the other day on one of our nearby truck farmers. A gas line passes through the corner of his potato patch, and there is also a regulator placed just where the line leaves his grounds near the lence, which is covered with a box. 'he farmer, while heeing potatoes, got tired, as farmers often do, and took a seat on the box. In order to enjoy his rest he put his pipe in his mouth and lit a match. When he regained his feet some four or or five rods below, and faling to find the box which was demolished by the explosion, he exclaimed : "Be dad ! dunno whose patch I have lit in any how."-New Bethlehem Vi ulicator.

Obituary.

Maud E. Crismyre, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Crismyre, was born in Strongstown, Indiana county, Pa., August 23, 1868. She was married at the home of her parents in Lewisburg, Pa., to Rev. Thomas W. Booth on the 18th of July, 1889, the same year of his graduation from Bucknell University. Mr. Booth entered Morgan Park Theological Seminary and graduated in 1892. He received his college preparatory training at the Reid Institute, Reidsburg, Pa. His first pasterate was in Marinett, Wisconsin. He came east and took charge of the Muncy Baptist church, at Muncy, Pa. Later he took charge of the Russell Street Baptist church in Columbus, Ohio. His last pastorate was in Jeannette, Pa. He died of typhoid fever September 9, 1900. In his pastorate he found his wife a true help-mate. Mrs. Booth had been a student in the Bucknell University Institute and later graduated at the Bloomsburg State Normal school and became a teacher in the Lewisburg high school. After the death of her devoted husband she remained a widow until she was united in marriage September 2, 1903, to Dr. W. W. Essick, of Murphysboro, Ill., to which city she with her children immediately removed. While in Murphysboro she made many warm friends who by their many kind acts during sickness and at her death showed their appreciation and regard for her friendship. She died after a lingering illness of several months on Sunday, August 6, 1905.

Her body was shipped from Murphysboro to Reynoldsville to the home of her first husband's father, Rev. Jacob Booth, who had spent a few days at her bedside and was present also at the time of her death and accompanied her remains to his home. Short funeral services were hold on the evening of her death by Rev. W. C. Nicholls, pastor of the Baptist church in Murphysboro. Also funeral services were held at the residence of Rev. Booth conducted by her former pastor, Rev. Dr. A. J. Meek, paster of First Baptist church of Reynoldsville, Pa. She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Sarah J. Crismyre, one brother, Logan Crismyre, two children by her first husband, viz

Walter and Marian Booth. She died in the full triumph of the christian religion. She was conscious to within a few moments of her death. She made all arrangements for her funeral services and burial. Kind friends in Reynoldsville expressed their sympathy in words and by lowers that covered her casket. Her remains were laid at rest in the Leynoldsville

Firemen's Convention.

The Firemen's Convention of northwestern district of Pennsylvania, held at Bradford August 9 to 11, was largely attended and well carried out. Immense throngs packed the streets of the city and the parade was one of the spectacular features. Thursday the visiting firemen were taken to Kinzua bridge and given a banquet at expense of the Bradford company. Next year the convention will be held in Kane. James Delaney was the delegate from Hope Fire Co., of Reynoldsville, and the following members also attended : Reynolds Gibson, Fred Foley, Frank olcy, George Kline, Klaus Robinson,

PROTECTED HOME CIRCLE MEMORIAL SERVICE.

Tribute Paid to the Departed Brothers in Centennial Hall Sunday Afternoon. Notwithstanding the threatening weather and intolerable heat, a large number of people attended the first annual memorial service of Protected Home Circle, No. 317, of Reynoldsville, held in Centennial hall Sunday after-noon, August 13th. Besides the Reynoldsville people there were present many members of the Sykesville circle and a few representatives from DuBois and other places, and the service was honored by the presence of the Hon. A. C. McLeau, of Sharen, Supreme

HON, A. C. McLEAN, Supreme President of the Protected Home Circle.

President of the order. Before the time set for opening the members of the circle, ladies and gentlemen, met in their assembly rooms and from there marched in a body to Centenniai hall. J. K. Womeldurf, past president of the ocal circle, presided.

After the opening ode Dr. J. A. Parsons, of the M. E. church, made invocation and this was followed by the memorial ode. Twice during the ervice a quartette composed of Messrs. John Reddecliff, Albert Strouse, Harvey Deter and Arthur Tyson rendered ap-propriate selections which were appreplated by the audience.

Three times since the organization of the home circle here has the charter been draped in mourning. The first was for Ralph E. McKee, who died in W. Strouse, who was allied near Wishaw in 1904, and the last for William Shobert, a resident of Brookville who died in 1904. In their bonor three vacant chairs draped in black stood upon the rostrum. When the roll of absent was called by Mrs. Luclia Strouse, three little maids dressed in white marched around the aisles and deposited in each of the draped chairs beautiful bouquet of white flowers. it was one of the prettlest incidents of

The eulogy of departed members, delivered by Dr. A. J. Mcck, of the Baptist church, was in keeping with the hallowed character of the service and in the very brief time he allotted himself it would have been difficult to compress more impressive truths or tothe them in words of more feeling elequence. He paid tender and loving tribute to the memories of the departed brothers, giving short life sketches of each, and closed by pointing out the desire and certainty of an immortal brotherhood upon the other shore.

The address of the Supreme President, Mr. McLean, was listened to with deep interest from first to last. He congratulated the local circle upon the evidences of interest in the order he saw manifested and the gratifying growth in numbers. In his address he dwelt on the great work which the fraternal insurance organizations and orders are doing for the relief of the aged, the widows and orphans, and gave many details of the work in his own order speaking with the authority of one high in the councils of the organization. At the close of the service, benediction was pronounced by Dr. J. A. Parsons and the members then marched back to their rooms in the L. O. O. F. hall. Teachers' Examination

HERPEL-KIRK WEDDING.

Popular Young Couple United in Marriage by Rev. W. Frank Reber. Mr. William Frank Herpel and Miss

Ar. William Frank Herpel and Miss Frances Kirk were united in marriage at high noon Wednesday Aug. 9, 1905, at the home of bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Kirk, on East Main street. More than fifty relatives and friends were assembled when the bridal party entered the room to the strain of "Lohengrin," played by Miss Belle Arnold. The room was testefully dec-orated with a bower of palms at one end. Rev. W. Frank Reber, Urbana,

The bride's sister was bridesmald and Mr. Thos. F. Adam groomsman and the Misses Joan and Margaret Nichols flower girls. After the ceremony lunch was served.

Ohio, officiated and the ring ceremony

Mr. and Mrs. Herpel left on the 1:30 car for parts then unknown, amid excentional showers of rice and in a car whose decoration plainly revealed their new marital relation.

Several couples accompanied them to Punxsutawney, where the bridal couple remained until the next day, when they left for Youngstown, Ohio, and other place .

The presents were many, beautiful and useful. The new couple will make their home in Punxsutawney after Sept. 1st, where Mr. Herpel holds a position with the Jefferson and Clearfield Coal and Iron Company.

Franklin and Clearfield Contract Let.

The Pittsburg Gazette of last Sunday says the Ferguson Contracting Com-pany was on Saturday awarded the conpany was on Saturday awarded the con-tract for building the Franklin & Clear-field railroad, at the reputed price of four million dollars. The Gazette says: The work on the Lake Shore line will begin immediately and will be completed in about two years. This is the largest piece of new railroad construction in the state since the building of the Wabash. J. B. Walker, chief engineer of the Ferguson company, yesterday went to Franklin, and will at once make an inspection of the line. The grading will be put to work before the end of the month.

The new road will be about 80 miles the new road will be about to mices in length, and will tap the coal fields of Clarion, Jefferson and Clearfield counties. It will be built up to the Vancerbilt standard, being double-tracked throughout its entire length and provided with the heaviest standard rail. Its building will be of wifficult character. There will be several long bridges one over the Allegheny river at Frank-lin, one across the Ciarion river and several spans over the precipitous banks of Piney creek. There will be three tunnels, each averaging 3.500

An Echo of the Encampment.

In speaking of the recent S. of V. enampment at Reynoldsville, the Brook ville Republican says: "The encamp-ment was originally established at Summerville, where it was successfully carried on in an orderly and praise worthy manner for a number of years, but for the past two years it has been held at Reynoldsville. Conditions at that point have not been satisfactory to the young men who have nursed the encampment through its early days owing to the prevalence of certain elements which tend to make of what was originally intended as a week of open air enjoyment a time of debauching orgies, and the camps from this end of the district have taken a firm stand in their intention to put the escampment back on its original basis, perferring to withdraw from the existing organization and hold their own annual outing, rather than have the field encampment brought into disrepute."

The above is unjustifiably severe Whatever may have been the conduct of a few individuals, the encampment as a whole was above such repreach.

Twilight Game . . A base ball team composed of Royn

A base only team composed of Keyn-oldsville young men went to Brookville Wednesday evening last and played a twilight game with a team of that place. The game was called at end To go on the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburg Ry, excursion to Buffalo and Niagara Falls Sunday, August 20th. Special train will leave Falls Creek at 50 and 5 which has been playing quite frequently the last month and generally coming off victorious, is composed of the following players: Catcher, Holbun: shortstop, Frank Bohren: pitcher, Harry Storm-er; first base and captain, George Woodford; second, Frank Bussard: third, Fred McEntire; left field, John Bohren; center, James Deguan, Right field is usually filled by Jesse Bracy, but in his absence a Brookville boy played it Wednesday.

Turney Grier Nolf Dead.

Mr. T. G. Nolf died at his home in Putneyville, Armstrong Co., Pa., last Sabbath evening and was buried at Eddyville, Tuesday of this week. Mr. Nolf was 45 years of age at the time of his death. He had been alling many years. The direct cause of his death was consumption.

He was a member of the M. E. church, and was well known in this section, having lived in New Bethlehem at one time. He is survived by a widow and three children, one child having pre-ceded him to the spirit vorid.—New Bethlehem Leader.

Mr. Nolf was a brother of Mrs. A. F Yost, of Reynoldsville.

gers of Jefferson county will hold their annual picnic at Wishaw park. It is expected that several state speakers will be present and make addresses It is said that the London mines, near Falls Creek, will soon be worked out and closed. A number of the dwelling houses near the mine owned by the coal company have already been torn down. As a consequence of the extension of the Buffalo & Susquebanna railroad to Plumville, and the proposed entrance into the field of the Rochester & Pitts-burg Coal Co., Plumville, in Indiana ounty, is enjoying a business boom of large proportions. The Buckwheat Reunion held at Goodville, Indiana county, last Thursday, was attended by the usual large crowd, estimated at about 10,000 persons. Among the speakers were Lawyer William Fairman and D. C. Gillespie, of Punxsutawney, and Rev. Kanarr, of Falls Creek.

The farmers near Lock Haven pre-dict that by fall potatoes will bring a dollar per bushel. It is already ap-parent that the crop will be a failure in that section. In many fields the pota-toe vines are either dead or are dying. It seems that they grew nicely until about a week ago, when they suddenly turned black and began to die.—Ex-

The most ambitious of the lighter musical programs ever presented at Chautauqun, New York, will be the Gilbert & Sullivan opera, "The Mikado,"which will be "put on" in the Chautauqua Amphitheater on evenings of August 17th and 19th. At this time in the season the chorus will be very large and will have reached their high-est point of perfection after seven weeks of constant drill. So great are the aud-lences expected that provisions have been made for two performances, and on the evening of the second an illustrated ecture will be provided for the over flow which is even then expected.

Brookville and Mahoning Railroad

Chief Engineer Henshey, of Brookville & Mahoning railroad, says a thousthe grading of the track at once if the right of way can be secured. The road is to run from Brookville to Freeport, where it will connect with the West Penn road, using that road into Pittsburg This road will run from Brookville to Knoxdale, thence to Cool Spring and Pine Run, reaching Mahoning Creek at Eddyville in Armstrong county, and following Mahoning will go through Putneyville and on to the Allegheny river. It will then go on down the river, crossing to the west side at Templeton, by a bridge seventy feet above the bed of the stream. From Templeton it will follow the west side of the river to Freeport.—Brookville Democrat.

No Way to Stop Them.
