

COMMODORE NICHOLSON RECOMMENDS PE-RU-NA

COMMODORE NICHOLSON.

COMMODORE Somerville Nicholson of the United States Navy, in a letter from 1837 R street, Northwest, Washington, D. C., says:

"You Peru-na has been and is now used by so many of my friends and acquaintances as a sure cure for catarrh that I am convinced of its curative qualities and I unhesitatingly recommend it to all persons suffering from that complaint."

Our army and our navy are the natural protectors of our country. Peru-na is the natural protection of the army and navy in the vicissitudes of climate and exposure.

We have on file thousands of testimonials from prominent people in the army and navy.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peru-na, write at once to Dr. S. B. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

Be a Vegetarian.
This is a good time of the year for the average man to remember that he stands no risk of starving if he cuts meat out of his bill of fare altogether.—Chicago News.

FITNESS is the name of the new fitness after the use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer, 331 and 333 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

The guinea was first coined in Charles II's reign.

Japan's Great Inventor.
Dr. Gian Shimose, the chemist-inventor of that wonderful explosive, Shimose powder, used by the Japanese army and navy, was born in the very humblest circumstances in the province of Hiroshima, some 47 years ago, when railways and steamships were practically unknown to the island empire.

Very early Shimose determined to win an education, made his way to the capital, borrowed books to study, and, though often on the verge of starvation, was graduated from the Imperial University with the highest honors.

His first invention was a curious ink, now used in Japan for bank notes. The secret of its composition is absolute and counterfeits are instantly detected.

Recognizing that the powder in use in Japan was extremely unsatisfactory, Shimose turned his attention to the invention of a new powder and spent 11 years in perfecting it, often working entire days and nights in his laboratory.

New Calendar Proposed.
Camille Flammarion, the eminent French astronomer, proposes a new calendar, chief among them that any given date will fall on the same day of the week every year. This year's calendar would be good next year and so on. Yet it is not probable the Flammarion calendar will supplant that now in use. Humanity is conservative. In fact, Russia has not yet abandoned the Cæsarian reckoning for that of Pope Gregory.

HEART RIGHT
When He Quit Coffee.

Life Insurance Companies will not insure a man suffering from heart trouble. The reason is obvious.

This is a serious matter to the husband or father who is solicitous for the future of his dear ones. Often the heart trouble is caused by an unexpected thing, and can be corrected if taken in time and properly treated. A man in Colorado writes:

"I was a great coffee drinker for many years, and was not aware of the injurious effects of the habit till I became a practical invalid, suffering from heart trouble, indigestion and nervousness to an extent that made me wretchedly miserable myself and a nuisance to those who witnessed my sufferings."

"I continued to drink coffee, however, not suspecting that it was the cause of my ill-health, till, on applying for life insurance I was rejected on account of the trouble with my heart. Then I became alarmed. I found that leaving off coffee helped me quickly, so I quit it altogether, and having been attracted by the advertisements of Postum Food Coffee I began its use."

"The change in my condition was remarkable, and it was not long till I was completely cured. All my ailments vanished. My digestion was completely restored, my nervousness disappeared, and, most important of all, my heart steadied down and became normal, and on a second examination I was accepted by the life insurance Co. Quitting coffee and using Postum worked the cure." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason, and it is explained in the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in each pkg.

SLIDES DISPENSED WITH.

New Projecting Apparatus For Illustrating Lectures.

A new form of lantern has recently made its appearance, which differs markedly both in its optical principles and in the results attained from the ordinary projecting apparatus which the lecturer is accustomed to use.

Limited as it is to the utilization of slides only, the ordinary lantern renders it impossible to use directly illustrations from books, sketches, specimens and models. Photographs of these various objects must first be made, and from the negative a lantern slide prepared. Even though the resulting slide may be sharp and clear in every detail, it still presents the defect of presenting its subject in dead black and white tones.

Attempts at coloring, although sometimes successful, are often the cause of many grievous errors on the part of the artist. The apparatus which we are about to describe, and which has been recently introduced by Philadelphia instrument makers, projects on a screen not only the image of a lantern slide, but reflects as well pictures in books, specimens of insects, or other natural objects, mechanical models and the like, and this all in the natural colors of the objects. The lecturer is thus enabled to make use of the countless illustrations in magazines and books, of an innumerable series of color prints, sketches, photographs, and of working models that can be shown in motion on the screen, as well as apparatus for experimenting in chemistry and physics, specimens of plants, flowers and motifs, all in the delicate tints of the originals.

By the use of lenses, diaphragms and mirrors the object is illuminated and reflected on to the screen. By use of an illuminating lens, a cone of light from the condenser is projected upon the object, every part being uniformly illuminated. The lens is used either for spreading the light over the entire object or condensing it upon a small portion when a very brilliant light and special details are desired. When the lens is shifted toward the source of light, the rays are distributed over the entire object; when the lens is drawn toward the object, the beams condense and concentrate on the point desired.—Philadelphia Record.

An Essay on the Cat.
A little English girl wrote the following essay on a cat: "The cat is a square quadruped, has its legs at the four corners. If you want to please this animal you must stroke it on the back. If it is very much pleased it sets up its tail quite stiff, like a ruler, so that your hand cannot get any further. The cat is said to have nine lives, but in this country it seldom needs them all because of Christianity."

Her Qualms.
"Are you entirely satisfied with your alimony?" asked her friend.
"No. Sometimes I am afraid some of it may be tainted. I don't see how he can possibly earn as much legitimately as I am getting."

"If there is any question about it, why don't you accept less, and so enable him to—"

"Mercy sakes! What a silly thing you must think I am!"—Chicago Record-Herald.

FARM TOPICS

A GOOD RATION.
You can make a fairly good cattle ration with twenty pounds of wheat hay, eight pounds of bran and four pounds of meal daily. The carrots will be useful as succulent feed, and the wheat straw may be fed as much as the animals can consume. The carrots and wheat hay together would have perhaps about the same feeding value as ensilage from corn, and the ration may be made to contain ten pounds of the wheat hay and twenty pounds of the chopped carrots.

SELECTING BROOD STOCK.
If one has raised a litter of fine pigs of good breed there are probably several among them that will make good brood cows if properly brought up. The individuals should be carefully watched as they grow, and when the selection is made the pigs should be about five months old. From then on they should be separated from the market stock, and until the end of the season placed on the best grass possible. All females intended for breeding purposes should have less carbonaceous food than that given to those intended for market. From one-half to two-thirds corn is enough in the ration from the time the young sow begins to eat grain.

OAT HAY.
For several years the practice of making a part of the oat crop into hay has been coming into use. On farms where there is a large amount of this grain grown, this method seems to be preferred to letting the entire crop ripen, and then having so much straw to feed or otherwise dispose of.

When the crop is intended for hay it is well to sow a little more thickly in order that the growth of straw may be finer and of better quality.

The crop should be cut about when the grain is in the milk, or a little past, and while the straw is yet green and succulent. The process of curing is about the same as with grass. It may take longer to cure, and can be put in cock if need be. Secured in good condition oats make an excellent feed for cows in milk and young animals.

POPULAR WYANDOTTES.
We believe that some of the troubles of raisers of the White Wyandottes come from improper feeding. While the breed is supposed to be tough and hardy, there is a weakness in them somewhere which demands careful feeding. In an experience of ten years with the breed, we have found they must be uniformly fed at the same hours daily, and that their food must be of the best quality and in considerable quantity.

Handled in this manner they will give satisfactory results and produce eggs in about the same numbers during the year as the Plymouth Rocks, but, with us at least, they do not equal the Leghorns in this respect. On the other hand, there is considerable to the carcass and they are readily fattened for market when desired. In the hands of some poultrymen they are very satisfactory and will probably become more so in the years to come, for they are noticeably better and stronger now than they were ten years ago.—Indianapolis News.

STORING FOOD FOR WINTER.
Any flock of hens which is turning in to its owner less than $1 a hen a year profit ought to be carefully gone over and the drones picked out; then the owner should begin to study himself and his methods of feeding in order to ascertain where his weaknesses are, for quite as much lies in the care and treatment as in the individual hen. It is not intended to convey the idea that one can make a dollar a year profit from each hen and have enormous flocks, for it has been repeatedly demonstrated that the larger the flock the greater the expense attending, and hence the smaller the profit. Make it your business to watch your hens and learn their individual needs.

The advice given by an old poultryman that one try to furnish the same plan of feed for fowls in winter that they find for themselves on the range in the summer is well worth following. Store away root crops and clover hay to furnish the green food; feed moderately of green bone and animal meal or meat scraps, to furnish the substitute for the insects of summer. Furnish the dust box, the grit and the clean, dry quarters, and you will have come pretty close to summer conditions, and eggs will follow. If, under this treatment, the returns are not up to the mark, then it will be evident that the trouble is with the fowls and a new lot should be bought.—Indianapolis News.

His Sunday at Home.
An Atchison man who was compelled to spend yesterday at home because of the rain had neglected to lay in a supply of newspapers, and had to fall back upon his wife's kind of reading matter to kill time. At 11 o'clock he picked up her favorite. When she called him to dinner at 1 o'clock she noticed a wild glare in his eyes. He ate in silence, putting olive oil in his coffee and sugar on his cucumbers, but still she suspected nothing. He returned to his reading after dinner, and at 4, when she was sitting in a chair near him reading "The Dreams of Gladys," and thinking how lovely it was to have a rainy Sunday and her husband all to herself, giving him opportunity to read what she liked and to discuss it with her afterward, he suddenly gave a loud yell, threw down the book, grabbed her by the hair and tried to cut her throat with a hairbrush. The man had read her favorite novel through and had gone mad. It required five neighbor men to hold him all night, but this morning he was some quieter. He has had a violent attack only once to-day, and that was when his eyes, wandering around the room, fell upon some of his wife's favorite literature on the side table. It was necessary upon this occasion to give him morphine.—Atchison Globe.

The Jonah Woman.
Street car conductors regard inquisitive women passengers with superstitious dread. The other day a fuse blew out in a Broadway car and that car was hitched on as a trailer to the one ahead. Presently a woman began to ask questions.

"What would happen," she said, "if the fuse were to blow out in that car ahead? What would become of us? Would the car ahead of that be able to drag both these cars?"

"I don't know," said the conductor. "But don't worry. We won't have a chance to find out. A double accident of that kind has never happened to a car of mine yet, and it isn't likely to happen once in a hundred years."

Just then there was an explosion ahead and both cars came to a standstill. The fuse had blown out.

"Confound that woman," growled the conductor. "That is all her fault. This wouldn't have happened if she hadn't asked so many fool questions. She's a Jonah!"—New York Press.

Still Useful.
"Since you have installed dynamite guns to check tornadoes and whirlwinds," said the Eastern man, "I suppose you have no further use for your cyclone cellar."

"Yess, stranger," drawled the Kansas farmer, "them cyclone cellars is mighty useful sometimes. Here! Here! Look at that cloud on the horizon! Run for th' cellar!"

Grasping the Eastern man by the arm he whirled him off on the run for that refuge, and battened down the door just as a rumbling sound as of earthquakes filled the air.

"Was that a cyclone?" asked the Easterner, wonderingly.

"Wuss, far wuss, stranger!" said the Kansas. "That was Cholly de Chump, in his 200 H. P. automobile trying to cut down th' record run between N' York and Frisco to ten days, twenty minutes and four and a half seconds."

While a small engine weighing fifteen tons, used by the railway contractors, was crossing the Victoria Falls bridge just after nightfall it ran over something on the line, says South Africa. The driver pulled up to ascertain the nature of the obstacle, and was considerably surprised to find an enormous leopard lying terribly injured between the rails. The brute expired in a few moments. It measured eight feet in length, and a marvelous feature of the incident is that the engine was not derailed.

In an address delivered before the Section of Anthropology of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, Mr. E. L. Blackshear maintains the proposition that the security of islands, peninsulas and bays along most of the coast line of continental Africa has directly exerted a profound influence on the character of the inhabitants of Africa, by isolating them from all the great world movements of history. Deprived of the stimulus of commercial and maritime influences, they have remained stationary and dormant with regard to the organic life of the human species.

The Maintenance of Way forces of the Erie are now engaged in laying 350 miles of ninety-pound steel rails on the main track. A larger mileage has never been laid in any one year before. The Erie has always been noted for its good track, and the management finds that it is necessary to use a heavier rail on account of the weight of the several hundred new engines that have been purchased in the last two years. Much of the rail being removed has only been in track four or five years and will be used on branch lines.

Baby Covered With Sores and Scalded—Could Not Tell What She Looked Like—Marvelous Cure by Cuticura.

"At four months old my baby's face and body were so covered with sores and large scabs you could not tell what she looked like. No child ever had a worse case. Her face was being eaten away, and even her finger nails fell off. It itched so she could not sleep, and for many weary nights we could get no rest. At last we got Cuticura Soap and Ointment. The Sun's Heat.
"The sun's heat," said the astronomer, "Well, let us say that the value of the sun's heat is $25,000,000. Now, what proportion of all that value do you suppose warms the earth? Only two cent's worth."

"All the rest of the sun's heat is wasted in space. Of the $25,000,000 the earth only gets two cents."

"With coal I can give you another idea of the sun's heat. Suppose that the earth was to contract to heat the sun. Do you know what the result would be? All the coal upon this earth would suffice to maintain the present solar heat for the one-tenth of a second."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Marvelous Cures are Reported from all parts of the country by women who have been cured of treated nurses who have witnessed cures and physicians who have recognized the virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and are far enough to give credit where it is due.

If physicians dared to be frank and open, hundreds of them would acknowledge that they constantly prescribe Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in severe cases of female ills, as they know by experience it can be relied upon to effect a cure. The following letter proves it.

Dr. S. C. Brigham, of 4 Brigham Park, Fitchburg, Mass., writes:

"It gives me great pleasure to say that I have found Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound very efficacious, and often prescribed it in my practice for female difficulties."

"My oldest daughter found it very beneficial for uterine trouble some time ago, and my youngest daughter is suffering from female weakness, and is surely gaining in health and strength."

"I freely advocate it as a most reliable specific in all diseases to which women are subject, and give it honest endorsement."

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular menstruation, bloating (or flatulence), leucorrhoea, falling in, inflammation or ulceration of the uterus ovarian troubles, that bearing-down feeling, dizziness, faintness, indigestion, nervous prostration or the blues, should take immediate action to ward off the serious consequences, and be restored to perfect health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and then write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., for further free advice. No living person has had the benefit of a wider experience in treating female ills. She has guided thousands to health. Every suffering woman should ask and follow her advice if she wants to be strong and well.
