Stone House Almost as Cheap as Wood

It is now quite possible to have the exterior of a house built of stone at a price not much greater than the cost of clapboards or shingles. This condition of things has come about through the development of the cement industry in this country. Given reasonable access to a transportation line and a sand bank, and the possibility of a stone house is yours. One part of cement, two or three parts of sand and four to seven parts of gravel or broken stone mixed together with enough water to make a paste will produce a stone that is next to granite in hardness and strength, not affected by fire, as are marbles and limestones, and much less susceptible to injury by frost than sandstone.-Country Life In America.

A SERVANT PROBLEM.

Ready to Call a Halt. A ludy recently called at the house of a friend, who answered in person the ring at the door. With careworn expression and flurrled manner she applogized for the confusion that apparently reigned in the house, saying:

"My parlor maid is upstairs ill-not ill enough to go to the hospital, too ill to work, too far from home to go there, yet needing attention from me. My waltress is having a fit of the sulks, and I have sent her out to do an errand and get some fresh air. The cook is just now not on speaking terms with her husband, the concirman, and is seeking a divorce, so that one or the other must The footman came home drunk last night and had to be discharged this morning. My house is at sixes and sevens, my husband lunched downtown, my mother has taken the children and the nursery maid home with her, guests arrive this evening, and I have spent the day in a vain search for help in the house. I belong to a club studying household economies and have allowed it to turn a searchlight on all my household affairs in the interests of society at large, I am now ready to call a halt, to refuse to have my domestic arrangements considered a hunting ground for theorists, to pronounce all such clubs vain mockeries snares and delusions, inventions of the enemy for squandering time and show ing the bitter contrast between abstract theory and concrete reality. The only club I am interested in must provide on tap maids who never get ill or sulky, cooks without a temper and coachmen and footmen of unimpeach able habits."-Lucy M. Salmon in At-

The Samakuir.

There are weather prophets and weather prophets, but there is a stone which it is asserted unfailingly foretells changes in the weather. This stone was found in Finland many years ago by an explorer and has been watched by scientists with great interest. It is known as the samakuir and presents a white mottled appearance in sunshine, gradually turning from gray to black as a rainstorm approaches. The samakuir is made up of clay, niter and rock salt. In dry weather the salt in the stone is prominent, but when the air is filled with moisture the salt absorbs the moisture and turns black thus acting as a barometer.

The word "callco" has a queer origin

Many centuries ago the first monarch of the province of Malabar, in Hindu stan, gave to one of his chiefs as a reward for distinguished services his sword and all the land within the limit of which a cock crowing at a certain temple could be heard. From this cirengistance the !!!!le town which grew up in the center of this territory was called Calicoda, or "The Cock Crow ing."
