EXPLOSION KILLS MINERS

Workmen's Lives Suddenly Cut Off-Some Escape.

DEAD TERRIBLY MUTILATED

Parts of the Mine Were Badly Wrecked and the Property Damage Will Be Great.

The death list resulting from the explosion in the Paral mine of the Stuart Colliery Company in Fayette county, W. Va., will not be as large as was first feared. Six dend bodies have been recovered, 12 were rescued alive and 12 more are still in the mine. The latter, no doubt, have succumbed to the gas and foul air which filled the mine for hour after the explosion, and all hope of finding any of the alive has been

The men rescued are: F. Z. Fitz gould, John Kimball, Robert Pratt. Ervin Riggs, Rodman Opineki, F. Zark, Robert Gill, Donald Bell, Juje Neal, colored, Charles Matthews colored; Herbert Calloway, colored;

The dead taken out are: George Morris, Ike Spears, Hans Covia, Joseph Hunter, Joseph Lumley, one undientified.

All the dead were found east of the air shaft, where the force of the explosion seems to have been the most severely felt. William Morris gigantic negro, was found with his body cut in two, the upper and lower parts being 100 yards apart. The other dead who have been found were all terribly mutilated, but were little burned and easily recognized.

Parts of the mine are badly wrecked and the property damage will be The Stuart Colliery Company is one of the few companies operating shaft mines in this field. average depth of the mine in which the explosion occurred is about 700

DUN'S WEEKLY SUMMARY

Rush for Structural Shapes Has Quieted Down, But Wholesome Conditions Continue.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s "Weekly Review of Trade" says: Distribution of heavyweight wearing apparel, fuel and other seasonable merchandise expanded rapidly in response to the more normal temperature, but one week's business has not depleted the accumulation of last month and retail stocks of these goods are still burdensome. Reports are much more satisfactory, however, and an impetus has been given to wholesale trade in spring dry goods and other forward business depending upon confidence in continued National prosperity.

Jobbing returns and manufacturing statements indicate fittle idle capacity, the leading industrial plants having added to their already neavy contracts on hand. Mercantile collections are prompt as a rule although some extensions are asked. Commodity prices are fairly steady no important variations occurring during the past week.

The only adverse development of the week was the less pacific news from the coal fields, although strike may be prevented by agree ment any time before April I. way earnings for January, now fairly complete show an increase of 16.6 per cent, over last year's figures, while foreign commerce at New York last week made a most strikingly favorable comparison with the same period in 1905, exports gaining $6,890,698, while imports increased $2,275,039 Less urgency to place orders for iron and steel products during the past week is a satisfactory development because it testifies to the abmight easily produce unwholesome found. inflation of prices. Yet the past week was by no means devoid of new inquiries, particularly in regard to structural steel for lake vessel and manufacturing plants. Seasonably poor quality of hides has weakened the tone, the only firm department being packer branded hides for sole leather. New business in boots and shoes is quiet.

Failures numbered 229 in the onited States, against 256 last year, and 29 in Canada, with 27 a year ago.

TOWN NEARLY WIPED OUT

Business Section of Littleton, W Va., Is Visited by a Destructive Fire.

Fire broke out in the business section of Littleton, W. Va., an oil town of about 1,600 inhabitants in the morning, and was not under control until late in the evening. Both the Mannigton and Cameron fire departments were at the scene. The fire destroyed the following buildings: A. M. Crow's store, five dwellings, Baltimore & Ohlo depot, Exchange bank. Methodist Episcopal church. Odd Fellows' hall, Commercial hotel, postoffice, Bank of Littleton, Anderson hotel. Christian church, Keffer's hotel, Bell Telephone Company's exchange, three stores and 10 dwellings.

Several buildings in the path of the flames were dynamited, but on account of a strong wind the fire leaped across the track of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad and consumed all the buildings on the east side.

There was practically no insurance on the burned buildings, as the insurance companies refused to assame the risk. The loss is estimated at $200,000. No lives have been reported lost.
