R. crossing, but the council of that borough never took action in the matter until at the regular meeting held on Monday night of last week, when it was decided to bond the borough for the purpose of paving that portion of Pike street, providing the voters of the borough would vote favorably at a special election necessary for bonding borough. A committee was appointed to see the borough solicitor about arranging for the special election. This committee will report at a special meeting to be held next Monday evening.

Six Months to Workhouse.

J. B. Jones, a jeweler of Falls Creek, who was arrested last December on charge of stealing a hog from John H. Burtop, a Beechwoods farmer, was tried in the county court at Brookville this week, was found guilty and sentenced to six months in the workhouse. Mr. Burtop had killed the porker and hung it out to freeze and soon after dark the hog disappeared. That night Jones arrived at his home in Falls Creek about midnight with a boneless hog in a sack. An officer was waiting for his arrival. The next day the bones were found in the woods not far from Mr. Burtop's. Jones said he bought the hog from a huckster. A number of Beechwoods people were at court, some as witnesses and others just to hear the case tried.

Exciting Runaway.

J. D. Woodring & Son, grocery men of West Reynoldsville, own a spirited team of little bay horses that is driven by Charles Young, Jr. Last Friday Charles was at the B. & P. freight station with the team and was unloading some freight out of car into wagon when another wagon collided with the Woodring wagon and startled the bay nags and they started up Fourth street at a speed far exceeding the ordinance limit. In trying to turn the corner from Fourth to Main street one of the horses fell down and slid clear across Main street and the other horse fell near the curb. Both horses were injured some, but not seriously, and the wagon was not damaged. Had the horses not fallen down they would have dashed into the front of the Star Grocery store, as they were running so fast that they could not have turned the corner enough to have cleared the store front nor could they have stopped in time to prevent the crash.

Sam'l E. Barton Dead.

Samuel E. Barton, who was a partner with C. R. Hall in the hardware business at Reynoldsville six or seven years ago, died at the Commercial Hotel in Brookville at 12:45 p. m. Friday, April 6, 1906. Acute indigestion was cause of his death. The body was moved to residence of G. H. Kennedy, father-in-law of deceased, where funeral service was held Sunday afternoon, conducted by Dr. James Conway, pastor of the Brookville Presbyterian church. The Knights of Pythias had charge of the funeral. A number of B. P. O. Elks also attended the funeral. Interment was made in Brookville cemetery. Deceased is survived by one daughter, Sara, two brothers and two sisters, E. V. Barton, of Pittsburg, Harry Barton, of Patton, Mrs. H. Eugene Phillips, of Reynoldsville, and Mrs. Will Heidrick, of East Brady.

An Artist in His Line.

The Redpath Lyceum Bureau announcement of Prof. Edward P. Elliott, in his masterpieces of modern comedy, says: "Mr. Elliott interprets or delineates a story or play. It is not read nor recited but acted out. Literally it means impersonation, but Mr. Elliott's subtle work lifts it far above that much used and much abused term. It is impossible to describe Mr. Elliott's performance. It is a remarkable personality given full play and the whole stage. It appeals to your imagination, your sympathy and creates an admiration and love for the picturesque in literature and life and all the while it is an entertainment." Prof. Elliott will give a recital in Assembly hall Monday evening, April 23rd.

In the Spring.

And now the good house wife's thoughts turn to something to make her home look cozy for the summer. What shall it be? A side board, buffet, dining room table, or a set of dining chairs, a beautiful rug, a piece of Brussels, Axminster velvet, or Ingrain carpet, an easy rocker, genuine leather couch, or a piece of linoleum and a kitchen cabinet for the kitchen; Or a refrigerator. We only sell the Best Refrigerator made—those of the White Mountain which are second to none in the market. We had a tremendous trade on refrigerators, mainly because we sell better refrigerators than can be found any where in the city for less money. If you are ready to look at them we are ready to show you through our line. Reynoldsville Hardware Co.

Thoroughbred Pup.

Wm. E. Reed and James Paul, of Reynoldsville, were visitors at Barnesboro last week and spent a very enjoyable time among their large circle of acquaintances there, but unfortunately, owing to the fact that they had not taken the precaution to take along their mud boots, they did not feel kindly inclined to the precarious condition of Barnesboro streets. Mr. Reed had presented to him a thoroughbred English bull and Great Dane female pup by C. J. Wood, former proprietor of the Barnesboro Inn. The pup is bred from the celebrated Great Dane "Lion" and the English bull "Jester." It required the assistance of Wm. Booker to carry the dog around in his arms, which he fondly did.

Committees Appointed.

The president of town council appointed following committees: Street—J. V. Young, Jacob Deibie and E. S. Hoffman. Sewer—George Hughes, Dr. J. B. Neale and Dr. J. C. Kling. Millinery Opening.

Fine display of New York and Philadelphia patterns at Flo Best's on Thursday, April 12th.

Robert J. Burdette, the noted humorist, bids us remember that the good things in the world are always cheapest. Spring water costs much less than whiskey; a box of cigars will buy two or three Bibles; a state election costs more than a revival of religion; you can sleep in church every Sunday morning for nothing, but a nap in a Pullman car costs you $2 every time; the circus takes 50 cents, the theatre a dollar, but the missionary box is grateful for a penny; the race horse scoops in $2,000 the first day, while the church bazaar lasts a week, works about 25 or 30 of the best women in America nearly to death, and comes out $40 in debt.—Ex.
