Paint "Mixed on the Premises"

The best architects always specify: "Pure White Lead and Pure Linseed Oil in original be mixed sizes." There are two reasons first, to make sure no substitute is used in the place of Pure White Lead; and second, that the paint shall be mixed to suit the particular wood and the climatic conditions of the locality.

If architects with scientific knowledge and professional reputation are so careful to make sure that only the best materials shall be used, is it not quite as incumbent on the house owner to do as much for himself, when not employing professional aid?

Painters of reputation never quarrel with these specifications, because they realize the materials called for are necessary to a satisfactory job. If a painter is conscientious, he will of his own accord use nothing but White Lead which is known to be pure. The standard is

STERLING Pure White Lead
