Mrs. Eliza McCright, of DuBois, who attended the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Smith fifty-four years ago, also attended the picnic. David Reynolds and Prof. W. L. Ribs Fractured.

J. J. Sutter had a narrow escape a few days ago from serious injury, if not sudden death. Teams were hauling dirt to fill in the new driveway into the Reynoldsville Cemetery and the dumplock on one of the heavy dump wagons would not work and Mr. Sutter got on the wagon to see if he could make it work. When it did work Mr. Sutter was thrown ten feet over the embankment and heavy wagon would have fallen on top of him and crushed him had it not been that one end of the board that was used for seat on wagon stuck in ground and prevented wagon from falling on him. It was a miraculous escape. Mr. Sutter had several ribs fractured.

PASSED OVER THE RIVER.

Miss Mary M. Johnston Died July 1st at Home of W. L. Johnston in West Reynoldsville.

Miss Mary M. Johnston died at the home of her brother, W. L. Johnston, in West Reynoldsville, at 5.30 Sunday evening, July 1, 1906, after an illness of several weeks. "Aunt Mary," as she was familiarly known, was born at Leatherwood, Clarion Co., Pa., and was about 73 years old. In 1891 she moved to Reynoldsville with her brother's family, with whom she had made her home and with whom she was living at the time of her death. "Aunt Mary" was a consistent member of the Presbyterian church for over fifty years. She was intelligent, had a splendid memory and was a good conversationalist.

She is survived by her brother, W. L. Johnston, and two sisters, Mrs. J. D. Henry, of Piollet, Pa., and Mrs. N. A. Baird, of Brinkerton, Pa., who, with numerous other relatives and friends, mourn her death.

Short funeral services were held at the home of W. L. Johnston Tuesday, July 3, at 2.30 p. m., conducted by Rev. A. D. McKay, pastor of the Reynoldsville Presbyterian church, of which the deceased was a member at the time of her death. The floral tributes were beautiful.

Linn Baird, of Brinkerton, Ross Krotzer, of Fairmount, Pa., Mrs. Sarah Evans, of Brookville, A. L. Johnston and wife, of Akron, O. E. P. Johnston, of Corsica, Mrs. T. G. Johnston, of Strattonville, and Miss Priscilla Wilson, of DuBois.

The verses were written by Rev. F. P. Britt, pastor of the Pisgah Presbyterian church at Corsica, who had known the deceased 29 years.

All through her life God's trusting child,
Sincere, meek, loving, gentle, mild,
She won from all the purest praise,
Good will was hers toward all she knew;
Good works her hands were prompt to do,
To God's good Book in purpose true
Peace crown'd at last her useful days.

Content what'er her life or lot,
She served the Lord and murmured not;
In Him her soul was satisfied,
By Him, great Shepherd, daily led
In pastures green and richly fed,
'Twas her delight His ways to tread
And lovingly in Him abide.

Oh, Mary dwells with God to-day,
Her hills and cares all passed away,
All Heaven's rich, rich gifts to share,
In Jesus sweetly fallen asleep,
God's angels constant vigils keep,
Why should you, then, why should you weep?
Make sure to meet her over there.
