WILLIAM H. COAX DEAD.
Died in Hospital From Injuries Received on Railroad.

William H. Coax, who was well known in this place, was so badly injured on the P. A. & M. railroad in Allegheny City at 10.00 p. m. Thursday, August 30, 1906, that he died in the St. Johns Hospital at 7.30 a. m. Friday. Will was a brakeman on the railroad and had stepped in front of a moving car he did not see or hear coming. His brother, George Coax, was conductor of crew that Will worked with. After he was run down by the car he was sent to the St. Johns hospital, but his injuries were not considered dangerous and his family was not notified, his brother continued his work. At the hour stated above he expired.

Short funeral service was held at home of his mother, Mrs. Nancy Coax, 1316 Federal st., Allegheny City, Saturday evening and the body was brought to Sandy Valley Sunday and funeral services were held in the M. E. church at that place at 3.00 p. m. Sunday, conducted by Rev. J. A. Parsons, pastor First M. E. church of Reynoldsville. Interment was made in the Epworth cemetery at Sandy Valley.

He was the son of Squire John T. and Nancy Coax, who resided at "Valley Home," near Reynoldsville for many years. His father died several years ago. He is survived by his wife, mother, four brothers and seven sisters.

AN AGED LADY GONE.
Mrs. Eliza Brooks Died Yesterday—Funeral Service To-Morrow Evening.

Mrs. Eliza Brooks, one of the oldest ladies in Reynoldsville, died at her home on Grant street at 3.00 p. m. Tuesday, Sept. 4, 1906. Deceased moved with her husband, John Brooks, and two daughters to Reynoldsville ten years ago. Mr. Brooks fell down stairs three years ago and injured her side badly, from which she never fully recovered. She had almost entirely lost her eyesight and hearing. She had been in bed six weeks.

Mrs. Brooks was born at Lamont, Centre county, Pa., February 18, 1824, and was in her 83rd year. When 21 years old she joined the Presbyterian church and was ever after a consistent christian, although unable to attend church for some years on account of poor health. Mrs. Brooks is survived by three daughters, Mrs. E. S. Hoover, of DuBois, Misses Doshia and Edith Brooks, at home, one brother and a sister in the west.

Funeral service will be held at the family residence on Grant street at 7.30 p. m. Thursday, conducted by Rev. A. D. McKay, and on Friday the body will be taken to Milroy, Millin county, for interment. The funeral party will leave here on the 5.50 a. m. trolley and go via Punxsutawney and Bellwood.

It was a Good Opportunity.
Prof. C. J. Scott, principal of our public schools, was offered the principalship of the Uniontown grammar school for one term at a good salary, with good assurance that next year he would be elected superintendent of the schools of that city at a salary of $1,800 per year, but on account of promising to accept the principalship of the Reynoldsville schools for another year, and the school board of this place refused to release him. Prof. Scott lost an opportunity for rapid promotion, perhaps the opportunity of a life time, and declined the proposition from Uniontown that he might keep his word with our school board. We understand the Uniontown proposition came before Prof. Scott had signed the agreement with the Reynoldsville school board, but he had promised to accept this position and he considered his promise as binding as his signature. In a sense no man deserves credit for being honorable, as it is nothing more than right that a man should hold sacred his word and honor, yet amidst the selfishness, greed and dishonorableness that stalks abroad in this day and generation, a man deserves credit and praise for making a big sacrifice that he may keep a promise made to his fellow men.

Card of Thanks.
We hereby express our gratitude to friends and neighbors who were so kind during illness and after death of father, and to Carpenters Association, Pocahontas Degree, and to all who contributed flowers or assisted in any way, we are very thankful.

MATTHEW COCHRAN DEAD.
Cancer of the Stomach Was Cause of His Death—Buried Saturday.

Matthew Yohe Cochran died at his late residence on Worth street, Reynoldsville, August 30, 1906, at 6.00 a. m. Deceased was the son of the late Isaac C. Cochran. He was born near Punxsutawney, Pa., Jan. 5, 1850. He was one of eight children, all of whom have lived to manhood and womanhood, and the first to pass over the dark river of death. He was married July 15, 1874, to Miss Susannah Staley, of Reynoldsville, where he made his home until his death. He was the father of six children, four sons and two daughters, all of whom are grown up. Mr. Cochran was a carpenter by trade, having learned his trade under Azel Elder, with whom he worked several years. Later he was in the employ of Contractor J. V. Young for several years.

On August 20th, 1903, he fell from a house upon which he was working and sustained severe injury. Soon disease preyed upon him, which developed into cancer of the stomach. He sought relief in a hospital in Pittsburg, where he underwent a severe and critical operation. The operation was performed Sept. 1, 1905, just one year to the day of his burial. He bore his suffering patiently and realized that his death was only a matter of time. He passed peacefully away, leaving his aged mother, devoted wife, six children and eleven grand children, two brothers and three sisters to mourn his departure. Mr. Cochran was well known in this place and had many friends.

Funeral services were held at his late residence on Saturday, Sept. 1, at 2.00 p. m., conducted by Dr. A. J. Meek, assisted by Dr. J. A. Parsons. Interment was made in the Reynoldsville cemetery. The floral tributes were beautiful. The surviving sons and daughters of deceased are: Mrs. Alberta Dunlap, Mrs. Cora Deming and Clarence Cochran, of Reynoldsville, Albert Cochran, of Pittsburg, Charlie Cochran, of Pardus, and Eugene Cochran, of Brookville.

He was carried into the house and soon after expired.

MRS. LUTHER M. WEITZEL DEAD.
Buried in the Reynoldsville Cemetery at Noon Last Saturday.

Mention was made in THE STAR last week that Mrs. L. M. Weitzel, sister of editor of this paper, had died at her home at Iselin, Indiana Co., Pa., at 8.00 p. m. Tuesday, August 28, 1906. She had been ill about eight weeks with stomach trouble, but heart trouble was immediate cause of her death. On day of her death she seemed brighter, stronger and better than she had been for several weeks, giving her husband, aged mother, the nurses and doctors hope that she might get better. It was about eight o'clock when she made some request of the night nurse, then drew a long breath and the silken thread of life was suddenly broken and her spirit winged its flight to the Eternal Land. Her departure was calm and peaceful, silent as a dew drop falling.

Josephine M. Stephenson was born in Reynoldsville August 16, 1873, and was 33 years and 12 days old at time of death. She was the daughter of Josiah A. and Elizabeth Stephenson. Father died over twenty-four years ago. She spent her girlhood days here and attended the public schools of West Reynoldsville and Reynoldsville. Early in life she united with the Methodist Episcopal Church and about six years ago transferred her membership to the Christian church at Glen Campbell, with her husband. May 22, 1895, was united in marriage to Luther M. Weitzel in this place. Unto them two children were born, son and daughter, Karl and Elizabeth. In March 1902, at age of nine months Elizabeth died.

Funeral service was held at family residence in Iselin at 8.00 p. m. Friday, conducted by Rev. Perry, Christian minister of Indiana, assisted by Rev. Hutchinson, Presbyterian minister of Elders Ridge. At 7.00 a. m. Saturday morning the funeral party left Iselin in a special car. At Punxsutawney a number of masons met the party and transferred the casket to a special trolley car that was waiting to bring the body and relatives to Reynoldsville. Interment was made in the Reynoldsville cemetery beside father and two sisters of Mrs. Weitzel. Dr. J. A. Parsons made a short prayer at the cemetery. The floral tributes were beautiful.

Josephine is survived by her husband, son, Karl, aged mother, three brothers and four sisters. She was a devoted wife and mother, a loving daughter and sister, and a kind neighbor.

SCHOOLMATES OF LONG AGO
Hold a Reunion near the Dennison School House in Beechwoods.

The reunion of the former teachers and pupils of the Dennison school in the Beechwoods Wednesday, August 29th, proved a most delightful occasion. The day was all that could be desired and many hundred pupils, teachers and friends gathered in J. A. Ross' grove. The Brookwayville brass band was there, and two male quartettes also rendered a number of selections on the program. The speakers present by arrangement were: Rev. G. H. Hill, W. C. Smith, Rev. R. H. Howe, Dr. W. J. McKnight, W. B. Ross and John McMurray and they gave a very interesting account of the early history of the school. But by far the most enjoyable part of the reunion was the reminiscent spirit that prompted every old pupil to add to the happiness of the day by a tale of personal experience.

The Dennison school has been in existence since the year 1836, when the first building, a small log structure, was erected by the pioneers of that region. In the 40's another round log building, was built and in 1850 the third school house, a frame structure, was erected. This was used until recent years, but now the school has been removed to a building near the Morrison homestead. The "alumni" of the famous old Dennison school includes men and women whose hair has long been silvered by time, but on this glad day they were all young again—living in the memory of days gone by.
