

New York City.—Such a shirt waist as this one is very generally becoming and is particularly well liked for flannels and other materials of colder weather although it can be utilized for washable ones with perfect success. The yoke is cut on becoming lines and the plain back and White Felt Hats.

Very natty are the outing hats of fine white felt with band of plain white or white with a narrow line of black at each edge.

Long Dog Skin Gloves.
Isn't it a curious whim of Dame Fashion that she should ask us to wear long dog skin gloves on the street with thin dresses? Yet they are really the new and quite the correct thing.

Long Black Silk Coat Again.
They are going to wear a separate outer coat this year and this brings in the long, loose, black silk coat, which is going to be very fashionable. It should not be so loose that it hides the figure, nor should it be so tight as to draw, but it can be somewhat fitted at the back and sides and the front need not be quite perfectly straight.

Nine-Gored Corselet Skirt.
This latest variation of the corselet skirt is an exceedingly attractive and desirable one that is suited to a great many materials and a great many figures. In the illustration it is made of taffeta with trimming of banding and is stitched with beading silk, but it is quite appropriate for the favorite veiling and also for the linen, both white and colored, that is so general worn throughout the warm weather. Again, it is adapted both to the coat suit and to the separate skirt that is to be worn with lingerie blouses. The yoke effect is a novel one and in addition to its attractiveness gives needed strength to the up-tucked fronts combine most satisfactorily, while the box plait at the front gives the unbroken line that is always desirable at that point. The sleeves are quite novel with deep cuffs that are tucked diagonally and closed by means of ornamental buttons and loops. In this case dark red French flannel is stitched with beading silk and made over the fitted lining, but all the season's waistings are appropriate and the lining can be used or omitted as individual preference may decide.

The waist consists of the lining, which is closed at the centre front, the plain back, the tucked fronts and the yoke. The box plait is quite separate and is attached to the right front edge, the closing being made by means of buttons and button-holes worked through the centre. The sleeves are the favorite ones of the season that are full above the cuffs and there is a regulation stock at the neck that can be worn with the little embroidered turn over, as illustrated, or left plain as preferred.

The quantity of material required for the medium size is four yards twenty-one, three and one-fourth yards twenty-seven or two yards forty-four inches wide.

Transparent Stone Jewels.

Emeralds, sapphires, onyxes, rubies, and all the transparent stones are great successes used with the diamond. Even such stones as the opal and turquoise are now arranged so well together that the effect is not at all bizarre or inconsistent.

Skirts to Be Killed.

A great many of the skirts in the fall will be killed. So common will they be that one buyer told me "all skirts are to be killed."

Silk Linens Dressy.

Silk linens make up very handsomely and are dressy.

per portion of the skirt while the box plaits at the front give the long unbroken lines.

The skirt is made in nine gores and over the side and back gores the yoke portions are applied, the lower edges being trimmed with braid. The closing is made invisible at the back. When desired the skirt can be cut off in walking length, so rendering it suited to the street.

The quantity of material required for the medium size is twelve and one-fourth yards twenty-seven or seven yards forty-four, or fifty-two inches wide if material has figure or nap; eight yards twenty-seven, five yards forty-four or four and three-fourths yards fifty-two inches wide if it has not with seventeen yards of braid to trim as illustrated.

FEMININE NEWS NOTES.

Bernhardt is now a chevalier of the Legion of Honor.

Cleveland is to have a high school to train girls for wifehood.

Lady Campbell-Bannerman, wife of the British Premier, died at Marfenbad after a long illness.

From a business point of view there is nothing so fatal for a woman to possess as "accomplishments."

Among the white races, more than seven-tenths of religion is confined to women. Yet the men run things.

Mrs. Grover Cleveland, wife of the former President, walked up Mount Washington, N. H., recently with a party of friends.

Lady Laurier has the distinction of being the only woman who has delivered a speech in the Canadian House of Parliament.

For the fourteenth time the Legislative Council of Victoria to-day rejected the proposal to confer the right of suffrage on women.

Miss Kate Sanborn, one of the pioneer reclaimers of abandoned farms, has published an interesting and unique illustrated book on old-fashioned wall papers.

Mrs. E. H. Conger, wife of a former Ambassador to this country, recently sold to a Chicago man, for $7000, a rug for which she paid $90 when with her husband in Pekin.

Mme. Flammarion, the distinguished wife of her equally distinguished husband-astronomer, never allows any one to cut her husband's hair but herself, and she uses the shorn locks for pillows.

Miss Lucile Dauvois, now of Brussels, Belgium, who won many prizes in the New York Herald's Juvenile League for her drawings, has just taken the first prize with the highest distinction for the violin in the Royal Conservatory of Music in Brussels.

The true moral is that of Solomon: "Who maketh haste to be rich shall not be innocent." If Mr. Rockefeller is confident that he has made all his money by the practice of those principles which he professes, suggests the New York Times, he can entirely afford to let the barkings of the yellow journalists and the yellow magicians, and even the yellow clergy men, pass by him as the idle wind which he regards not. But if he has any doubt on that crucial point, then he is necessarily "hurt," and his hurt is of a kind and degree to compensate for the absence of purely legal pains and penalties. The yellow persecutor, of whatever class, should be somewhat assuaged by that consideration.

ECONOMICAL.

Daisy—"Well, Ethel, do you think that two can live as cheaply as one?" Ethel—"O, much cheaper! since I married John it hasn't cost mother or me a cent."—Comic Cuts.

THE NATIONAL GAME.

The Boston American Club has secured Milwaukee's star pitcher, Oberlin.

The new St. Louis shortstop, Forrest Crawford, has a splendid throwing arm.

Cincinnati is believed to have a mortgage on pitcher Del Mason, of Baltimore.

The Pittsburgh Club has purchased catcher Shaw from the Louisville Club.

Falkenberg has pitched many grand games for the Washingtons this season.

The St. Louis National Club announces the purchase of outfielder Kelley from the Baltimore Club for next season.

Beaumont, of the Pirates, who last year had a good record as a base purloiner, has done but little stealing this year.

The Chicago Nationals have purchased pitchers Chenault and Purdue, of the Vincennes team; also catcher Seabaugh.

Jack Taylor has not as yet succeeded in winning over Chicago fans to the belief that he was worth all he cost—$7500 and two men.

The New York National Club has signed for a try-out next spring Phil Smith, the high school phenom of Plainfield, who is twirling for Hoboken.

"Whitey" Alperman has been consistently good as a fielder and his batting has earned him a regular berth as second baseman of the Brooklyn Club.

Harry Steinfeldt, who has been labeled a "dead one" in Cincinnati for several seasons, threatens to be the leading batsman of the National League this season.

DILL OR DUTCH PICKLES.

Take a big stone jar that will hold at least four gallons, or a keg without a head. Select cucumbers from six to eight inches in length, wash and wipe carefully so as not to bruise. Add two pounds coarse salt to three gallons of water, boil and skim, replacing the water that evaporates so as to keep the same quantity. Put a layer of cucumbers in the bottom of the jar, with one small African red pepper, a bunch of dill seed in stalk and a layer of green grape leaves to cover. Proceed in this way, until the vessel is filled, then cover with a layer of cabbage leaves. On the very top put a good big flat stone. Pour in the hot salt and water and let the vessel stand while a quiet fermentation takes place. In two or three weeks the cucumbers are done and should be transparent like amber, with a sub acid flavor.

STAVED OFF.

"Made any proposals yet, Jane?" "No. I almost made one last evening, but ma insisted on staying in the room."—Cleveland Plain-Dealer.

Trees His Monument.

A walnut tree and a pecan tree have been planted on the grave of the late Gov. Hogg of Texas, in compliance with his dying request, and after these trees bear fruit, the nuts will be distributed among the farmers of the Lone Star State for seed. The request may be considered eccentric in its sentimentality, but it was a true expression of an honest publicist's affection for the people.—Atlanta Constitution.

TREND OF ORIENTAL THOUGHT

The surviving Moro came to a sitting posture and counted the dead about him.

"That," said he, "is what you get for going against the game of a General who is playing for promotion."

Which, for an untutored Oriental was not a bad bit of wisdom.—New York World.

Aside from the sentimental reasons for restoring the old national road from Cumberland, Md., to Vandalia, Ill., remarks the Cleveland Plain Dealer, the highway would furnish the most satisfactory long distance course for automobiling in the world. Automobiling has become so much an established and proper form of recreation that recognition to this extent could not be taken amiss.
