Stupendous Animal Show.

The Bostock animal show is perhaps one of the most stupendous and costly ever brought to the Pittsburg Exposition. Owing to a previous engagement in New York, the management of the Exposition was unable to bring it here until after the opening of the regular season. But in the short time it has been on view in Pittsburg, thousands and thousands have witnessed the marvelous performances of the most dangerous animals from the wilds of Africa, have marveled at the patience and bravery of the trainers and have sat in open-mouthed wonderment at the big beasts, in all their savagery, are driven to tricks that would put a human being on his fettle, if he were to attempt them. Most marvelous is the exhibition of the trained elephants, three in number, who under the trainership of Charles Miller, go through feats that are astounding. Stories appear in the paper year in and year out about the intelligence of animals but yet what is told of the Bostock animals is truthful. Can you imagine elephants being taught to play ten-pins, to bowl with the skill and ease of a man or woman? The Bostock animals go through a bowling performance with amazing precision, often making a "strike" with a grace and ease that is wonderful. Then these elephants play the base drum, blow horns, telephone, dance—in fact exhibit human intelligence. Then there are trained lions—ferocious but yet under the magnetic eye of the trainer, made to do almost impossible feats. Hyenas, wild boars, dogs, leopards, monkeys and other animals go through tricks in the big cage on the stage that keep the people in an highly excited state, wondering what is coming next.

If the boys play as well in every game as they did Friday there will be few defeats this season. A return game will be played at Punxsutawney Oct. 12. Try to attend the game and show your colors—blue and white.
