The Chapel exercises that are held on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings have been better this winter than ever before. These we believe to be the most beneficial periods of the week. Not only are the exercises devotional and instructive but here it is that the real school spirit is fostered, here that we are brought into closer relations with teachers and each other and prepare ourselves better to bear with the difficulties we meet.

Chapel, by songs, readings, addresses and discussions exert an influence for our welfare that class room work can never give.

We extend an invitation to all who are interested, to assemble with us.

The Seniors are reading "Die Journalisten" and find it necessary to lengthen the school hours from 8.00 a. m. to 6.00 p. m.

Amor Deemer, of Brookville, called on Miss Dewey last Sunday.

One of the Senior girls is wearing a Fraternity pin. It is evident we will soon lose her from our ranks.

Miss Aldie Means, one of the Senior girls, went to her home near Frostburg Saturday to spend Sunday and Monday.

We are glad to welcome the High School boys who took a vacation of two days last week, at their usual places at school.

John Coleman, who graduated from Reynoldsville in '04, visited our school last Tuesday morning.

Last Friday morning Rev. Meek greeted us in our chapel by giving a short talk on the qualities which go to make up manhood and womanhood. He related an incident of a visit to the Ohio State Penitentiary where there were 11,124 convicts confined and the guard who ushered them around was convicted for life but by being truthful he hoped to be released some time. Be truthful everywhere whether imprisoned or not for a reward will come sooner or later. Rev. Meek was greatly applauded for his instructive talk and we gladly welcome him back and any others who will guide us in our chapel exercises any morning.

THIS, AT LEAST.
Lives of great men all remind us.
If we can't make ourself sublime
We can leave some signs behind us.
Showing we tried all the time.

OR
Lives of great "studies" all remind us.
We, too, can keep our memory green
And departing leave behind us
Many autographs upon the scene.

Also! snow ball time has come—Now we can find the best natured one of the High school.

With a little loose logic and a few perverted proverbs the Seniors fear nothing for we have concluded there is no joy in life equal to putting salt on the tale of an idea.

By the way, thermometers are not the only things which are graduated without having brains and they even get degrees.

Dr. Green, of Iowa will lecture in the Assembly hall on December 3, as the second number of the lecture course.

NEW HOME OF THE REXALL REMEDIES.

800 Stockholders in Boston September 25 to 27, 1906.

One of the greatest business successes of the year has just been achieved by the United Drug Company in the opening of its new laboratories in Boston. The United Drug Company is a co-operative Company owned by 2,000 of the leading druggists of the United States. Eight hundred of them were in convention at Boston in September, at which time they formally opened the new plant where the Rexall Remedies are made.

This building is 371 feet long, six stories high, and contains 150,000 sq. ft. of manufacturing floor space, which is filled to overflowing.

The gigantic success and rapid growth of this Company are attributable to one thing—enthusiastic co-operation, obtained by most able management and the application on the highest business principal, and undeviating integrity in all matters pertaining to medicine.

The Company was organized and started in business on the 14th of March, 1903, showing that it is not yet four years old. That this Company has grown from thirty employees at the time it started to its present number of 600, goes to prove that the Company's claim that co-operation, properly handled and backed by good friends, will produce the most rapid success of any other system that could be employed in getting business.

The United Drug Company has been a constant advertiser in more ways than one. It is generally conceded that they are the largest users of newspaper space in the United States, and in addition to that they have annually held a convention of their stockholders, bringing them to Boston and entertaining them and their wives for two or three days. This year the entertainments were as follows: On Tuesday the visitors inspected the manufacturing plant of the Rexall Remedies in Roxbury, after which a sumptuous luncheon was served. The week's festivities wound up with a banquet in the Hotel Somerset, at which about 800 stockholders were present.

You have heard Tillman from the south now come to hear the westerner.

The Seniors paid a lively visit to the Freshies, Sophs and Juniors on Monday afternoon.

The R. H. S. Foot Ball season has closed having equally balanced our losses and victories. This season has been a success in as much as it is the foundation for eleven who next year have had a year's experience and training that we did not have.

Basket Ball is about to be ushered in in all its glory. The team goes to St. Marys Friday to try its mettle against them. The Reynoldsville team has had one successful year and anticipates a more successful one this year. Blue and white are the colors. Don't forget them when you come to the game. Look for our new suits.

A Year of Blood.

The year 1903 will long be remembered in the home of F. N. Tackett, of Alliance, Ky., as a year of blood; which flowed so copiously from Mr. Tackett's lungs that death seemed very near. He writes: "Severe bleeding from the lungs and a frightful cough had brought me to death's door when I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, with astonishing result that after taking four bottles I was completely restored and as time has proven permanently cured." Guaranteed for sore Lungs, Coughs and colds, at Stoke & Feicht Drug Co. stores of Reynoldsville and Sykesville.

The Children.

This world's a rare and joyous place For those who deem it so. With smiles enough for every face— There is no vale of woe. But yet when all's been done and said, Some little children creep, At cuddling time, unbidden to bed And sob themselves to sleep.

Their daddy's off to work somewhere, Their mammy's tired and worn, Both burdened down with caring care From the first break of morn. Each love-starved young one on the list Has troubles by the head, Yet each must go to bed unbidden And sob himself to sleep.

Oh, world of sunshine mixed with storm, Oh, world of tears and joy, Oh, world of frozen hearts and warm, Oh, world of man and boy, Less were your sorrow, less your dread If, when night's shadows creep, Each little lad went kissed to bed And smiled himself to sleep.

—Strickland W. Gillman in Chicago News.

Good Citizens.

A good citizen is necessarily a man who pays his debts, contributes generously to the moral uplifting of the town, lives a clean life and sets a good example to his fellows. A good citizen is one who does not regard himself as the hub around which everything else revolves and whose every act is not dictated by pure self interest. A good citizen ought also be anxious to advance the material welfare of his neighbors; and pride in helping to build up the community in which he lives. Otherwise he is unworthy of the confidence or of the moral, business or political support of such a community. A man is entitled to the esteem of his fellows only in the proportion that he has enriched them, morally or materially. That is the only proper criterion by which to judge of the value of men.—Punxsutawney Spirit.
