The Lock Haven Democrat says that town is finally awakening out of the Rip Van Winkle sleep and is going to make an effort to get along. Among the things mentioned as mainly reponsible for the somnoient conditions of the town was the lethargy of the business men and the high tax levy. Two very vital matters in the progress of any town.

During 1906 there were reported to the State Department of Health 24,421 cases of typhoid fever in Pennsylvania and out of that number 3000 died from the disease. Sixty-six persons in this state are stricken with typhoid fever every day in the year, according to above report, and eight or nine persons die every day with the disease. Is it not time that people become alarmed about the ravishings of this disease in Pennsylania?

At the call of County Chairman Joseph B. Henderson a committee met in Brookville on !2th inst. to draft new rules for government of the Republican party in Jefferson county, which will be accepted or rejected at a meeting of committeemen next month, and the first one of the new rules is as follows "Two primary elections shall be held each year, in every election district in the county of Jefferson, at which nominations by the Republican party shall be made and delegates to Republican state and national conventions and Republican party committeemen elected. in conformity with the laws of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania in such case made and provided, and until otherwise provided by law, one of said primaries shall be held on the fourth Saturday before the February election. to be known as the winter primary : the other shall be held on the first Saturday of June, except in years when a President of the United States is to be elected, in which it shall be held on the second Saturday in April, to be known as the spring primary, at which primaries, until otherwise provided by law, the polls shall be open between the hours of two o'clock, p. m. and eight o'clock p. m."

There is considerable grief in this great busy world of toil and tumult, but the rushing, struggling, striving public has no interest in the grief of an individual. It is too fully occupied with its own advancement to spend a thought or a care on what does not concern or affect its welfare. Trouble comes to us all in one form or another, and if you investigate the matter you will find that trouble is universal. Every heart has its own burden. It may be in the hidden depths unseen by human eyes, but it is there nevertheless. Some people have the courage to overcome and submit bravely to the inevitable, while others yield to the influence of trouble and give vent to vain regrets and useless repining. Whatever your trial and disappointments, keep them to yourself; the public don't care to hear about them. Keep a bright face, a cheerful word and a hopeful heart, Extend to the world a cordial hand and remember that life is for the most par what we make it. Ella Wheeler Wilcox expressed this fact in the following

Laugh and the world laughs with you, Weep and you weep alone: For the sad oid earth must borrow its mirth But has trouble enough of its own.

Sing and the hills will answer; Sigh and it is lost in the air; The echoes bound to a joyful sound, But shrink from voicing care.

A great hinderance to the advance ment of christianity in the world is the inconsistency of church members, and Reynoldsville is no exception in this respect to the world in general. There are various ways of inconsistency, but we will only mention one, and that is not paying honest debts. The man or woman who will buy goods or other things on credit and not pay for same, even though they have to make sacrifices to do so, are not bonest, and a dishonest person cannot be a consistent christian. There may be cases when sickness or some other misfortune overtakes a person and they cannot meet their obligations, and the debt remains unpaid, not because the person wilfully refuses to pay the same, but because they are unable. In such a case a person cannot be called dishonest. But when people ask a merchant to accommodate them by trusting them for goods and then make no effort to pay the debt, but get mad when the merchant insists on getting what is justly due him, and go to some other store to deal, that is not honest. There are church members who wear fine apparel who do not pay their honest debts, and apparently, are indifferent about the matter. It is no wonder that christian men in business have their faith shaken, and that non-professing christian business men are sceptical about christianity, when they trust some church members. It trys the faith of the best of christian business men. Better a crust of bread and patched clothing with a reputation for honesty, than to wear fine clothing and have the luxuries of life with a reputation of being dishonest because you buy and If you have anything to sell, try pay not. Pay your honest debts. -

FEBRUARY ELECTION Veteran Capitalist Dies at Santa Monica.

SANTA MONICA. CAL., Feb. 4-Capsain Orlando Gray, a retired capitalist and veteran of the civil war, died last night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Edith Nourse, 428 Second street. He was 79 years old. Captain Gray, who was a native of Pennsylvania, had lived in California twenty years, the last six years being spent in Santa Monica.

The above, copied from a California paper, will be read with sorrow by many relatives and friends of Mr. Gray in this locality. He was one of the pioneers of Jefferson county and had large business interests here till a few years ago. The site of the Reynoldsville Land and Improvement Company was once owned by him, and valuable timber tracts were not long ago disposed of and, so far as known, all his business interests were settled up in this locality. Mr. Gray was a man of fine physique and nature gave him rare gifts of oratorical rowers and many can recall his political speeches and brilliant repartee. He was adjutant in the 105th P. V. V. at its formation and acted as recruiting officer at the beginning and during the civil war. His wife, who died four years ago last Christmas, was Emeline Smith, daughter of V. H. P. and Rebecca Smith and a sister of Mrs. Juliana Reynolds and Mrs. Clarissa DeLarme, deceased, and J. S. Smith, of this place. Mr. Gray is survived by four daughters, one in New York City, another in York, Pa., and two in California. Orlando Gray, Jr., of our town, is his brother's son and his namesake, and there are a number of his relatives in this locality.

Prospective Candidate.

The Philadelphia North American, in commenting upon some of the members of the State Legislature, says of Mr. North: "S. Taylor North, of Jefferson county, chairman of the "Country Combine," is a prosperous farmer and stock raiser, and is serving his second term in the House of Representatives. He was educated in the public schools of Jefferson county, and served as a school teacher for six terms. He has held the offices of auditor, tax collector and assessor, and has served an enlistment in the National Guard of Pennsylvania. Mr. North, while not given to speechmaking, is one of the most active members of the house. He is ambitious to become a Senator, and may be a candidate for the Republican nomination in the Indiana-Jefferson district next year."

EDITOR THE STAR:

It was with much interest I read an account of the old people now living in Reynoldsville, which appeared in THE STAR some time ago. Thinking it might be of interest to many readers, I would like to speak of an aged lady now visiting in our midst. I refer to Mrs. Phoebe Potter, a half-sister of G. M. Rea and a sister of Mrs. Mariam Fye, who lives near Soldier. Mrs. Potter's father, Joshua Rea, moved to the farm now owned and occupied by C. H. Rea and family in 1831, when Phoebe was three months old. Here she lived in a little log house in the hemlock forests, where deer and bear were plentiful, until she was 16 years old. About that time Aunt Phoebe taught a term of school in Reynoldsville, when there were only three houses there, those of Tom Reynolds, Jacob Shaffer and Clark Lyons. On either side were the homes of John Fuller and Wood Reynolds.

Mrs. Potter did not again revisit the old home for forty years. It was my pleasure to entertain this dear old lady during the past week, on this, ber third visit.

Aunt Phoebe has spun the yarn and knit over $30.00 worth of mittens, gloves, etc., this fall and winter. She never had but one picture taken, but intends having her picture taken before leaving Reynoldsville for her home in MRS. C. H. REA. Forest county.
