WEDNESDAY, MARCH 6, 1907.

Petitions signed by a large number of voters have been sent to the state legislature requesting that honorable body to pass a State Local Option law permitting the electors of any county, city or ward of a city, borough or township in this Commonwealth to determine by an electon the question of the granting of licenses for the sale of intoxicating liquors.

A bill has been introduced in the state legislature fixing the salaries of common school teachers in districts receiving state appropriation, at not less than fifty dollars per month, in all cases where the teacher holds a professional, permanent, or normal school certificate and has had two years' experience and obtained a certificate of proficiency in practice from the superintendent in charge of said

It has been said that many wasted flowers are strewn over graves, of which one bud, pink with life and hope and fragrant with sympathy, would have eased the pain of some aching heart for even a little while, had they been bestowed while the loved one lived. Don't save all your flower's and kind words until after death has removed the loved one. It is really remarkable how the faithfulness and good works of some people is appreciated after there eyes are closed in death.

Dr. Hunter Corbett, a missionary in China over forty years, who has been visiting his kindred in this section for some months, left Wooster, Ohio, Monday to return to his work in China. He expects to remain in China this time until the Lord calls him to the heavenly land. Dr. Corbett lectured in the Reynoldsville Presbyterian church during this visit to the home land. He has traveled around the world three times and has crossed the Pacific ocean seven times, his return to China making the eighth time to cross the ocean.

The effect of bealth upon scholarship, upon the mental strength and development of a pupil and, consequently, upon the future ability and standing of the man or woman is, perhaps, too little appreciated by some parents. Through the adenoid growths in the throat a child may become hard of hearing and, 'bus not understanding all said by the teacher, become backward. A child with eyes uncared for will become subject to headache and Irritability. Interest will wane and the child become known as a dull pupil. It is claimed that even the kind of breakfast or the overloading of the stomach at the noonday meal will unfit the pupil for the day's work. More dull, backward, unsuccessful pupils are the result of physical causes than mental causes.

Some of our citizens are under the impression that it will be several years before the state will aid in paving Main street, from Seventh street to borough line, and our contemporary in an article on this subject, stated last week that "it state will appropriate any money at all, building is a cement cellar partitioned but as the taxpayers have voted $10,000 to pay for the boroughs share of the paying bill we will be in line for the appropriation when it comes. We have gone up to this time without the pavement and, surely, we can wait one or years." The work has been surveyed by the state engineer, State Highway Department has ordered the work to be done and the state money is new available, then why should the work be delayed a year or two? THE STAR expects the work will be done this year of Our Lord 1907, and we base our expectations on reliable information.

While it may be surprising yet it is a fact that parents of school pupils are wholly unable to protect the health of children. No matter how careful some parents may be, their care goes for naught through the indifference of others. In no instance is the Golden Rule so little observed as in cases when parents will send children to school who have an illness that threatens the welfare of nearly 800 others. The demic of whooping cough among the boys and girls of town is the result of the disregard of others' welfare by a few parents in sending children to school possessed of this contageous disease. The law, we understand, will not force out of school children with such afflictions as whoeping cough or itch, but justice and humanity demands that parents take cognizance of others' welfare and keep such unfortunates at home until well again. A number of children are sent to school who have fevers or chills, which forbode any one of several illnesses which are inimical to the health of other pupils of the schools. At present there is much agitation in larger schools than ours for health inspection of pupils. Our borough has, perhaps, too meagre school funds for such an outlay, but it is the important duty of every parent of a school boy or girl to realize the far reaching results of one sick pupil in the

THE PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK.

Now Located in Its New and Imposing

Building -A Very Pretty Bank, The Peoples National Bank is now ocated in its own building on Main street and has one of the prettiest and finest banking rooms in this section of the state. It is a credit to Reynoldsville and fine enough for a city bank. The bank building is 40 x 85 feet, two stories high. The first story is built of Hummelstown brownstone. It is an imposing structure? The main room of the bank is 23 x 55 feet, with a 17 foot ceiling. The fixtures and furnishings are curly b.rch with mahogany finish. Oxidized brass grille work four feet high runs around top of coun er. There are four wickets in the grille work, one for paying, one for receiving, one for bookkeepers and one in the ladies' room. The paying, or teller's wicket, is on circle corner, first wicket in lobby. To the right as you enter bank is the cashier's room, which is closed with plate glass door. Next to the cashier's room is the ladies' room in which is a desk, chair and upholstered seats. This room is separated from lobby by two fair sized columns, panel work and plate glass. A private and cozy place for ladies to do their banking. This bank prides itself on the number of ladies who do business with it. In the lobby is an open gas fire place with a fine mahogany finished mantle and large mirror. There are two check desks in the lobby. The lobby floor is tiled. The other rooms have hard wood floors. The walls are wainscoted in mahogany finished wood up as high as counter, and from wainscoting up to heighth of railing or grille work, the walls are covered with green burlap, and from that to ceiling the walls are painted a light green shade. The ceiling is beamed with mahogany finished wood and painted yellow. The bank has double vault, one in cellar for keeping valuable papers, &c. The vault in banking room is 12 x 14 feet, made of stone, cement and steel. The walls are two feet deep all around, double bolted. The vault has a massive Manganese door with double time lock combination, twenty bolts and double pressure

Steam heat, electric light and gas throughout the building. In rear of the main room are a storage room, directors room and toilet room. In the directors' room is an open gas fire place with large mantle and mirror, same as in the lobby. There is also a large table and required number of

"The Choir Singer."

It is seldom that theatre-goers have served to them such a variety of in-teresting features as those said to be contained in "The Cheir Singer," the new comedy drawn success by Carroll Fleming, author of "Sis Hopkins," Fleming, author of Sis Hopkins, which closed a successful congagement in New York. Besides having a story of strong heart interest, many thrills and comedy in sufficiently large quantities to suit the most jaded taste, many attractive musical numbers are intro-duced effectively. Elaborate scenery and a fine company are also promised
